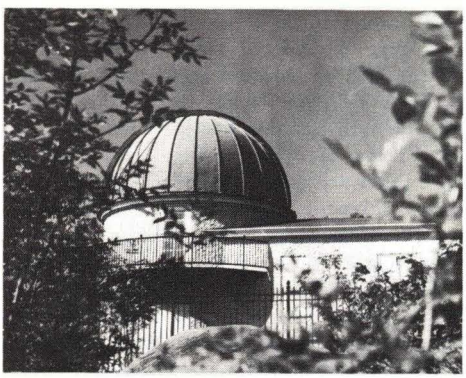
UMD Summer Calendar
PUBLISHED FOR THE INFORMATION OF FACULTY AND STUDENTS AT THE UNIVERSITY OF MINNESOTA DULUTH

Vol. IX, No. 2 June 17, 1960

E. A. HOEBEL TO SPEAK



STARGAZERS AND PLANET LOVERS will be making UMD's Darling observatory at 910 West Third street their headquarters again this summer.

The observatory will be open each Wednesday starting at 9 p.m. under the direction of John L. West Jr. of Duluth. Groups may visit the building at other times by appointment.

A 9-inch refractor, a planetarium and solar transparencies will be available.

Donated to the University by John H. Darling, long time amateur astronomer in Duluth, the observatory is a popular attraction for tourists, townspeople and students.

BAND WORKSHOP

High school wind and percussion players and their directors will attend the first annual UMD Summer Band Workshop June 20-June 25.

Maurice McAdow, band director at North Texas State College, Denton, Texas, will be workshop clinician. McAdow, known widely for producing award winning bands, will rehearse the workshop band each day, will offer sessions on conducting and will run a daily seminar for directors.

James R. Murphy, director of bands at UMD, will be workshop manager. Other staff members include Robert E. Beverley of UMD and Clarence Schultz of West Junior High School, Duluth.

GUIDANCE LECTURE SERIES OPENS

E. Adamson Hoebel, chairman of anthropology, Minneapolis campus, will deliver the first in a series of lectures on the counseling of talented youth at 1 p.m. today in Science 200.

Hoebel will speak on "American Culture in Perspective."

Hoebel Gladstein

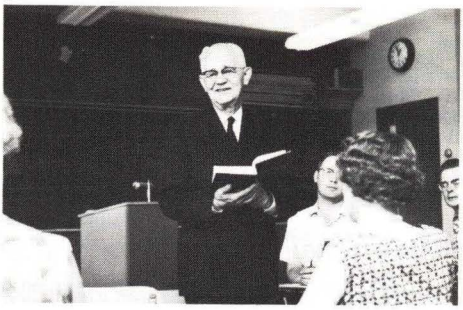
The lectures are part of the Counseling and Guidance Institute now on at UMD. Non-institute members are invited to hear the talks.

Gerald Gladstein, director of the UMD institute for high school counselors and for teachers preparing for such work, said selected students from Duluth junior and senior high schools will receive counseling from institute enrollees.

Hoebel has lectured widely and has done extensive field work among the North American Indian tribes.

Other lectures scheduled are: "Family Life in a Changing Society" by Reuben L. Hill, Jr., director of Families Study Center, University of Minnesota at 1 p.m., June 24, Kirby ballroom; "Manpower Needs in the Future" by Dr. Helen Wood, U. S. Department of Labor at 1 p.m., June 30, Kirby ballroom; "Men, Money and Machines" by Martin Bronfenbrenner, professor of economics, Minneapolis campus, at 1 p.m., July 8, Kirby ballroom; and "The Individual, the State and World Politics" by Werner Levi, professor of political science, Minneapolis campus, at 10 a.m., July 15, Kirby ballroom



Roscoe Cramer lectures to his class

"BEST EDUCATIONAL SYSTEM"

"We will never be defeated as a nation because we have the best educational system in the world," Roscoe Cramer, Kansas City, Missouri educator said today at UMD.

"We change our educational goals when it is necessary to make our country stronger," Cramer added, "and most nations—including Russia—cannot switch courses as quickly."

Cramer is teaching first summer session courses on the junior high school and on elementary school organization and administrat tion. This is his third summer at UMD.

"I believe we are moving out of the space age into what I consider the education age," Cramer said. He pointed out that more attention is being given these days to teacher scholarships and grants, changes needed in course work to fit national needs and generally a better school attitude on the part of the public.

Cramer, who has championed the establishment of junior high schools, said 75 per cent of all children in the 7th, 8th and 9th grades in 1956 were attending such schools and the figure "may be 85 per cent now."

Cramer said there are some reactionaries who want to go back to the "8/4" or grade school-high school system. "They are ignoring the growth and development needs of children when they talk this way," Cramer warned. "They are trying to put the cart back in front of the horse."

UMD TRIP WINNER

UMD student Ronald Garrett of Floodwood is one of 15 Americans selected to join an educational traveling seminar to South America.

Garrett left yesterday with the delegation which includes students and professors from Harvard, Cornell and University of California.

The 52-day "student to student" seminar will visit Colombia, Peru, Chile, Argentina, Uruguay and Brazil. Participants will meet with leading representatives of government, private industry, the clergy, universities and national unions of students.

NEW HONORS

New honors for UMD's B.A. and B.S. graduates have recently been authorized, Academic Dean Thomas W. Chamberlin said today.

In addition to the present cum laude award, Summer Session graduates will be eligible to apply for the magna cum laude and summa cum laude honors if their cumulative grade point average at the end of the quarter preceding the quarter in which they complete all requirements for graduation is 3.25 (magna cum laude) or 3.40 (summa cum laude). This average is based on course work completed on the UMD campus in all work and in all Upper Division courses calculated separately.

After application for these honors, candidates will be required to take and achieve a satisfactory score on the three Area Tests of the Graduate Records Examinations.

Fields of achievement included in the three tests are social science, humanities and natural science. Each test requires 75 minutes.

Candidates for the cum laude honors are not required to take the Area Tests, but must achieve a 3.00 grade point average at the end of the quarter preceding their final quarter in all work and in all Upper Division courses calculated separately.

Students who plan to graduate in August, 1960, and who have a 3.25 grade point average by the end of the spring quarter, should obtain and fill out an application form available in the Counseling Office, Room 150 Kirby. This application must be returned to Dean Chamberlin's office before June 25 so the correct number of tests may be ordered. There will be no charge for these tests.

JEWELRY SHOW ON

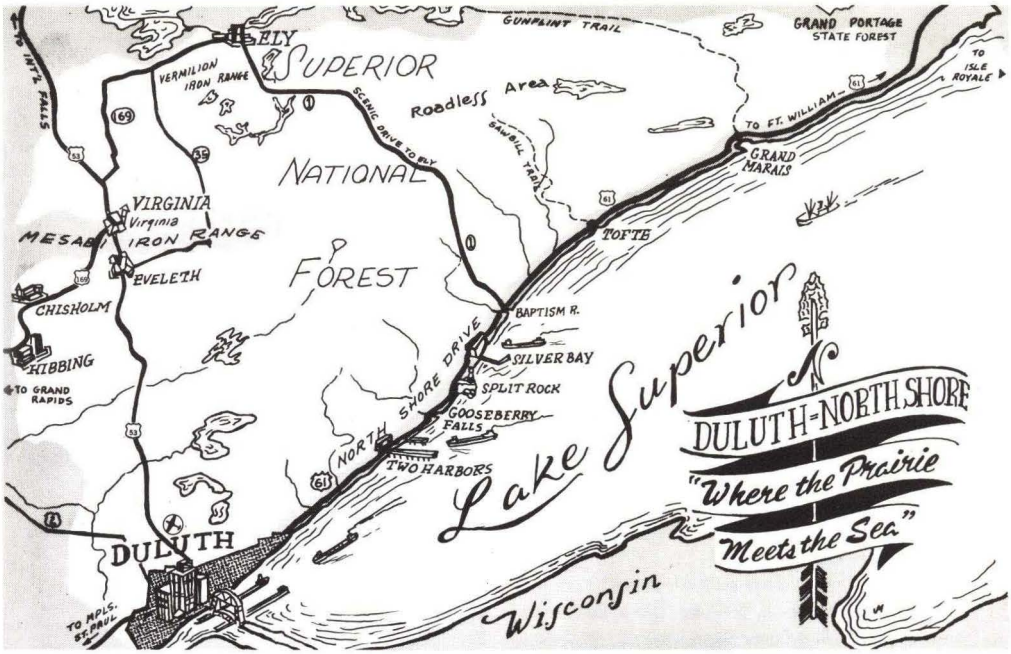
More than sixty pieces of silver and gold jewelry produced by 15 top Midwest craftsmen is on display in the UMD art department in the Humanities building.

The show was assembled by Rudy Schauer, art instructor, in conjunction with the summer workshop in crafts.

The show can be seen from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday until July 1. Many of the pieces are for sale.

INTRAMURAL SPORTS

Men interested in intramural softball, volleyball, tennis, golf, shuffleboard and what have you should sign up at the men's physical education office soon. Dr. Ward Wells is willing to help organize teams for Summer Session students who want to have some fun and shed a few pounds at the same time. Sign up yourself or bring a friend, or a couple of friends or an entire team—the more the merrier.



UMD LAND

UMD Summer Session students, whether they are native Minnesotans or not, have a perfect vacation land at their doorstep.

A day's drive in any direction from the campus will take you through some of the most beautiful country in the world.

The map points out just a few of the spots you might consider for weekend jaunts.

● DULUTH—The famous Skyline Drive and the harbor area are "musts" for visitors in this city of more than 100,000 population. When you see a large ship coming in directly south of UMD, you can drive downtown in time to watch it go under the aerial bridge.

● GOOSEBERRY FALLS—This is but one of several spectacular water falls along the world famous North Shore Drive. Don't forget to take your camera along, plenty of color film and a picnic lunch.

● SILVER BAY—This village, nestled in the pines to the north and with Lake Superior to the south, represents Minnesota's growing taconite industry.

The giant Reserve Mining Company's $190,000,000 dollar plant along the highway produces 10-million tons of taconite pellets and employs 2,500 persons.

● SAWBILL-GUNFLINT—These two trails, easily accessible by road, take you through deep, green forests and to some of the best fishing in the state. Canoe trips into the wilderness area are becoming very popular.

● GRAND MARAIS—This village, home port for many Lake Superior fishermen, is the gateway to interesting trips to Grand Portage, to Isle Royale (by boat only) and on to Fort William and Port Arthur in Canada.

● HIBBING-VIRGINIA-ELY—A drive up northward from UMD takes you to the world-famous iron range, to the largest open pit iron ore mines in the world, to fishing, camping and canoe country.

● GRAND RAPIDS—A drive northwestward brings you to this busy tourist town, the hub of walleye, northern pike, muskie country. Ideal for family vacations. Just a two hour drive.

● SUPERIOR, WIS.—The 85 mile South Shore drive from Superior to Bayfield gives another view of the rugged shoreline of Lake Superior, tiny fishing villages and the spectacular Apostle Islands. You can drive on to Upper Michigan, across the new Mackinac bridge to Michigan and on down to Chicago.

Outlined are only a few of the countless points of interest in this fabulous country of the north. When motoring along the highways of the area, you will find many nice picnicing and roadside parking areas provided. Overnight lodging is easily obtained near most areas.

The nimrod and boating enthusiasts were not overlooked—there are 30,000 lakes in our Arrowhead Country.
