

"Pile pledges high," Herschel Epstein, University college senior, tells Millie Locke, SLA senior. He is showing her how he hopes pledges will offset needs on the campaign scale in the campus United Jewish Appeal. The two are chairmen of the fund drive being held by Hillel foundation through Friday. More than 70 Hillel members are working on the campaign, part of a nation-wide drive for money to help Jewish people in Israel, North Africa and the Iron Curtain countries.

Polling Locations Set For Campus Elections

Campus election polls will be open on Main and St. Paul campuses from 9 a.m. till 4:30 p.m. Friday.

Polling stations will be outside the following buildings:
Main campus: Union, Murphy, Physics, Pharmacy, Folwell, Mechanical Engineering, Library, Burton, Nicholson or Intercampus streetcar stop, Armory, Vincent, Chemistry, corner Church and Washington, corner Union and Washington.

St. Paul campus: Administration and Union.

ALL STUDENTS who present their paid spring quarter fee statements are eligible to vote on those parts of the ballot which concerns their class and college. Election judges will then stamp "Election" on the fee statements and valid parts of the ballot.

The following rules govern individual candidate's campaigns:

- Elections committee or student activities bureau must approve campaign publicity stunts before these devices are used.
- Party signs on University outside bulletin boards shall not exceed 14 by 28 inches. One sign per party will be allowed on each board.
- Individual candidate's posters may not exceed seven by 11 inches. Limit is one poster per bulletin board per candidate.
- No posters may be put on trees or telephone poles in compliance with the city ordinance.
- The use of a public address system must be approved by the student activities bureau. Public address systems may be used only between classes.

Downs Calls Photos 'New Object' in Art

The photographs of Allen Downs, assistant professor of art, will be on exhibit through May 22 in the fourth floor University galleries.

Subject matter of the pictures varies from slum districts to Niagara Falls and nudes.

DOWNS, who came to the University in 1948, called his work "the fusion" of documentation and abstraction. "A photograph is a new object, in spite of its authentic appearance as a document of past experience," he said.

Downs took most of the exhibition pictures with a 4x5 single lens reflex camera. Among his subjects are street scenes in Minneapolis, St. Paul and Duluth and Minneapolis grain elevators.

Politicos Debate Party Makeup

A debate last night between two campus political party chairmen led into an argument over what many consider the basic issue in campus politics — Greeks versus non-Greeks.

Arvid Sather, chairman of the Gopher Progressive party, claimed his Greek-controlled party is trying to get away from such a split. Anti-Greek prejudice has plagued student government for years, he said before a group of Resident-Commuter partisans at Pioneer hall.

But RCP chairman Barry Schuler attacked Sather's position that GP intended to represent all student groups on campus. "For instance, dormitory residents have special problems with which Greeks cannot possibly be familiar," he said. "Consequently no action has been taken on these problems because student government has been controlled by Greeks for the past 15 years."

Sather then questioned whether RCP candidates actually represented the groups the party claimed it did. "RCP had only 20 members at their party caucus," he said, "and it couldn't get enough candidates to run for all 32 positions open in student government this spring."

Interest in student government is much greater in the GP party, said Sather. "We screened 120 persons who filed before we picked our slate," he said.

Schuler charged the GP had defeated its own expressed purpose to push a positive program in all-University congress by endorsing the principle of college boards appointing 12 congress members. "With only 16 elected positions left to be split up between RCP, GP and possibly Tech, how can a party get the necessary majority to pass the program outlined in its party platform?" Schuler asked.

Student Ecologists Trim Elm Tree With Sacks

By Gene Felton
A tall American elm tree between the Botany building and the Health Service seemingly has sprouted paper sacks for spring.

But the sacks, 32 of them, actually aren't competing with the new buds. They were hung on the tree by a class in experimental ecology, composed of three students, which is studying pollination. The sacks will keep pollen from other trees off the flowers being studied.

ACCORDING TO Lloyd S. Hulbert, botany instructor, the purposes of the project are:

- To find whether the elm flower is self-pollinated or must be cross-pollinated.
- To learn if the stigma of the flower is receptive to pollen at the same time the anther is producing pollen. (The stigma is that part of the female organ of the flower which catches the pollen. The anther is the male part of the flower. The pollen ultimately fertilizes the ovaries which develop into seeds.)
- To discover some of the difficulties connected with such a study.

Few studies of this kind have been conducted, Hulbert said. "There are lots and lots of plans where nothing is known and we're trying to get the students to go out and find out more," he explained. He also pointed out a student might have to know about pollination methods sometime and this project will give him the background.

A similar study was conducted in 1947. At that time there was "no self-pollination and little cross-pollination," Hulbert said. "But perhaps the conditions weren't favorable."

HE POINTED out that both paper sacks and canvas bags are used to cover the flowers. Canvas bags are best, he said, because they are more durable and keep temperature and moisture inside about the same as outdoors.

When pollen starts spreading, the class will remove some of the sacks and put others on. Members also will introduce pollen from other trees.

Transit Officials Say No Special Fare Now

By Jerry Uhrhammer
Twin City Rapid Transit company officials yesterday said there is no chance for a special transit fare plan for St. Paul commuting students, at least in the near future.

They were commenting on Resident-commuter party vice-chairman Jack Davies' plan to have St. Paul students pay only one fare. Davies says the plan would necessitate a change in "zoning."

HOWEVER, Fred Ossanna, Jr., director of research and head of public relations for the company, said yesterday under present laws fares can be computed in only one way as prescribed by the Minnesota Railroad and Warehouse commission.

A law which came up in the legislature recently would have altered this, he said. "The law which Governor Anderson vetoed over the practically unanimous affirmative vote of the legislature would have made it possible for the company to consider a mileage rated fare at this time," he said.

"This veto, however, doesn't mean the company believes that a mileage rated fare is out of the question in the future. In fact, there are research projects underway dealing with the subject at the company at this time which have been going on for 12 months," Ossanna added.

Davies last week saw Ossanna about the plan and reported that the conference was "very encouraging." Davies said Ossanna liked the idea but "he didn't say he would do it, though."

Davies said Ossanna, Jr., promised to arrange an appointment for Davies with Fred Ossanna, Sr., president of the company, sometime this week.

E. M. Larrick, general manager and vice-president of the company, said yesterday the company doesn't have any "plans at the present to change streetcar fares for students." Last week he told Gopher Progressive party chairman Arvid Sather that the plan was "impossible under present legal regulations."

Blood Drive Over 700 Pint Quota

The campus blood drive conducted last week by the Corps of Sponsors, was a huge success, Red Cross officials said yesterday.

Students donated 771 pints of blood, 71 more than the quota set by the Corps of Sponsors.

Trophies will be awarded this week to the Greeks and dormitories which recruited the most donor pledges.

SACKS, LIKE MONEY, don't grow on trees but it looks as if this American elm next to the Health Service is trying its best to prove otherwise. Actually, the sacks were hung on the tree by a class in experimental ecology which is studying pollination. Lloyd C. Hulbert, botany instructor, inspects the sacks which are used to keep pollen from other trees off the elm flowers under study.

Firemen, Newest Rigs, Come to Fire School

More than 200 firemen and the newest fire rigs were on St. Paul campus yesterday—the only thing missing was a fire. Those same firemen are there today too, and will be on campus through Friday.

The firemen came from throughout the state to attend the Minnesota state fire school. They will see demonstrations of the latest developments in firefighting equipment and hear discussions on fire prevention in both rural and urban areas.

The men who are attending the course belong to various kinds of organized fire departments including paid, volunteer, industrial and military units.

General sessions will be held in Coffey hall. Heavy fire-fighting equipment, loaned by Twin Cities area fire departments and other agencies cooperating in conducting the school, are being demonstrated at the near-by state fair grounds.

Arrangements co-chairman for the school are J. O. Christianson, director of University short courses, and Leonard Lund, deputy commissioner of the state fire marshal department.

WIGWAMS publicizing the Kitchi Geshig celebration, which will be held on St. Paul campus this week-end, greeted students this morning in front of the Unions on both Main and St. Paul campuses.

Organizations on St. Paul campus are selling Kitchi Geshig buttons for 25 cents each. Marilyn Schmidt, home economics senior, chairman of the Kitchi Geshig celebration, said yesterday the group selling the most buttons will be awarded a trophy.

DONALD BUTLER, forestry senior, recently was awarded one of four $500 scholarships given outstanding forestry students by the National Lumber Manufacturers' association.

Butler, who is specializing in building products and lumber merchandising, last year won a $100 scholarship awarded by the Minneapolis-St. Paul Hoo Hoo club made up of lumbermen from the Twin Cities area.

TOASTMISTRESS club on St. Paul campus will meet at noon each Monday in 7 Union for the remainder of spring quarter. All coeds may attend the club's meetings.

COMMITTEE CHAIRMEN were recently named for the "Casting Capers" talent show which will be held at 8 p.m. Friday in Coffey hall auditorium as part of the Kitchi Geshig celebration.

REPRESENTATIVES of the Minnesota state employment service will be in St. Paul tomorrow to register June graduates seeking employment. Interested students may register in 103 Agricultural Engineering from 1 to 5 p.m.

IRC Holds Spring Leadership Meet

The Inter-Residence Council held its spring leadership program at Camp St. Croix Saturday and Sunday.

About 60 delegates from member groups attended. They discussed inter-dorm activities, dorm and campus activities, publicity, stimulation of interest and activities in the dorm. Counselors from the dormitories and SAB officers took part in the panels.

DAVID KANATZ, student personnel workers, and Virgil R. Walker, teaching assistant in education, were principal speakers for the conference.

The council planned an all-dormitory picnic, snake dance and street dance for May 30. It also decided to send dormitory officers to a Big Ten dormitory conference at Michigan State on Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

IRC VOTED to back a proposal for a dormitory night during Welcome week, to sponsor an inter-dormitory paper, and to draw up specific publicity plans for use by dormitory officers.

Recognition medals for outstanding service to the IRC were presented to Marie Skindrud, Powell hall; Anne Stultz, Winchell cottages; Florence Iverson, Sanford hall; Bob Bain and Dick Jaeger, Pioneer hall; Vern Weckworth and Harry Kasten, Centennial hall; Bette Spaeth and Dorothy General, Comstock hall.

Recognition certificates were given to Betty Nordvedt and Jo Cash, Powell, Loretta Emery, Martha Lou Smith and Elizabeth Baker, Winchell, Mary Crandall and Ann Unseth, Sanford; Chuck Bailey, Pioneer; Roland Matson, Centennial; Mary Ann Udovich, Joan Coulter and Bonnie Westby, Comstock.

Bette Spaeth was general chairman of the camp.

Eddy Elected Head Of College State GOP

Bob Eddy, SLA junior, was elected new president of the Minnesota Federation of College Republican clubs at its weekend spring convention in Duluth.

More than 60 students, representing 15 state colleges and the University, passed the following resolutions:

• An appeal to Minnesota congressmen Walter H. Judd, to run against Sen. Hubert Humphrey in the 1954 senatorial elections. This resolution was sponsored by the University Republican club.

• A resolution disassociating the Minnesota federation with the actions of Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R., Wis.) which were termed "obstructive to the administration." The resolution asked that the administration take collective steps to silence the senator from Wisconsin.

• Unsuccessful presidential aspirant Sen. Robert Taft (R., Ohio) was commended for his cooperation with the Eisenhower administration.

• Federation backing was given URC member Jack Blair, business senior, for an executive board position at the Young Republican league convention in Minneapolis May 22 through 24.

AFROTC Cadets Tour Ohio Base After Flight

By Ron Johnson

A bad storm and 634 air miles added up to a queeny reception in Columbus, Ohio, Friday for 25 University AFROTC cadets.

The cadets, led by Maj. Norman Widen, assistant professor of air science and tactics who piloted the plane, left Friday from Wold-Chamberlain airport in a C-47 for a tour of Lockbourne air force base, Columbus, Ohio.

WHEN THEY left early in the morning they had no idea what was in store for them.

"The weather was so bad out of Minnesota the plane was tossed about continually," said Major Widen. "Several times the plane dropped more than 100 feet. A few of the cadets got green about the gills and had to use 'burp bags'—used in cases of air sickness."

WHEN THE PLANE landed shortly after 2 p.m. the boys were driven to the base. All the cadets were feeling well enough by them to tour the weather station on the base. After the tour the cadets were assigned to rooms in the bachelor officer quarters.

Hostesses for a dance, which was to be given in the cadets' honor, arrived at 8:30 p.m. The girls were models imported from Columbus for the occasion.

VAUGHN GREEN, SLA junior, said that if the girls' gowns were cut any lower, they "would have been barefoot."

Dick Davies, SLA sophomore who was the navigator for the trip, said "All the girls were so nice I don't know who to ask first." One Marilyn Monroe-type model was given so much attention a line of eager cadets formed after each dance. They all wanted to be next.

By the end of the dance the cadets felt they had done just as well as the University engineers at their dance held in the Union.

Gophers to Face Carleton Today

By Glenn Redmann

After a weekend layoff in Iowa due to bad weather, the Minnesota baseball team swings into action at 3:30 p.m. today against Mel Taube's Carleton nine at Delta field.

Coach Dick Siebert plans to toss his three regular hurlers—Paul Giel, Don Streeter and Bob Johnson at the Northfield squad. Each will toil three innings, which Siebert hopes is enough to get them into shape for Michigan and Michigan State this weekend.

If things work out, Streeter should be on the mound Friday in a single game at Ann Arbor. He'll be out to stop the Wolverines' three-game winning streak, built up the past weekend against Ohio State and Illinois.

John Kobs' Spartans, sporting an 0-3 record in conference play, will face Giel and Johnson as they attempt to end their losing streak in the Saturday twin-bill. Giel leads the Minnesota pitchers with a record of three wins and one defeat in non-conference action.

The remainder of Gopher lineup against the Carls will be the same as Siebert had planned for the ill-fated Iowa series. That will be Ken Yackel, left field; John Wallfred, center field; Gene Elder, second base; Tom Sullivan, third base; Rog Anderson, first base; Max Schmitt, right field; Gene Steiger, catcher; Jerry Cloutier, shortstop.

The team batting average of .238 explains why Siebert put the Gophers through extended hitting drills yesterday. Each regular spent several minutes in the batting cage under Dick's watchful eye.

A neat fielding mark of .964 bears out Siebert's contention that his squad ranks with the best in the Big Ten, defensively. Among the starters who have fielded their positions flawlessly are Yackel, Wallfred, Steiger and Anderson. Minnesota's overall record of only 14 errors compares favorably with its combined opponents' total of 40.

In their first 11 games, the Gophers have shown speed, with 14 stolen bases, three each by Sullivan and Steiger. The latter's strong arm on the other hand has limited the opponents to only three thefts. In the RBI department, Sullivan leads with 11.

Brain Says

Play Overhand Just Like Serve

By Phil Brain, University Tennis Coach
(Last in a Series)

THE OVERHEAD OR SLASH

The overhead is played exactly as the serve, with one exception. Instead of your having tossed the ball up in the air to hit it, your opponent has lofted it in an attempt to get the ball behind you. But, by FOOTWORK, you can get under the ball in such a manner that the ball is dropping to a point where you might have tossed it up yourself.

RESUME of the game:

- 1)—If you have mastered the strokes—serve, forehand, backhand and volley—you will be able to enjoy the game to the fullest.
- 2)—If not, don't be discouraged because you can nevertheless enjoy a good time and get plenty of exercise.
- 3)—YOU WILL always find someone you can beat or someone who can beat you.
- 4)—There are boundaries of the court, scoring and rules which should be followed. These can be found in any tennis book or annual, regardless of the date. The rules of tennis have never changed.
- 5)—This is the only game which I know in which Love means Nothing.

The Overhead

McNamara's 2 TD's Spark U Grid Drill

The Gopher gridders yesterday went through their first hard scrimmage of the spring practice session and when the final whistle blew, coach Wes Fesler said he was well pleased with several phases of the team's play.

With all three platoons working on both offense and defense, tackling as well as running took its place in the spotlight. Ron Hanson and Harry Coates, a pair of guards, looked especially good in racking up plays through the middle.

Rugged Bob McNamara, a proven performer on defense, showed he'll have to be reckoned with on the offense, too. The speedy Hastings sophomore scored the only two touchdowns of the scrimmage, on respective jaunts of 12 and 40 yards.

The new right halfback's first touchdown came on a handoff from quarterback Dave Sauer, while a buck lateral play accounted for the other.

Tickets for the Jack Kramer-Frank Sedgman professional tennis match tomorrow night at the Minneapolis auditorium are now on sale at the Union information booth.

Student prices for the 8 p.m. attraction range from $1 to $4, including $1.30 and $2.65 seats. The $4 tickets sell for $4.80 downtown and at the Auditorium box office. Pancho Segura and Ken McGregor will also perform during the singles and doubles demonstration.

Illini 'Clads Show Speed In Relays

Powerful Illinois gave eight other Big Ten schools an indication of things to come with an overwhelming domination in the forty-fourth annual Drake relays Saturday.

Competition in the relays was furnished by many of the best colleges and universities in the country, including all Western conference teams except Michigan.

Although only one record was set on the rain-soaked field, the Illini posted victories in the 120-yard high hurdles, 100-yard dash, 480-yard shuttle high hurdle relay, 440-yard relay, two-mile relay and the two-mile run.

Jerry Helgeson and Harry Nash were placers for the Gopher cindermen, Helgeson hurled the discus 145 feet, 11 inches, for a second place behind Darrow Hooper of Texas A & M while Nash sped the century in the creditable time of :09.9 on a slow track, good for third place.
