A GREAT EVENT

The Dramatic Club Play is Providing a Drawing Card in Society Circles.

The production to be given by the Dramatic Club of the University, Monday night, at the Lyceum, will eclipse any venture of the kind ever before given by this organization.

Nothing remains to be done except the dress rehearsals which will be held all Saturday and Monday, in the Lyceum theater.

The Clausen Scenery Company, which has the contract for the production, is at work upon some excellent sets of scenery which will be about complete this afternoon. The properties have been in charge of the Metropolitan stage manager and some very fine effects have been designed, including a beautiful fountain which will occupy the center of the stage in the garden scene in the second act.

The sale of seats for this performance has been larger than for any previous plays given by the club and greater than the business management had even hoped to expect. All of the boxes and nearly all of the loges, besides the entire parquet and dress circle, have been sold; but there are some very good seats still to be had in the balcony.

More seats have been sold to students this year than ever before. In former years, the audiences have been smaller and composed largely of the society people of the city. This year the sale of seats to students has been very large, and over half the audience will consist of University people.

ADDRESSED STUDENTS

It has been some little time since the University of Minnesota had the pleasure of being visited by any "wise men from the East," but yesterday it had this pleasure. Dean Frank D. Sanders, of the Yale Divinity School, who is in the city, was present at chapel and spoke to the students. He showed how in many ways eastern and western colleges are alike; although Minnesota is almost twice as large as Yale, the latter is very much older; but the spirit of the colleges is the same, and their efforts have the same end in view—to produce generous and broad-minded men and women. Dean Sanders is himself a western man, being a graduate of Ripon College, Wisconsin, and feels much interested in western institutions of learning.

As President Northrop said that in the early days all wise men came from the East and went back; but now they stay in the West; this, however, was not to be applied to Dean Sanders; but to President Hughes, of Ripon College, who was also present at chapel exercises. Although this college is small, it produces broad-minded men and women, as well as the larger institutions.

THE NEW BOARD

'04 Elects an Able and Representative Board to Edit their Quip.

The new system proved even more successful than was expected. The polls were held open all day, from 8:30 to 4 o'clock. The votes were made by printed ballot and the entire affair went off with a smoothness and freedom from partisan demonstration quite unprecedented in the records of former events of this nature.

The number of contestants for the various offices was large. The heat of the battle centered about the race for the first three positions on the list. There were two men up for managing editor, three for editor-in-chief and three for business manager. Eight young women were candidates for the board, of whom five were chosen.

The literary material represented by the newly-elected board is considered to be of unusual excellence and truly representative of the class of '04.

A particular advantage attaching to the present election was the fact that it took place so early in the year. The getting out of a year book is a labor requiring every moment of time possible for the collection and preparation of material and the new board will have considerably over a year's time to complete their work, for which is expected and predicted the widest success of all preceding ventures.

When the tellers had completed their work, the results were found to be as follows: Managing editor, L. L. Collins, 194; A. B. Wells, 149; editor-in-chief, H. S. Fuller, 152; M. L. Arnold, 138; Chester Firkins, 63; business manager, F. L. King, 149; E. L. Noyes, 124; M. A. Nye, 73; assistant business manager, E. J. Cheney; artist, W. B. Stout; assistant artist, Miss Verharen, 166; Miss Cook, 106; Miss Wagner, 71. The following were chosen as associate editors, Marjorie Cole, Ruth Leonard, Eleanor Van Bodenstedt, Edith Thompson, Alice Bean, A. T. Kovarik, W. H. McGrath, N. H. Newhall.

SMALL POX AT THE FARM

Three cases of smallpox have been discovered at the State Agricultural School. The afflicted students are Miss L. M. McCabe, F. J. Kassube, and E. O. Skatterud, who have all been taken to the detention hospital. The close dormitory life which the students there lead make the situation a somewhat anxious one. The students were vaccinated yesterday and the dormitories thoroughly disinfected.

The University Summer School will open July 14, immediately after the meeting of the N. E. A. and continue four weeks. The six weeks' session will be resumed after this season.

N. D. AGGIES TODAY

The Fargo Boys Promise a Good Basketball Game at the Armory at 2:30 Today.

The team of basket ballists from the State Agricultural College of North Dakota, which is to meet the Varsity this afternoon, reached the city yesterday morning and, from their appearance, should be able to make an excellent showing against Minnesota's as yet undefeated "five."

While the score of 47 to 7, which the Varsity ran up against them at Fargo, would seem to show a wide difference in ability, it must be said in justice to the A. C. boys that at the time they had had practically no practice and were fortunate in keeping the score down as well as they did. Since then, however, they have secured the use of the large armory floor at Fargo, which is nearly as large as that of our own, and by constant work have improved so much that when seen yesterday, they not only promised to put up a hard game, but even thought that they might be fortunate enough as to greatly surprise Minnesota's supporters.

The price of admission has been placed at 25 cents to all parts of the house. One hundred seats will be placed on the main floor and will be offered to the first who appear who desire to see the game from the sidelines. These will be sold to the first purchasers and only the limited number will be sold. The line-up will be, N. D. A. C., Mann, center; Green, McGuigan, guards; Jensen, McAllister, forwards; Minnesota, Deering and Holden, forwards; Tuck, center; Kiefer and Ireland, guards.

SERIOUSLY INJURED

Joe DeMars, night coal-shoveller at the engineering building, fell from the boiler scaffolding yesterday morning, at 5:30 and sustained injuries of a serious nature.

He was engaged at the time in tightening up the machinery. The wrench with which he was working slipped, throwing him off his balance. He fell some twelve feet over the boiler railing to the cement pavement, lighting on his face and shoulder. The ambulance was called and DeMars taken to the city hospital, where his injuries were examined.

At ten o'clock he was reported in a semi-conscious condition. His collar bone had been fractured, one shoulder badly contused and his head cut. A slight brain concussion resulted. DeMars is a man of perhaps thirty and had held his position for the past three years. His home is in North Minneapolis.

Walter Mayo, '00, who has just returned from a year's vacation in Leavenworth, Kan., was a visitor at the University yesterday.

The '04 Gopher

One of the most important events of the college year is over—that of the election of the Gopher board. Only one or two others rank with it in enlisting the interest of the entire student body. For the past two weeks, friends of literary sophomores have been on the alert, leaving nothing undone for the advancement of their favorites. As a result, a board of unusual merit has been selected, and we may confidently look forward to an exceedingly high-class production next year.

To the class of '04 belongs the credit of introducing a successful innovation. The Australian system has proved eminently satisfactory, as is the case in eastern colleges, where it has been for some time in vogue. The plan of allowing the candidate to present his name by petition after the nominating convention, obviates the danger of cliques, and gives a chance for real ability and a fairer representation. The system of registering the names prevents any stuffing of the ballot-box. Last, but by no means least, the keeping of the polls open throughout the day gives an opportunity for students from every department to cast their votes without interfering with their daily work—an impossibility under the former system. These advantages, with others of minor importance, will no doubt lead to the adoption of the new plan by the athletic association and other large organizations in the future.

A "Pan-University"

Last year, for the benefit of the debating and oratorical association, the dramatic club and the different musical organizations of the University united in giving a "Pan-University" concert, which was the most successful entertainment ever given at the "U." Since the University clubs so generously gave their services last year, to a needy branch of student activity, the DAILY is led to propose that, if feasible, a similar entertainment be given, this spring, for the benefit of the soldiers' memorial monument fund, which is not receiving the support from the student body which it undoubtedly deserves.

There seems to be no valid reason why such a plan could not be adopted, as the students have shown that they are ready and willing to aid and attend concerts of this kind and the clubs have always shown a willingness to do everything possible to aid the other student enterprises and organizations.

CHARLES A. SCHUNERT

Charles A. Schunert died yesterday morning at his home in Northeast Minneapolis. He had been suffering with an attack of typhoid fever for about five weeks and it was thought that the danger was past and that he would recover. A hemorrhage, however, necessitated an operation which proved too much for him in his weakened state and yesterday he breathed his last. The news of his death will come as a shock to his many student friends, as it was supposed that he was convalescent.

Mr. Schunert was a member of the Senior Academic class, a good student whose friends were limited only by the number of his acquaintances. He was a member of the Hermean Literary society and acted as assistant business manager of the '02 Gopher. The funeral will be held Sunday.

LAWS VS. KENTS

The last of the series of preliminary debates will take place in the Senior Law class room tonight at 8 o'clock. The winners will meet the Minervas in the semifinals. The question which the solons will argue is one that is interesting to all students, and reads, "Resolved, that party allegiance is preferable to independent action in politics. The Laws uphold the affirmative, and have placed their trust in Messrs. R. W. Stanford, Sperry and Gramis. The Kents will be represented by Messrs. McPartlin, Wildes and Healy.

The judges are Dean Pattee, Judge Powell and Attorney Howe, of St. Paul.

WOMAN'S LEAGUE

The regular monthly meetings of the various groups of the Women's League occur this afternoon, and the groups are to be entertained in the usual pleasant manner at the homes of the different faculty ladies. Some new forms of entertainment have been planned for several of the groups. The group entertained by Mrs. Savage and Miss Clopath will visit the Walker Art Gallery, and several of the groups will unite to enjoy a sleigh-ride.

A few of the groups will not meet tomorrow, the meetings having been postponed until next week.

FRESHMAN CAUCUS

As if to make amends for the late date of perfecting an organization, the freshman class seems determined to enter politics with a vengeance and the customary engineer-academic scrap will probably materialize, as both factors have held meetings and are ready to do their best to elect their candidates. The academics have already nominated a ticket and adopted a platform, so to speak, both being found in a notice by the committee, in another column.

The State Federation of Women will hold a meeting in the Armory, next Wednesday. Luncheon will be served at noon. Among the speakers who will respond to toasts will be Alice J. Mott, Ph. D., '99, of Faribault, Minn.

Miss Lillian Randall Moore, '95, and Mr. Roy J. Cook, '95, will be married in St. Paul, April 16th.

Peter Hanson, '01, was at the "U" yesterday.

Dr. J. E. Granrud will lecture this evening at St. Olaf College, Northfield.

Guy Stoughton has returned to college, after a year's vacation in Montana.

James W. Everington, C. E. '01, was seen on the campus yesterday afternoon.

President Northrop will leave Monday night for Chicago, where he will deliver a lecture Tuesday.

Accountant Sprague is now nicely settled in his new and commodious room across the hall from his past place of business.

Miss Gertrude Gates, '01, has resigned her position in the Minneapolis schools and is teaching at her home in West Superior, Wis.

The Seniors were defeated by the Sophomore basket ball team, yesterday, the score being 24 to 2. The Dent-Junior game was postponed.

The Minerva Literary Society, at a meeting held yesterday elected the Misses Anna Maley, Irene McKeehan and Augusta Baker to represent them in the semi-finals.

Dr. Kiehle and Miss Virginia C. Meredith, of the University faculty, will participate in the program of the National Educational Association at Chicago, Feb. 25, 26 and 27.

A bill creating a state inspector for the normal schools will probably be introduced into the legislature during its present session. This will provide for the inspection of the entire school system. Minnesota already has inspectors for its high and graded schools.

COLTON'S LECTURE

Fully 600 students greeted Mr. Colton last night. After the opening hymns, Dean Pattee lead in prayer. Mr. Colton began by saying that the measure of manhood was in the degree which temptations were overcome. All students were divided into four classes: Those who are steadily gaining victory; those who have varying fortunes; those who are pushed back, day by day, and lastly, those who have abandoned the struggle. Man's refuge is in Christ, who understands man, energizes him, and makes him hate his passions. Mr. Colton, throughout the lecture, held the attention of the audience. His speech is plain and appeals directly to men. He will speak again tonight, at 7:30, in chapel. Mr. Colton will address the young ladies in the Y. W. C. A. room at the fourth hour today.

Attention Freshman Academics

The following nominations were made by the '05 Academic caucus and should receive the united support of the Academic Freshmen:

For President—J. P. DeVaney.
Vice President—Miss Simonson.
Secretary—Miss Swift.
Treasurer—J. F. Carroll.

It was further decided to support a clause in the class constitution, providing for an Australian system of election. This measure and these nominations deserve the loyal support of every Academic in the meeting at the fourth hour today.

Christmas is over! We are catching our breath and steadying our nerves and muscles for fresh effort and another year of successful business. This is a fitting time—between closing and opening years—to refer to the principles which underlie our business methods—a good time to announce our creed. We have persistently followed a settled policy for thirty-three years. We handle nothing shoddy. We follow no fads. We play no tricks. We buy the best articles the world offers and are satisfied with a moderate margin of profit. We recognize the fact that to make and to hold friends we must follow the golden rule! It's a matter of business as well as a matter of conscience. Now, then! If you like our creed and are confident that our thirty odd years of experience counts for anything, don't forget us this coming year. We will sell you the best and sell it right. We will tell you nothing but facts and treat you as we would hope to be treated if we were buying from you. ADDRESSED STUDENTS

It is not the object or desire of universities to swallow up these smaller colleges, because there are enough youth to attend both.

The University is glad to receive visits from distinguished men—and they are always heartily welcomed whenever they come.

The Scandinavian Literary Club

The Scandinavian Literary club will hold its next regular meeting Monday evening, Feb. 10, at 7:30, in the Y. W. C. A. room. The following program will be rendered:

Music, furnished by Mr. Lambert; biography of Wellhaven's life and a brief outline of his works, Mr. J. P. Jensen; review of Norges Daemring, Mr. J. J. Hodenfield; music, Mr. Lambert; "The Controversy between Wergeland and Welhaven," Mr. Ha-verstad; readings from Welhaven's poems, by Miss C. S. Christopherson and by Messrs. Kindseth and John Hagen.

All those interested in the Scandinavian literature are most cordially invited.

NOTICE.

All members of the Scandinavian Literary Club will meet at Stafford's, 520 Nicolett avenue, at 2:30, sharp, this afternoon.

CASTALIANS VICVORIOUS

The Castalian debating team, consisting of Messrs. Smyth e, Wildey and Williams, proved too much for their opponents, the Blackstones, last night. The question of the popular election of United States senators was defended by the latter society, the winners having the negative of the proposition. The Castalian team put up what was by far the best debate thus far in the preliminaries and the judges were unanimous in their opinion that the negative's supporters had more clearly and forcibly brought forth their arguments. The Castalians have, by their victory, won the right to enter the semi-finals against the Shakopeans.

Hermean Notice

There will be an important meeting of the Hermean Literary Society in Dr. Folwell's room at the fourth hour today.

Federal Society

The Federal Society will meet at Stafford's, Saturday, at one o'clock, for a Gopher photograph. All members should be present.

ARENA NOTICE

All members of the Arena Literary Society are requested to meet in the Y. M. C. A. rooms, at 1 o'clock this p. m.

Physical Culture Notice

The fourth hour class in physical culture will not meet today. The young women of this division are thus given an opportunity to hear Mr. Colton's address to them in the Y. W. C. A. room.

AT MADISON SQUARE THEATER

It may be of interest to the students of the "U" to know that the play that the University Dramatic Club is about to present, i. e., "The Romancers," has been running at the Madison Square Theater since Jan. 8, and until Feb. 8, it is the first act thereof. It is being used as a curtain raiser for "Sweet and Plenty."

The part of "Pasquin," one of the conspiring fathers, is taken by Ellis N. Harris, who was a student of the U. 1899-1900, and a graduate of Central High School, 1899, where he took several studies to aid him in his intended future work. He is attending the Academy of Dramatic Art in New York, where the first production of Rostand's comedy as translated was given upon the request and permission of Chas. Frohman, who controls the American rights. He took the part that he was since called upon to take in the professional productions. It is considerable credit to him to be given such a part in a play in which the five characters are all leads. Isabel Irving and Elizabeth Tyree, both leading ladies of Frohman's companies, and W. H. Thompson, a well known old man and character actor, Stanley Darb, an Englishman, and Ellis N. Harris comprise the company.

Mr. Harris is a brother of "Sig" Harris, Eng. '05, the "baby Gopher" of the football squad.
