2,700 Students Vote in Election

First Place Balloting Indicates Close Tech-Progressive Race

Around 2,700 students cast their ballots at yesterday's election judging on the basis of votes for Union Board of Governors candidates.

This was a sharp drop from the all-time high of 4,870 votes polled in the general elections last spring. A heavier vote had been expected despite the drop in student enrollment.

Election officials attributed the small vote to the lack of stiff competition for campus offices and to the very short election campaign.

First place votes were counted last night. They are, however only a fair estimate and not an absolute indication of the election results. No further returns were available.

Early balloting returns indicate a close race between Tech and Progressive candidates. Leading among Union board candidates were Thad Baker, Progressive, with 415 votes and Raymond Grismer, Tech, with 467 votes.

Women candidates were led by Jean Danaher, Independent, with 376 votes.

In All-U-Council balloting, Mary Carlson, Progressive, with 309, and Deeda Goodman, Tech, 288, were running a hot race for the lead, followed closely by Virginia Taylor with 275.

Election officials decided not to count the votes of the uncontested candidates for Board of Publications.

Tabulation of first place votes follows:

Union Board Men
Thad Baker	Prog. 415
David Bloomgren	Prog. 159
Wayne Brook	Tech. 241
Raymond Grismer	Tech. 467
Jack Kife	Tech. 176
Melvin Mark	Tech. 237
Harold Matthews	Ind. 82

Ag Elections Fill 17 Student Group Positions

Marie Sterner Is Council President

Marie Sterner, Home Economics sophomore, was elected president of the Ag Student council for the coming year in yesterday's Ag campus election. Complete tabulation last night showed Miss Sterner had 171 votes to 144 for her opponent, Phyllis Sam, Home Economics sophomore.

Sixteen other positions on Ag campus student governing bodies were also filled—10 of the student council and six on the Ag board. A total of 409 votes was cast.

Gloria Trantabella, Home Economics sophomore, was elected to fill the two-year term on the Ag Union board as representative of the College of Home Economics. The Agriculture representative, elected to a two-year term on the

YWCA, AWS Elect Ten New Officers

Election returns yesterday gave Helen Monteith, Education junior, the presidency of AWS (WSGA) and Helen Rachie, Arts junior, the presidency of YWCA.

Miss Monteith, who was first in line for the Junior ball, has been WSGA office chairman and a member of the WSGA board. Miss Rachie was on the Y freshman cabinet, a coed discussion group leader, member of the finance committee and cabinet chairman of the emergency program.

Spring Quarter Ag YMCA Officers Will Be Elected

Spring quarter officers for the Ag campus YMCA will be elected Monday in the Ag Administration. A table for balloting of all Ag YMCA members will be open all day opposite the Ag Postoffice.

Candidates for president and vice president are Kenneth Hanson, Ag sophomore; Amos Hayes and Ray Mannigel, Ag juniors. Candidate who polled second largest number of ballots will be vice president. Candidates for secretary-treasurer are Eldon Madison, Ag junior, and Oliver Nypaa, Ag sophomore.

All officers will be elected for one year.

Other officers in AWS are Ruth Cole, Arts junior, vice-president; Harriett Schaffer, Arts freshman, secretary; Jean Danaher, Arts sophomore, treasurer; Marjorie Cleland, Business junior; Cap and Gown, senior council, president; Kathryn Markhus, Home Economics sophomore, Tam O'Shanter, senior council, president.

Vice-president of YWCA is Kathryn Hornung, Arts junior; secretary, Reva Jean Dunsworth, Tech sophomore; and treasurer, Grace Hegman, Medical Tech junior.

Elections for the Women's Athletic association were not held yesterday with the other two coed organizations as is customary, but will be held Friday.

40,000 Union Dishes

Washing System Kept Busy

By Rosemary Fitzgerald

Forty-thousand dishes make a lot of dish-washing! That is the number of trays, pieces of silverware, china, and glass-ware, which goes through the Union dishwashing system every day.

The Union dishwashing equipment and staff is supervised by Joe Russell, Arts sophomore. When the system was installed, 45 students were required to staff it.

However, after studying and inspecting other large institutional systems, and with the help of the production management division of the School of Business, the staff has been cut down to 29.

Henry Timesday sorts and scrapes the dishes as they come off the conveyor belt in the Union dishwashing room.

To insure proper dishwashing methods in the five large dishwashing systems on campus, and to keep the equipment running at maximum efficiency, Douglas McNee, Business senior, has been appointed to supervise them—in the Center for Continuation study, Pioneer hall, the U. S. S. Minnesota, Shevlin hall and the Union.

None of the work in the dish room is done by hand, after the first scrapping, sorting and soaking. They are put in racks which carry them through the washing machine maintained at a constant temperature of 126 to 142 degrees. The last machine gives the dishes a final rinse at a temperature of 180 degrees. This extreme heat causes the dishes to dry themselves.

It would require eight boys, working continuously from 8:30 a. m. to 5:30 p. m. to wash and dry the silver by hand. But with the automatic system used in the Union, the silver takes no more time than the rest of the dishes.

Silverware is given five separate washings. It is soaked, put through the regular dish machine, the rinse machine, then a special machine which shines glasses and silver, and finally the metal cases of silver are dipped in boiling water for 30 seconds.

This last process was originated by the Union staff. It is much more sanitary, and saves time, according to James Felber, food service director.

After the heat within the dishes has dried them, they are checked for chips or food particles, then put in carts to be returned to the dining rooms. Most of the rejections by the checker are caused by gum and ashes, according to Mr McNee. These are soaked in a special solution, washed by hand, then run through the washing and rinsing machines a second time.

At the present time the dishwashing room is running short-handed. Two full-time employees and 27 part-time student workers make up the staff.

"Although our staff is now composed entirely of men, girls might be able to do some of the jobs in the dish room if it were necessary," Mr McNee said. "The heavier jobs of racking and returning the clean dishes should preferably be done by men."

Miller Is Given State Agricultural Position

Paul E. Miller, director of Agricultural extension department, has been appointed to direct the mobilization of farm help in Minnesota this year, Secretary of Agriculture Wickard announced yesterday.

Mr Miller spent the last week of January in Washington, D. C., conferring with the department of agriculture and the war manpower commission.

Names of an eight man committee to assist Mr Miller were also released yesterday by him.

They are George A. Selke, area director of the Minnesota war manpower commission; Victor Christgau, director of the Minnesota emergency manpower agency; Charles Stickney, chairman of the Minnesota agricultural conservation committee; Leonard B. Ryan, state director of the U. S. Employment service; Fred Marshall, state director of the farm security administration; R. A. Trovatten, Minnesota commissioner of agriculture; Allan Briggs, chief of the Minnesota offices of civilian defense; and Leo Knuti, supervisor of agricultural education in Minnesota.

This committee will operate the farm hand recruitment and placement in this state.

U Graduate Missing

Craig Robinson, University graduate of 1940, is believed missing among the wreckage of the Pan-American "Yankee Clipper" following its crash in Portugal Monday. Robinson's name was not on the list of those rescued.

U Theater to Play Othello at Music Hall Wednesday

The University theater production of Shakespeare's "Othello," opens Wednesday in the Music hall auditorium for a six-day showing.

Matinees will be given at 3:30 p. m. Wednesday, Friday and Monday, evening performances at 8:30 p. m. Thursday through Tuesday. High school students will attend the afternoon shows.

"Othello" which will be presented in full in the evening with only one short intermission, lasts three hours. The play will cut for matinees.

The title role will be played by John Bystrom, Arts senior. Other leading actors are Bob Slomske, Arts senior, Iago; Helen Marie Backlin, Arts senior, Desdemona; Charles Nolte, Arts sophomore, Cassio; Oliver Osterberg, Arts sophomore; Roderigo; and Dean Wenstrom, graduate, the Duke of Venice. Minnie Brill, graduate, and Helen Malsed, Arts senior, will alternate as Emilia.

Side Glances

By Carmen Heggen

THIS COLUMN is dedicated to every coed on the campus who has contributed to the war effort by entertaining the sailors in the Union dugout on Sunday afternoons.

If you're inclined to cynicism and doubt the patriotic fervor that has gripped our girls, let me take you with me to a typical Sunday afternoon open house.

Coed: Well, sailor, how do you like it here at Minnesota? We certainly hope you'll like it here.

Sailor: Aw, sure, it's all right. Say, beautiful, how about jotting down your telephone number for me, huh?

Coed: (Realizing that the sailor's morale is not being properly boosted) Well, now let's don't talk about me.

Sailor: I'm from Oklahoma, angel, and I'll bet I know where you came from. Straight from heaven, I'll betcha.

Coed: (Still worrying about the sailor's morale). Now don't you worry about entertaining me. I'm here to see that you have a good time.

Sailor: Listen, babe, you can stay but that stuff's got to go. Bridge and ping pong leave me cold, but boy, baby, you don't!

Coed: (Morale a dead issue now): Say—I mean—Well, would you like to go up to the balcony to sit for awhile.

Sailor: "I hear you talking, sister!" And the altruistic resolutions of one little morale builder were soon forgotten.

Films to Be Shown At Saturday Dance 6 Are Suggested For Ag Scholarship

Highlights of the football season will be shown at the intermission of the Saturday night dance from 8:30 p. m. to midnight today in the Union ballroom.

Al Wicklund, instructor at the MacPhail School of Music, will demonstrate all types of dances from the tango to the Balboa-Lindy.

Servicemen stationed on campus are especially invited to attend this dance, according to Leonard Pignatello, General college senior, chairman.

Priority Conference

Laurence R. Lunden, assistant comptroller, attended a conference yesterday at Northwestern university, where educators met to consider problems in connection with priorities on equipment to be used in the army specialized training program.

Six College of Agriculture freshmen have been recommended to the Board of Regents by the College Scholarship committee for the Sears-Roebuck freshman scholarships of $58 each for the present school year.

The scholarships are awarded annually to Minnesota farm men of promising ability, who are partly self-supporting and plan to continue in agriculture.

Union Chess Matches To End Wednesday

All remaining rounds in the Union chess tournament will be played between 5 and 10 p. m. Wednesday in the Union game room.

Students interested in entering the tournament may still enter by registering with the attendant in the Union game room. Willis Aust, unclassified, is tournament chairman.

same body was Odell Bardson, unopposed. Gladden Edman was elected to fill the one-year term for a representative at large of Agriculture.

The closest balloting was for a one-year term for a Home Economics sophomore. Jean Griebelow polled 102 votes to 101 for the other candidate Jean Morskassel.

In the heaviest race, J. Aileen Shannon bested six opponents to win the one-year term for a Home Economics student at large on the board.

The only student running for the graduate student position on the Board was Anne J. Arneson, elected unopposed.

Elected to serve a one-year term each as College of Agriculture representatives on the council were Wilton Molmgren, Eldon Madison, and Ray Mannigel, Ag juniors.

Seven Home Economics representatives elected to the council were not yet determined last night and probably won't be known until this afternoon.

VOICE TO VICTORY

Hey, Sailor!

- Bluejackets
- Defy Weather

By Bill Shore

Seasons don't mean anything to the naval training group's physical education program. Twice a day, five days a week, sailors swarm the University Fieldhouse to defy the weather in playing touchball, basketball and baseball and working out on the track and high-bar. In the meantime, the Cooke hall pool is filled with splashing bluejackets.

Chief petty officer Joe Mangan, one of the physical education directors, is qualified to teach the men track. He has beaten both Glenn Cunningham and Gene Venske besides winning the NCAA mile race in 1932. Naval authorities indicate that the Minnesota physical education facilities and program is one of the country's best for naval training bases.

Another company of electrical engineers leaves next week after their graduation ceremonies at 3:45 p. m. Monday in the Coffman Memorial Union main ballroom. Speakers include Gideon Seymour, editorial director of the Star Journal and Tribune, President Walter C. Coffey, the electricians mates' commanding and executive officers and the graduating company's officer, Ensign Vern L. McMurrin.

Hollywood is teaching sailors more and more quickly. The navy has disclosed that movies, made mostly in Hollywood even by Walt Disney, teach their men faster and more efficiently than by other methods.

Four movie projectors and four automatic slide machines instruct on campus. Films are used many times every day. The recent increased program of visual education for navy personnel has been aided here by the University's visual education office. Movies portray sea life and work besides teaching men about machines, morale and the dangers of talking too much. Entertainment films have also been rented.

From the bureau of naval personnel in Washington comes a new electrical engineering executive officer, Lt Harold M. Piety. Lt Ira F. Brainard, former executive officer, is in the hospital in Florida where he is recovering from a misplaced leg. He placed it between a bat and a baseball at which the bat was swinging.

Ag Campus Hostesses

Six coeds will serve as hostesses for the Ag campus machinist mates tomorrow in the Ag union. They are Betty Jokela, Shirley Hovde, and Peggy Robertson, Home Economics juniors; Marian Flanagan, Home Economics sophomore; and Dorothy Potter and Gladys Wallin, Home Economics freshmen.

2 Reconstruction Planning Courses To Be Offered

Two courses dealing with post-war planning and reconstruction will be offered by the Arts college in the spring quarter.

One, Social Science 51, will be open to senior college students in all divisions of the University. Offered the first hour Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, it will be conducted on the panel discussion plan with three social scientists participating.

The other, Social Science 3, open to junior college students, will be an adaption of the third quarter of Introduction to Social Science. Students may enter either course without prerequisites.

A preliminary announcement of the courses in Friday's Daily errred in stating that the courses will be offered by the department of sociology.

Cagers Wind Up Season This Weekend

Gophers In Underdog Role Twice

Minnesota's basketball team will ring down the curtain on the 1942-43 season this weekend by meeting Great Lakes tonight in the Fieldhouse and then tangling with Wisconsin on Monday night.

In tonight's engagement with the Sailors, the Gophers aren't given much of a chance to repeat their upset victory of last year when a second half drive enabled them to defeat the Sailors 47-39.

While a victory over the high-flying Great Lakes quintet would be a bright feather in the Gopher's bonnet, their interest is naturally centered around Monday night's final conference clash with Wisconsin.

The Gopher cagers are still smarting under that 54-33 drubbing handed them by the Badgers earlier in the schedule, and will shoot the works in an effort to climax the conference season with a triumph.

Even though the Minnesota five will enter the Wisconsin finale as underdogs, the law of averages might point toward a Gopher victory. A brief review of the Gopher's recent games against Indiana and Illinois shows that Minnesota has played some brilliant basketball for one half, only to fall behind because of a hot-shooting streak on the part of their opponents or a spell of poor shooting and passing on their own part.

The Badgers, after handing Indiana their first defeat of the season, has lost its last two games to Illinois and Northwestern, mainly because their high-scoring forward Johnny Kotz was held in check.

Dave Ruliffson, Gopher sophomore forward, missed two practice sessions this week because of illness, consequently he will be used sparingly tonight against the Sailors, if at all. Coach Carl Nordly figures it advisable to save Dave for the more important Wisconsin contest.

The All-Star Great Lakes outfit presents an entirely different problem. Despite a strenuous schedule of over 30 games, the Sailors have suffered only two setbacks, so one can easily see what the Gophers will be up against tonight.

Therefore, it is imperative that the Gophers stop Kotz. They couldn't do it the first time, but it can be done. Jack Smiley of the Whiz Kids held Kotz to exactly four shots and no points last week.

Tonight's starting Gopher lineup depends upon what five Great Lakes chooses to start. The Sailor "mop-up five" or second team is a trifle taller than the so-called first quintet and Nordly plans to start his tallest five against the tallest Sailor five and vice-versa.

This will entail the use of two complete teams, inasmuch as Nordly feels that if he depends too much on one team to carry the brunt of the attack tonight against Great Lakes, it may affect their play Monday night in the more important Wisconsin battle. In any event, Nordly will not hesitate to substitute freely.

Probable Lineups for Tonight's Game

Minnesota	Pos.	Great Lakes
Windmiller	F	Schumacher
Burk	F	Hiller
Lind	C	Klein
Exel	G	Huffman
Epp	G	Sobek

Probable Lineup for Monday Night

Minnesota	Pos.	Wisconsin
Ruliffson	F	Kotz
Windmiller	F	Sullivan
Lind	C	Patterson
Exel	G	Rehm

Sports Roundup

All the Minnesota varsity sports teams of the winter season are in action either today or tonight—and they can all be considered underdogs. It's been a long time since such a statement could be made about all the teams put together. But things aren't at bad as they appear.

In the first place, three of the teams (including the freshman track team) are meeting service teams. There is some psychology behind this. The basketball team is meeting Great Lakes. This sounds like a good game until one stops to think that the cagers are meeting Wisconsin on Monday. Sure, the men will play a good game—and if you want to see another team as good as Illinois, see the game tonight. But the point is, that Minnesota will want to beat Wisconsin on Monday.

The hockey team is in a similar situation. Their season is over and they have won the Big Ten championship. Their meeting with the Service All-Star team is a post-season game that will give them no more glory if they win. They will be playing against a congregation of professionals and top-notch amateurs—that will undoubtedly provide an interesting game, however. Minnesota will again be the underdog, but anything can happen in a hockey game, especially if a little friction develops between the two teams. Remember, all the proceeds of this game are being given to the Red Cross.

The wrestling team has always had trouble with Iowa teams. Iowa is considered as the hotbed of matmen, and Iowa State promises to keep up the tradition. Look at it as an upset if Minnesota wins. The Gopher captain, George Head, left the team this week for the navy, and Minnesota will also have an inexperienced man in the 121-pound match. Draw your own conclusions.

Best chance for a win today is given to the swimming team. They are undefeated this year, and the Iowa team has just lost its star point-winner to the service.

Another service team, this one from the Minnesota campus, will see action today. A track team composed of sailors stationed here will meet the freshman cindermen. Not much can be predicted here, and likewise, the meet should be pretty even between the varsity and Iowa.

The gymnasts are in a triangle meet with Indiana and Carbondale Teachers, and with two varsity men on the team, not much can be expected of the Gophers.

Gopher Cindermen Meet Iowa Today

Minnesota's undermanned track team will meet Iowa in a dual meet this afternoon in the Fieldhouse at 2 p. m. As an added attraction the Gopher freshman squad will compete against a picked team from the Navy Electrician's school here on the campus.

The Hawkeyes are in practically the same boat as the Gophers in regard to available trackmen. While Gopher Coach Jim Kelly has a team of only nine men, Iowa has 12. As a result of this acute shortage of manpower on the part of both squads, the meet should be closely contested.

By doubling up Kelly has succeeded in giving the Gophers at least one entry in every event. The return of hurdler Frank Adams who has been laid up with a bad knee enabled the Gopher coach to do this. However, it is not definitely set that Adams will be able to compete, but Kelly said yesterday that if Adams' knee holds up he will be able to run both hurdles.

The Gopher tracksters will probably have at least two men in each event with the exception of the pole vault where Vern Shuckert will have to carry the load by himself, as will Frank Adams in the high hurdles and Carl Ekberg in the shot put.

The Sailor squad that will meet the Gopher freshmen is coached by Chief Petty Officer Joe Mangan, former star miler from Cornell University. Mangan has been working with his cindermen for the past three weeks.

Although Mangan has no former collegiate trackmen on the squad, in Cliff Treize and Jack Tisdale he has two high school men who were among the best in their respective circles.

Against this squad of Sailors Kelly will pit a group of freshmen who have enjoyed phenomenal success in past conference meets.

Fred Heiseke Lost For Hockey Game

Barring an unexpected recovery, Fred Heiseke, Gopher hockey mainstay, will not be able to play tonight when Minnesota tangles with the Army-Navy all-stars at the Arena at 8:15 p. m.

Coach Larry Armstrong said last night that Heiseke, suffering from influenza, was in bed with a 100 degree temperature and definitely would not be able to play. His loss will be keenly felt because of his expert play-making ability on the second forward line. Heiseke also ranks third in scoring for the team this season.

"We'll be handicapped," the Gopher coach said, "but we'll give them as much as we can."

Warren Lundeen, Gopher handy-andy, who has been filling Heiseke's center position in practice this week will team up with John Bolla and Mally Williams on the revamped second line.

Armstrong will count heavily on his high scoring first line combination of Paddy Ryan, Dick Kelley and Bob Graiziger to outmaneuver Bill Galligan, Dan Skorich and Roy Svendsen, the all-stars' top line.

Heiseke's loss will place an additional burden on the husky shoulders of Don Nolander and Bud Leckie, Gopher defensesmen. All proceeds of the game go for Red Cross benefit and students may attend for 25 cents by presenting their athletic tickets at the gate.

The probable starting lineups:

John Thayer	G	Jack Sullivan
Ed Leckie	L.D.	Ed Farrell
Don Nolander	R.D.	Kelly Neas
Dick Kelley	C	Bill Galligan
Bob Graiziger	L.W.	Roy Svendsen
Paddy Ryan	R.W.	Dan Skorich

Gym Team Faces Two Foes Today

The Minnesota gym team is in Bloomington, Ind. where they will take part in a triangular meet this afternoon between Indiana and Southern Illinois Normal, better known as Carbondale Teachers.

Coach Ralph Piper took with him a squad of two varsity men and five freshmen. The meet should be close as the Gophers lost to Carbondale last Saturday and the Hoosiers have several men back from last year's squad.

Undefeated Gophers Face Iowa Tankmen

Minnesota's swimming team will face its toughest test of the season in its meet with Iowa University this afternoon in Cooke hall pool. This will be the final dual meet of the season for the undefeated Gopher team.

Bob Acker, star Gopher free style man, will face Moon Norman, and Lounsbury of Iowa in the 220 and 440 events backed up by Sam Solhaug and Don Fraser both of whom have been close behind Acker in previous meets this season.

In the 50 yard free style race Gopher Captain Ray Hakomaki will face Hawkeye Captain Kenmitz with Holmswood, Craiger, and Moore also aiding the Iowa cause. Al Kraker will probably be the other Minnesota man in that race. The same men probably will meet in the 100 yard free style.

Vern Roussalain and Bud Garnas of the Minnesota squad will face Iowa ace Brown in the diving event.
