CORNHUSKERS ARE READY TO CANCEL GOPHER DATE

Nebraskans Refuse to Play Minnesota Under Requirements—Play Michigan Instead.

A dispatch from Lincoln says that the final steps in Nebraska's complete break with the Big Nine will be made this week, in the cancellation of its football date with Minnesota on October 19 and substituting Michigan.

The recent decision of the Big Nine, so-called "peace" conference at Chicago prohibits Minnesota's playing Nebraska, a team not bound by conference rules. Nebraska thinks this is a bit too drastic, being refused an entrance to the Big Nine and its privileges, yet compelled to obey conference regulations if she wishes to play any of the Big Nine teams.

Nebraska's cancellation of the Iowa and Wisconsin dates and substituting Colorado and Denver were but the preliminary steps, the Cornhuskers waiting before cancelling the Gopher date in hopes that the rumor that Minnesota was to leave the conference following Michigan would prove true. The conference a week ago dissolved all such hopes.

As yet Minnesota has received no official cancellation, and of course the board of control will take no action until such a notice is received.

SMALLPOX AROUND

COLLEGE AGAIN.

For the second time this year smallpox has broken out in college. Arthur Olson of Afton, Minn., a middle law student, has been taken to the detention hospital with a mild form of the disease.

All students in the law college who have not been vaccinated must submit to the process at once, according to orders received today from the health department by President Cyrus Northrop, who immediately took steps to carry out the necessary precautionary measures.

Prompt measures taken last fall to prevent the disease from spreading resulted satisfactorily, and it was confined to a single case. Many of the students were not vaccinated at that time, however, preferring to remain away from the University until the danger was over. These will be particularly urged to submit to vaccination this time by the University authorities. Dr. F. P. Westbrook, dean of the medical department, will probably conduct the vaccination.

WOLVERINES UP IN THE AIR

Maize and Blue Stands to Lose Games Unless Immediate Action Is Taken by Athletic Board.

Michigan now faces the predicament of losing eight baseball games and a track meet.

There will be a board of control meeting next Thursday night, at which Michigan's position will be defined.

Something decisive must be done, as a game with Illinois is on next Saturday, and according to the late ruling no conference college can play Michigan unless she decides to obey the conference rules.

ENGINEERS' YEARBOOK IS REVIEWED BY KOVARICK

Physics Instructor Writes at Length on Scientific Book—On Sale This Week.

The rapid advancement of the engineering college at our State University is also reflected in the publication of the engineers' society. Every year the society has produced a better publication than the year preceding. This year the board of editors of the 1907 yearbook made a strenuous effort to surpass all the preceding publications, and in this they have admirably succeeded.

In appearance the yearbook is handsome. The cover is a decided improvement over all preceding ones, being printed in maroon and gold from a plate bearing the society's emblem at the top and an etching of the University gate below. The volume is profusely illustrated in half-tones and zinc etchings, starting with the frontispiece, which is a beautiful half-tone cut of the "Soldiers' Monument."

GIRLS TO ELECT OFFICERS

Shevlin Hall Contingent Will Choose Leaders for Next Year in First Week of May.

Election of the governing board of Alice Shevlin Hall for next year will be held Thursday, May 2. President, vice-president, secretary and treasurer are to be elected; also the executive committee, consisting of three members, one from each class.

The office of president is open to seniors only, but the other three members may be chosen from any class.

Nominations will be made by a special committee appointed yesterday by the present board.

This committee will meet Thursday and Friday at 4 o'clock to consider candidates for the different offices.

Other nominations may be made at a mass meeting of all the girls, to be held next Tuesday at Alice Shevlin Hall. By ballot all these nominations will be reduced to three for each office.

Two days later, Thursday, May 2, election will be held by the Australian ballot from chapel time to 1 o'clock at Alice Shevlin Hall.

GREEK COMEDIES PROMISE TO EXHIBIT MENAGERIE

Striped Lizards, Frogs and Bumble Bees in Chorus—Girl Thespian to Ride Donkey.

"Greek all thru, those plays are," said Dorothy Hudson, chairman of the costume committee for "Thesmophoria"—"the very odor of Greek incense rises from them. In the first place "Frogs" and "Thesmophoria" are both comedies written by Aristophanes about 2,300 years ago.

"From the time the scene opens, when Margâret Trimble, as Bacchus, dressed in purple and trimmed with grapes, races frantically onto the stage, till the final tableau—Elsa Ueland as the thick-witted barbarian policeman, staring stupidly about for her escaped prisoner, while the whole chorus laughs at her—from first to last it is Greek, pure Greek."

"Yes," said Alice Pope, as she stitched a sleeve into the hero's yellow gown, "and Greekest of all is Psyche Audromeda, the donkey. It's a real true live donkey, and Bacchus' servant has to ride it on and off the stage. That Psyche is so Greek she won't eat a thing but olives and figs and Grecian urns."

"The costumes are all copied from pictures the Greek department lent us, and are of every color in the rainbow. The chorus girls wear creamy"

SENATE VOTES FOR "DORM"

Senator Schaller Secures Passage of Appropriation for Girls' Dormitory in Upper House.

Prospects that the women of the University will obtain their much-talked-of dormitory are again bright. The Timberlake bill past the house of representatives last week, granting the University $700,000, but it cut off all appropriation for a dormitory as well as other things.

When the bill came up for consideration in the senate Senator Schaller made a speech against the action of the house, and maintained that this building was badly needed. An amendment was added to the bill, providing for a grant of $76,000 for a woman's dormitory, and the bill was past as amended.

It is now up before the house for consideration.

WISCONSIN ATHLETES ARE ON VERGE OF UPHEAVAL

Small Opposition Minority of Faculty Start Things in Motion at Badger Institution.

Badger athletics are again in the air. A faculty minority have been stirring up the board of regents and Wisconsin is on the brink of another anti-athletic war.

The result so far is the appointment by the board of regents of two special committees, one to investigate the financial affairs of the athletic board, the other to consider the advisability of abolishing all intercollegiate athletics, both to report at the next meeting of the board in June.

Magnus Swenson is the regent responsible for the trouble and is out after football chiefly, backed by a small but active minority of the faculty, declaring that as a game it is of little benefit to but a few of the 3,500 students, while its evil tendencies are a constant temptation and a menace to the student life.

Another objection raised is to sending the crews to the Poughkeepsie regatta in '08, chiefly because of the expense.

Moreover, they are also questioning the faculty's liability or, rather, obligation to pay of a state appropriation the debts incurred by an independent student organization.

President Van Hise is strongly in favor of the retention of athletics under sane faculty supervision, as is the student body to a man.

STUDENTS HAVE CHANCE TO LEARN JIU-JIT.

Prof. Matsu, the celebrated Japanese Jiu-jitsu authority, who was professor at the Kiota University, in Japan, is now in Minneapolis.

He has made a fine offer to any University men wishing to form a class. All those interested may obtain particulars from Dr. Cooke.

TRACK MEN GETTING OUT

Cold Spell Being Broken, Increase of Candidates Results—General Sports on Saturday.

With the first regular track meet scheduled for next Saturday, 3 p. m., candidates for the team are increasing in number.

The regular spring sports will be held, consisting of 100-yard dash, 220-yard dash, 440-yard dash, one half mile, one mile, and two-mile runs, 120-yard hurdle, 220-yard hurdle, pole vault, shot put, hammer, discus, high jump and broad jump.

Inter-fraternity and inter-literary society one-half mile relay races will be given. There will be four men to run 220 yards each.

A banner will be presented to the winning team provided three or more teams enter.

On account of the cold weather, very few men have been out for practise. At present there are not enough men to make a team. Practise is given each day at 4:30 p. m.

Those who wish to enter must hand in their names at once to Captain Bedford or Dr. H. L. Williams.

A BIG, bright, breezy, entertaining and instructive commencement issue of the Minnesota Daily will be published by the new management. It will appear early in June. It will rival the Gopher in attractive reading matter and general make-up. But it will not cost near as much. Subscribers will get it free of charge. Academics, Medics, Laws, Engineers, Dents, Pharmacists—all departments and all classes will find something that will interest them in the number. It will be something different than has yet appeared on the campus. Watch for future announcements. * * * * *

YEARBOOK RECEIVED.
Contributions Discusst.

The articles of the yearbook may be divided into two classes, namely, those which are of a general nature and those which are specifically technical. Among the former, belongs the first article of the volume, a splendid contribution by Prof. Frank H. Constant on "Engineering and Life." In this article Prof. Constant discusses the relation of an engineer to society in general, bringing out clearly the two sides from which an engineer is characterized: negatively, as a man who shuns society, who has no time for general culture, and who has a lack of sympathy for anything, the utilitarianism of which is not immediately apparent; and positively, as a man of sterling character, rigid honesty, devoted to his work, jealous of his reputation and inostentatiously proud of his and other engineers' achievements.

Advises Grads.

His advice to graduates is to work at the bottom of their profession until they become acquainted with the men whom later they will have to direct. Furthermore, an engineer as a citizen should consider himself personally responsible to attempt wise solutions of many of the grave problems confronting the republic, for he is, by virtue of his training, fitted to handle large problems and many public questions involve broad engineering principles.

Broader Culture.

In order to give the engineer a broader culture along with his technical education, it is the hope of the writer that two years of academic training will be required for entrance to the engineering college. The article on the whole has so much valuable matter that every University student and particularly every professional student should read it.

Specific Articles.

Next article is on the Baldwin Locomotive Works, by Mr. J. V. Martens, giving in brief the history of the manufacture of locomotives in this country from 1831 (by Mr. Baldwin) to the present time.

Prof. A. Zeleny has an extended explanation of the theory and use of a thermoelectric thermometer which is at present being installed in all the big elevators in the country. By means of the thermometer, the temperature of any part of the elevator can be read in the office.

Prof. F. W. Springer has a valuable discussion of his patented invention which relates to the improvement of systems for the supply of current demands in which primary cells are employed.

Boundless Wealth of Novelties

F. E. Tallant, 38 South Third Street

Prof. J. J. Flather discusses in a general manner the failures of concrete constructions and cites several special examples.

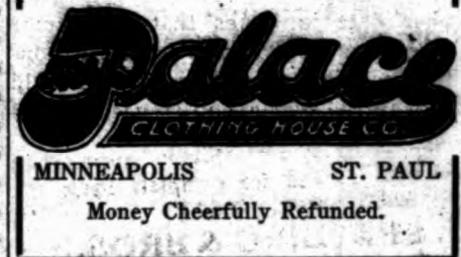

Extracts From Theses.

Limited space does not allow even to enumerate all of the articles, some of which are extracts from theses on original investigations by the seniors. Of special interest, however, may be the paper on "Apprentice Work for Technical Men," by W. T. Ryan; "The St. Croix Falls Power Plant," by W. A. Williams, and "Centrifugal Electric Driven Fans," by J. Howatt, '04.

On the whole, the 1907 yearbook is a credit to the efforts of the engineers' society and its board of editors, and it should be in the hands of not only every engineering student but every scientific student at the University.
