GIRLS' RECEPTION

The Faculty Ladies Receive at the Armory Monday—200 Girls Present

The reception given to the young women at the girl's gymnasium, Monday afternoon was a delightful affair and the most successful undertaking of its kind ever made here. The gymnasium was well filled, though not unpleasantly crowded.

The reception was very informal, all the ladies of the faculty and the faculty wives were hostesses, there being no formal reception committee appointed. President and Mrs. Northrop were among the entertainers. The President gave the girls a short talk in which he mixed his usual humor, expressing the good will and interest of the hostesses and asking a reciprocal feeling on the part of the girls. Miss Esther Kinsey rendered a violin selection, Miss Mayme Stanley sang a solo, and Miss Lois Tennant played a pretty piano piece. Frappe and wafers were served at various places in the room. Some one suggested dancing when the musical program was over and all the girls who cared for that enjoyment danced. The gymnasium was tastefully decorated and made more homelike than was usual and the girls felt a certain sense of possession which made them free and comfortable. There was nothing of the stiffness which is too common at receptions, and every girl present went away feeling happier and that someone had a genuine interest in her as a student and as a young woman.

Not more than two hundred girls were present, however, and those who did not respond to the kind invitation of the ladies may regret having missed one of the pretty affairs which make University life something more than a search for book-lore.

But with the great success of this reception there can be no doubt that the plan will meet the desired results and that a larger number than ever will attend the series of "at homes" to be given in the future by the ladies of the faculty.

The plan of holding these social affairs in the University buildings seems to bring better results than the one tried last year of meeting at the various homes of professors. The girls feel perfectly at home in the "U." buildings, and thus one great bugbear—stiffness—is at once done away with. No one could fail to be impressed by the freedom and naturalness which pervaded the very atmosphere Monday afternoon. The girls are truly grateful to their hostesses for the pleasant afternoon afforded them and still more for the bright promises for the future.

CENTRAL VS. SOUTH

A high school game that will attract no little attention is the game between the present Western champions, Central High, and the former Western champions, South High, which occurs Friday afternoon of this week at Nicollet Ball Park. Neither team has suffered defeat this year, and the game promises to be warm. Central, of course, expects to win, but the South High boys are plucky and have not given up hopes of defeating their opponents. Game at 3:45; admission, 25 cents.

THE SITUATION

Results of Games Played Saturday and their Bearing on Race for Championship

Iowa's decisive defeat of Chicago is another bad setback for the Maroons, puts it out of the championship race and gives Iowa a place among the first eleven of the season of 1900. The most sanguine Hawkeye supporter believed the defeat would not be so overwhelming although believing that Iowa would win. To Iowa's splendid backfield and her mastery of the famous Pennsylvania "guards back" play is due the credit of the victory. Dr. Knipe has succeeded in making the play a success in the West, something which other coaches have been unable to do. Next week Iowa meets Michigan and that contest will be far more interesting and important because of the result it will have upon the chances of the two contesting universities for the championship of the West. The chances now favor Michigan. It is believed that the "guards back" will not be so effective against Michigan's heavy line as it was against that of Chicago, while the Iowa's speedy backs in their successful end plays will find stumbling blocks in Redden and Snow the star Michigan ends.

Northwestern defeated Knox though the latter scored. The victory was dearly bought for Northwestern, for Smiley, her best half back and leader of Northwestern's main reliance, the tandem play, was so badly injured that he will not play again this season. The game shows Northwestern to be improving but very slowly and it is likely that Chicago's story of mournful defeats will be broken when the Purple comes down to Marshall Field. (Smiley is again in the game.)

Illinois had trouble with Purdue until the last fifteen minutes of play when she ran up 17 points. Purdue scored five points, Robertson sending the ball across the bar by a neatly executed place kick. The Illinois backs fumbled atrociously and handled punts like beginners, but got into the game toward the close by making long runs and touchdowns; Cayou, the Indian, running the ball back 95 yards from a kick off.

Y. W. C. A. STATE CONVENTION

The recent meeting of the State Y. W. C. A. was certainly one of the most enthusiastic in its history. There were some fifty delegates present, representing colleges and Bible circles all over the state. The "U." had the best representation, 13 delegates being in attendance. Miss Mary Wood, a graduate of three years ago, and state secretary of the Y. W. C. A., was the soul of the meeting. Among the other prominent speakers at the convention were Mrs. Rouse from China, who told of missionary work there; Miss Barnes, national city secretary; Mrs. T. J. Gray, Mrs. O. T. Evans, Dr. Richardson of Carleton, Dr. Samuel Smith of St. Paul and others.

THE CELEBRATION

Minneapolis has never seen a wilder time than it witnessed Saturday after the football game. The whistle of the referee ending the game had no sooner sounded than 2,500 students were thronging the field, dancing and howling in a mad delirium of joy. The men on the team were dragged out of training quarters and carried triumphantly about the field, while 5,000 cheered and applauded. The band led the procession of ziz-zags down to "Prexy's" house, but the President had not returned from the game, and Gov. Pillsbury's lawn was invaded. The governor spoke to the boys briefly, expressing his joy at the outcome of the struggle. After supper the celebration was down town. The West Hotel bears evidence of a visit, and all the theaters knew that something had happened. The members of the team were guests of the Metropolitan, where "A Runaway Girl" was playing, and the ovation they received was ear-rending. In the balcony there were Dr. Williams and his wife, Coach Donaldson and Profs. Jones, Woodbridge and Appleby, who enjoyed the tumult as much as any one.

The Wisconsin team was given a hearty send-off at the train, and the yells of the two universities were given heartily by both crowds. The Varsity students tried to get Phil King to talk, but he hid from sight at their first approach. The celebration was kept up until a late hour.

The damage which was done, and which it is said University students were responsible for, was very slight, and was not caused by students, but by hoodlums who took it upon themselves to celebrate someone else's victory.

The election returns Tuesday night caused almost as much excitement about town as the result of the game, Saturday. Funny why they should, isn't it?

The friendly feeling that exists between the Universities of Wisconsin and Minnesota after the game Saturday is indicative of good things to come. The Cardinal, the Wisconsin paper, takes the defeat of the team in a philosophic manner, and takes occasion to congratulate Minnesota on her achievements of late; the students of Minnesota gave Wisconsin's team an enthusiastic send-off, and the U-Rah! Rah! of Wisconsin from their throats was answered by the Ski-U-Mah from the Badgers. There is none of the rancor present that often follows an inter-collegiate contest: the contest was won fairly and squarely by the victors and if there was bad refereeing favored the losers rather than the winners. May this good spirit continue—and may Wisconsin win always from everything but Minnesota.

Mr. "Slam" Anderson of Wisconsin, whom we are glad to say Wisconsin is not now responsible for, distinguished himself Saturday in the Michigan-Indiana game, where he acted as referee. The U. of M. Daily says of his work: "The referee needlessly delayed the game several times by quibbling as to whether the five yards had been gained in two downs or not. He hardly seemed to possess a mind of his own and took advice almost continuously from the linesmen. In fact, he did everything but attend strictly to the ball's progress."

He will be remembered as the same Anderson who was caught putting our plays on paper during the Chicago-Minnesota game. Any athletic association that countenances this individual deserves to have its team defeated, now that his record is writ so large.

The Coming Receptions

Now that everyone has his breath after the victory Saturday, and there is much confidence about the outcome of our next games, it would be well to lay some plans for sociability during the coming months when outdoor entertainments will be impossible.

The ladies who gave the very pleasant reception Monday afternoon are doing their part to bring the young women into closer acquaintance with one another, and the ultimate success of the undertaking lies with the girls themselves. Nothing can be done without organization, and the girls should get plans ready. The Senior girls are discussing methods of bringing about more sociability among themselves, and the girls of other classes should do the same.

Whether or not a Woman's League will be organized, later developments must show. The unusual interest manifested in social affairs for the coming winter would seem to warrant the success of such an attempt. The girls who have not expressed themselves should take a few moments from the constant digging to consider a matter of really great interest to them. Through such an organization the girls will become better acquainted with each other, and will make some valuable acquaintances among the ladies who are helping to advance this movement. To those who have observed the existing conditions here, it will be evident that most of the girls can afford to make a few more friends.

The DAILY will gladly give space to any communications on this matter, and hopes soon to publish whatever definite plans are adopted.

AN EXPLANATION

The confusion at the gates before the game Saturday calls for a few words, and the DAILY has endeavored to find out where the blame rests. The manner of handling the crowd revealed incompetence or a mistake on the part of somebody that is difficult to excuse or overlook. It seems clear that the whole difficulty arose because the Wisconsin managers, whose duty it was under the contract between the two universities to receive the tickets at the gates, failed to show up on time. The hour for the opening of the gates was advertised to be 1 o'clock, but it was nearly 1:30 before the first gate was opened, and then an attempt was made to admit 4,000 people through a gate two feet wide. Fully 2,000 people had gathered at the Union street gate and waited until 1:30 when they were informed that that gate would not open at all. A rush was made for the small gate at the lower end of the field and the entire 2,000 people crowded into the wedge-shaped space between the fence and the crowd already there. The crush was fearful. Men were crowded against the fence with such force as to make them beg for assistance. Women fainted in the crowd and were unable to be taken out.

The management here lays the whole responsibility upon the Wisconsin officials and claim to be entirely blameless. The explanation of the Minnesota managers is that the Wisconsin gate-keepers were not at the field on time and that the gates could not be opened until their arrival. The duty to the patrons of the game on the part of the managers is such and the danger of such a mistake is so great that it is highly desirable that there be no repetition of the occurrence.

PERSONAL NOTES

President Northrop left last night for Fairmont, where he is to give an address at the dedication of the new high school building.

The DAILY is getting a world-wide fame. A letter came the other day from Miss Florence Sylvester, '00, who has just returned to Berlin from her summer home on the Baltic, and she says that the DAILY comes to her every week and keeps her in touch with University life.

In a recent letter to Prof. Haynes, from Prof. Thomas Clark who taught in the College of Engineering, last year, but who now teaches in Swarthmore College, Pa., he says: "I presume that some of them [the Engineering Faculty] will remember Prof. Beardslv who organized the Engineering School at the U. of M. He lives at Swarthmore. He has lost the use of his eyes, however."

Monday evening, Nov. 5th, Robert Wetmore gave a chafing dish supper at the Phi Delta Theta house for Mr. Frances A. Donaldson, Jr. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Esterly, Misses Carpenter, Reed, Fanning, Moore, Lavayea, Traver, Daniels, Stanford, Kenney, Messrs. Donaldson, McKusick, Fitch, Warren, Horton, Pitkin, Jones, Mitchell, H. E. Esterly.

NOTES

The alumni of the Varsity were out in force Saturday. One man who came 45 miles to see the game arrived at the gates about two minutes before the last whistle blew. He was told that he could enter for nothing, but he insisted on paying his dollar and securing a ticket, saying that he was more than willing to do so if he could only see the game for ten seconds.

Several of the professors sprang quizzes on their classes, unexpectedly, Saturday and yesterday. Such action may be real cute and within the province of those professors, but it is decidedly unjust to the students, nevertheless.

NOTICE

The first rehearsal of the Dramatic Club casts is called for Monday morning, Nov. 19th, at the Johnson school.

The entire cast for "The Flower of Yeddo" must be there at nine o'clock sharp; the cast for "At the Barricade" at ten o'clock; the cast for "A Woman's Won't" at eleven o'clock. Remember the hours, be right on time and start the work off with a rush.

MINERS—NOTICE

The School of Mines Society will meet Friday evening, Nov. 9th, at 8 o'clock, in the Geology lecture room. Dr. F. W. Sardeson will give a lecture (illustrated) on "The Great Bad Lands of Wyoming."

COLLEGE OF DENISTRY

Among those of the dental alumni to witness the Wisconsin-Minnesota foot- ball game last Saturday were the follow- ing: Dr. F. F. Riley, Lakefield, Minn.; Dr. K. H. Horn, Red Wing; Dr. F. E. Anderson, Red Wing; Dr. Charles Couplin, Waterville; Dr. Wallace Tift, Glencoe; Dr. George Morris, Tracy; Dr. Frank Norris, Winona; Dr. A. A. Thor- sin, Le Seuer; Dr. B. A. Herrick, Red Wing.

C. F. Yates, '01, enjoyed a visit of a few days with his brother of New Ulm.

The Infirmary was very much im- proved last Saturday by the addition of new shades for the windows. The boys have also helped the appearance of the operating rooms by all wearing white operation coats.

The Infirmary has lately been equip- ped with a gong which rings ten minutes before the instructors leave and again at 12 m. and 4:30 p. m., when work in the infirmary is expected to come to a close.

The freshmen class held a meeting Saturday of last week for the purpose of forming a class organization. They appointed a committee of three to draw up a constitution. The election of offi- cers will be held in the near future.

COLLEGE OF LAW

T. D. Mertha has returned after a weeks' visit home.

E. Gipson, who has been sick with lung trouble, is with his class again.

J. F. Sheran went home for the elec- tion and incidentally did considerable visiting.

J. H. Kane of the middle class spent Sunday with his parents at New Rich- mond, Wis.

Frank Sasse, with other alumni, called on friends Saturday. He is prac- ticing law at St. Charles, Minn.

THE ARENA LITERARY

A new literary society has been or- ganized called the Arena. The follow- ing officers have been elected: President, W. H. McGrath; vice president, A. B. Wells; secretary, Roy E. Lane; treas- urer, J. F. Cotton; sergeant-at-arms, Ramele.

Letters of congratulation upon last Saturday's victory are coming in from former students. Among the alumni who have written are H. B. Carey, '00, Northwestern; C. E. Adams, Law, '00, Duluth, and E. J. Cornish, '99, Rush Medical. They all claim the score has given them a new lease of life.
