A DOUBLE-BARRELED HIT

Skilled Performers and Trained Animals Furnish High Class Amusement

Those who went to the Saturday afternoon performance came out with the firm belief that it would pay to go back in the evening. Everyone was completely satisfied that the circus had neither turned out to be a farce nor even a clever humbug.

The afternoon performance was not nearly as well attended as the one in the evening and in consequence the performers did not do as good work in the afternoon. They fully entered the spirit of the circus under calcium lights before the full-house. Yet this does not say the afternoon performance was slack by any means.

The show began with the good old-fashioned grand parade in which were all the performers, all the animals, the clowns, policemen, and directors. It was not only an imposing parade with its brilliant collection of circus freaks; but it had something of the magic atmosphere of the hot summer day circus parade. The elephants and camels were a little below the ordinary size, but what they lacked in size they made up in wisdom, for never were better trained animals seen in captivity. The automobiles which carried the directors and ringmasters were a feature about the parade.

From this time on the rings were constantly occupied by some lively features. The exhibition of the fraternity animals for the cup contest took place in the two rings and the clowns and acrobats turned somersaults over the elephants and camels. Then came the german horse contest on a raised platform between two rings, where Dr. Cooke's men showed proficiency of their training. In this contest John Dye took the first place.

In the next display, Willard B. Dye showed a very clever exhibition of club-swinging, Frank Case showed a performance of wonderful skill in club-swinging on a rolling ball and the gymnastic squad competed for the University championship on flying rings which was won by Mr. Ostvig. The original flying dutchman who next gave his stunt on tight rope was one of the best features of the show. The wonderful Andreas showed some bag punching which reminded one of Oscar Frykmann.

This was but the introduction to what was to follow. The circus was now in full swing. The clowns were everywhere and right in their glory. The modern Sampson in the person of Oscar Frykmann made marvelous tests of strength with dumb bells and horse shoes the latter of which he doubled up and broke into splinters in his Herculean grasp. The awkward squad led by the clown band passed in review and received compliments for its fine military appearance.

The gymnasts occupied the center platform and performed graceful athletic feats for the University championship. The only genuine Prof. Le Soeksneiter walked like a veritable Jap. on a slack wire. Tony Prexel walked the tightrope and Frank Case who graduated from the University over three years ago did marvelous and daring feats in hand balancing. His proficiency in this line was most remarkable and would have done credit to any professional circus man.

Among the most interesting features of the regular show was the tumbling by Thornhill and Gerbeck, the contest on the parallel bars and the strongmen's pyramid, this last mentioned was probably one of the prettiest and most artistic features about the circus.

Among the final displays was the desperate hold-up of the Cripple Creek stage coach by a band of western desperadoes. A troop of vigilantes however came to the rescue of the passengers, the dead and wounded were piled up in the shot torn vehicle. The battle came to an end when every man had emptied his revolver.

The much-heralded Flying Zenos, the only one-legged trapezists in the world gave the final performance. Their work (Continued on 4th page.)

PILLSBURY ORATORY

The Free For All Contest Last Friday Closes the Preliminary Contest

Friday night four men were chosen in the Free-for-all oratorical contest to enter with the four chosen from the literary society contest. These eight are privileged to enter the Pillsbury contest on March 20th. The successful contestants are Dillman, Steenson, Drake and Baldwin. The eight men who will enter the finals are as follows:

J. G. Steenson—"Defense of Daniel Webster's 7th of March Speech."
Mr. Baldwin—"A Typical Soldier."
R. L. Dillman—"A Cause and A Man."
Benj. Drake, Jr.—"A National Crisis and Its Hero."

G. P. Jones—"The Age of Coal."
H. J. Bushfield—"Aaron Burr."
J. A. Layne—"Let Us Not Forget."
H. J. McClearn—"An Episode on the Development of Free Government."

The following is the detailed marking of the different sets of judges on thought and composition, and on delivery:

Law Building Improvements

With the middle laws having part of their classes in crowded rooms in the armory and the other part in St. Paul, thus causing great inconvenience to both professors and students there can be no doubt that an addition to the law building is an absolute necessity. Together with appropriations for several other additional buildings the regents ask for $30,000 for the Law department. The proposed improvement is an addition on the south-west side of the building. The addition will be about 80 feet long or the same as the front of the present building and will be used for library and recitation rooms. With this addition the building will assume the shape of an H. Dean Pattee has high hopes that this appropriation will be made.

TWO MORE VICTORIES

Two Games Taken by Hard, Solid Work, From Superior Normal

Yesterday the girls basket ball team returned from Superior after having defeated the Normal team by the following scores. Minnesota, 15, Normal, 11; Minnesota, 9, Normal, 7.

The game on Friday night was certainly played under difficulties by the Minnesota team. After travelling all the afternoon and getting a little supper, they hurried over to the school and had barely time to do a little practicing before the game was called. From a basket ball stand point this was by far the better game of the two. Both teams played clean, fast ball and the university girls at times showed excellent team work. The first half ended with the score standing 8 to 8. In the second half our girls appeared to play with more confidence and determination, and the result was never for an instant in doubt. For the Varsity, Wagner played a perfect game, being extremely steady and consistent in her work.

The second game was a much rougher and harder contest. Both teams played with such earnestness that the officers were continually obliged to call fouls on the teams and as a result the game was in a way uninteresting. Little scoring from field was done and the team play was not up to the standard of either of the teams.

In this game Miss Oren played an exceedingly good game at center. Hattie Van Bergen threw two field goals, the other five points being made by Bessie Cox from fouls. The guards Johnston and Longbrake played better games on the defensive than any of the Varsity guards have done this year.

After the game on Saturday the two opposing teams were entertained at a banquet by the boys of the school.

The line-up for the first game was as follows:

Minnesota: Forwards, Cox and Van Bergen; Center, Smith; Guards, Johnston (capt.) and Wagner.

Second game line-up: Forwards, Cox and Van Bergen, Center, Oren; Guards, Johnstone, (capt.) and Longbrake.

Arena Program

Thursday evening, March, 5th, 1903. Roll-Call, Answer by quotations from Whittier; Extemporaneous speech, by McGrath; Current Events, Sinclair; Debate, Resolved that a three years college course in colleges should entitle a student to the A.B. degree. Aff. O'Brien, and H. Peterson; Neg., Jacobson and Stromswold. Meeting has been changed to Thursday evening instead of Friday.

Phi Gamma Delta Victors

Phi Gamma Delta defeated Kappa Sigma two games out of three at the cooperative bowling alleys on Saturday afternoon. The scores were 636-715; 731-712; and 864-722. High score rolled by Frankovitz, of Phi Gams, 219.

Will Convene in Minneapolis

The Kappa Alpha Theta Sorority will hold its National convention in Minneapolis about the middle of July next Summer. The convention will probably be held at Lake Minnetonka.

Freshman Debaters

Saturday afternoon the preliminary contest was held for the purpose of the choosing of the representatives for the Freshman class in the Freshman-Sophomore debate which comes off on May 8. The work was of a high class order and from the eleven contestants the three following were chosen: Messrs. Heiley, Gleason and Wistern. The team is a very strong and is expected to do things to the Sophomores in the debate. Mr. Reed was chosen alternate.

Graduate Club

The Physicists will present their program on the third Saturday, instead of the first Saturday, in March. Detailed announcement will be made later.

BILL CONCERNING LAWS

Committee Appointed to Head It Off in Both Houses

The bill governing admission to the bar, spoken of in Saturday's issue which has been brought before the judicial committee of the state legislature is still the main topic of conversation among the upperclassmen in the law school.

The bill was introduced by Senator Morgan of Albert Lea and in substance it repeals the law admitting graduates of the law schools of the state to practice without examinations.

It provides further that any graduate of the law schools of the state who have taken a course of law of at least three years may present himself for examination without having studied law in the office of a practicing attorney for the period of six months now required of those who take the examinations.

The senior class at the law school are putting up a vigorous fight on the measure in so far as it effects them. They have appointed a committee to take the matter up with the Judiciary committees of both houses.

Bowling League Standing

The second week finds all of the games bowled off with the exception of that between Sigma Chi and Delta Tau Delta.

Delta Upsilon, Theta Delta Chi, and Alpha Delta Phi lead their respective sections. The coming week will doubtless see a change in the positions of some of the teams.

The University Circus held last Saturday was undoubtedly the most gigantic as well as most successful enterprise ever undertaken at the University of Minnesota. It is more than an ordinary business proposition which Dr. Cooke and Mr. Schweitzer undertook when they went into the show business. They had to overcome the notion which generally prevailed both among the students and people outside the University that the circus would be more or less of a humbug. This they did by first absolutely believing in their enterprise and next by devoting all their time and energy to advertising it. If we would put down the exact amount of labor and money expended in the circus enterprise it is doubtful whether anyone would believe us. But the circus was financially a success, and everyone who took part in the circus feels amply repaid for his effort. The Daily congratulates Dr. Cooke and his assistants for their well-earned success. It is doubtful whether any single enterprise at the University has done more to advertise the institution.

Athletic Board Meets

The athletic board at their regular meeting yesterday voted to bring the Nebraska basket ball team to Minneapolis for a game next Saturday.

The proposition to send a team to represent Minnesota at the A. A. U. indoor meet to be held next Saturday was turned down.

Circus Miscellanies

The first great University Circus is now a matter of history and it was a success in every sense of the word. Although no expense was spared to make the first attempt of the kind successful, the financial outcome is all that anyone could ask for. A precedent has been established for making the event an annual event to be looked forward to with eager interest.

An immense crowd witnessed the various stunts both at the afternoon and the evening performances. The performers outdid themselves at both shows and every body was well pleased.

The statement in the Sunday Times to the effect that a third performance would take place, is without confirmation and carpenters were at work all day yesterday clearing the Army of the Circus regalia.

The Alpha Kappa Kappa camel carried off the cup for the frats. and the Shakopean's Zulus for the literary societies.

The vote on the best fraternity animal was as follows:

- Alpha Kappa Kappa—Camel.....433
- Kappa Sigma—Bear.....378
- Delta Upsilon—Elephant.....295
- Chi Psi—Rooster.....52
- Sigma Alpha Epsilon—Dog.....30
- Delta Tau Omega—Gopher.....21

Vote on the best literary freak:

- Shakopean—Zulus and horse.....473
- Forum—Organ grinder and monkeys.....312

Arena—Wild man.....63

Castilians—Carrie Nation.....45

In the gymnastic contest the points were distributed as follows: 38 points each possible for the contestants:

- Broad horse—John Dye.....26
- Long horse—John Dye.....20
- Horizontal bar—Haberly.....23
- Parallel bars—Hartson & Dye.....25
- Flying Rings—Ostvig.....22
- Tumbling—John Dye.....21

Aggies University Extension

Under the provisions of the law passed in April 1901, the University was charged with the introduction of the subjects of agriculture and household economics into the rural schools of the State. Last spring Mr. F. J. Wojta, M. Agr., University of Wisconsin, was appointed to take charge of the matter, under direction of Professor Hays. Through the cooperation of the department of public instruction, a start was made in the work by providing for such instruction in fifteen of the summer schools of the state. The reception given to this proposed innovation was gratifying in the extreme. In furtherance of this plan there has just been issued a volume of two hundred pages, fully illustrated, giving two hundred and thirty-seven practical exercises to be used by teachers who desire to give such instruction in the schools. All of the exercises are of the most practical nature. It is not intended that they shall be taken up in order, but as they are brought up naturally in connection with the other subjects, being pursued by the student. The book is exceedingly valuable as a mine of information and suggestion, but as stated in the introduction, the success of the work must depend largely, almost wholly upon the teacher. We believe that the issuing of this little manual marks the beginning of a new impetus along the line of practical agricultural and industrial education. The exercises were prepared by members of the Experiment Station corps.

BY THE WAY

Miss Newell, '05, is enjoying a visit from her mother from Baraboo, Wisconsin.

There will be no non-commissioned officers' school to-day. By order of the captain.

Miss Alice Parker, '04, who has been absent for a week on account of illness resumed her work this week.

B. B. Gislason Law, '00, who now is enjoying a lucrative practice at Minnesota, Minn., was seen on the campus yesterday morning.

The next regular meeting of the U. L. A. will be held Sunday afternoon at 3:30. Joseph W. Beach will talk on "The Philosophy of Tennyson."

Paul C. Cooper, Law, '01, practicing at Truman is around the U this week. Mr. Cooper reports very favorable chances and exceptionally rushing business in his profession where he is located.

Miss Celia Chase entertained Mmes. Zeleny and Leavenworth's women's league group at her home in South Minneapolis on Monday. A very pleasant afternoon was spent. On Saturday Mrs. Eddy's group visited the agricultural school and report a delightful time.

Professor Hall is in receipt of a circular issued by the U. S. Geological survey which may be of interest to the mining and civil engineers. Beginning April 21, a two day's examination will be held in all the large cities to fill the positions of assistant topographer in the U. S. Geological Survey and positions in other bureaus of the government doing kindred work. The subjects of mathematics surveying, contour construction, educational training and experience. Appointments carry salaries, ranging from $720 to $1200 per year, with field expenses paid. The demand for assistant topographers is large. Persons who desire to compete should at once apply to the U. S. Civil Service Commission, Washington, D.C. There is also offered temporary employment for the early spring for persons having had experience in field surveying; this employment will last till late in the fall; pay for this work ranges from $50 to $75 per month with field expenses paid. Applicants should at once apply to the Director of the U. S. Geological Survey, Washington, D. C.

Glee and Mandolin Club Trip

The Glee and Mandolin Clubs made their debut in Stillwater, on Friday night at 8:15 p.m. This was their first away from home appearance this year and was a decided success financially and musically. The program presented was a good one, consisting of five numbers by each of the clubs, a violin solo by Mr. Cragg Walston and a stunt by Messrs. Hugo and Hawkins of the Glee Club.

The Stillwater people showed their appreciation by calling for several encores after each selection.

Mr. Walston's solo was of unusual merit and received great applause from the audience.

What amused the audience more than anything else was probably the stunt, "They're Waiting For Us," followed by "I'm Tired," by Mrs. Hugo and Hawkins. Hawkins spoke for himself as a funny man and with Hugo as a running mate it makes a combination hard to beat.

The boys left at 6:15 on one of Lowry's special cars and arrived in Stillwater at 7:30. The return was made in the same car early Saturday morning in time for the great circus. The trip on the car was one continuous concert from the time of leaving Friday night until they landed at 14th Ave. SE., on Saturday morning.

The boys had a splendid time and don't see any reason why people should hate to go to Stillwater unless it be the fact that the city is very hilly and navigation rather difficult at this time of the year.

DOUBLE BARRELED HIT

was of a very high class in every respect especially when one considers the fact that all three men are one-legged.
After the circus a concert designed to furnish strange and weird, by turn, then comical and hilarious, soul-stirring harmonies delighted an eager audience.
The first number, "The Larynx Trebello" which was not so forbidding as its name would indicate created a decided sensation. When the next number the "Digital Digitations," came off the audience began to disintegrate. Upon the rendition of the "Lamentations of Kookli-Koo-Whalipolop-the Hulli-bal-lo Strangler," they began to fall apart in chunks and at the performance of the last number, "Song and Pedal Extremities" by the Dark-eyed Lowanda," the janitor came around and swept them up with a broom.

Yes, the circus was a success. We hope that it is the first of a long list of good performances of this kind. Let the University circus come to be an annual affair and for a solid, downright fun producer it will be hard to beat.

Notes on the Circus

A little patch of hair on the crown of "Doc" Luby's head and a goatee with a manipulations of the curling tongs, and you have Dr. Cooke's twin brother.

Put Registrar Johnson into knee breeches, ring master's boots, a swallow tail coat and a Cowboy hat and the choleric Registrar may be approached without fear by the most timid freshman.

It is said that Healey, the gem of the Laws, will have to take an extended course from the burlesquers at the Dewey before he can pass for a successful clown.

It is marvelous how short the gap is between the dignified man of letters and the dashy showman. Who would have thought that a few masterful strokes in make up could have substituted for the scholarly austerity of the University professor the professional air of the circus director.

Is it possible that Jensen can ever make a bigger success of engineering than of calling for "ma" at a circus?

Johnny Flynn fully showed himself a policeman not only by nationality but also by training.

The Shaks got the cup on the strength of the gracefulness of their costumes.
The Shak Zulu warriors all wore decolette gowns.

The man who regrets the money that he invested in the U circus ought to have his name cancelled from the registrar's records.

Mr. David F. Swensen of the department of psychology has been obliged as the result of overwork to give up his classes for the remainder of the year.
He is going up to the northern part of the state to recuperate and hopes to be able to resume his work next fall.
His classes will be divided between
Dr. Wilde and Mr. Johnstone.
