

Release on receipt

UMD NEWS SERVICE
RA 4-8801 Ext 210
June 11, 1962

DULUTH--Three UMD faculty members have had articles published recently in professional journals covering chemistry, business and geography.

Dr. John A. Dettmann, professor of business and economics, contributed an article entitled: "Try Multiple Practice Sets" to the May issue of the Business Education Forum.

Dr. James C. Nichol, associate professor of chemistry, provided a paper on "Intermittent Current Effects in Free Electrophoresis" for the May issue of the Journal of Physical Chemistry.

Dr. Leverett Hoag, associate professor of geography, had an article on "Location Determinants for Cash-Grain Farming in the Corn Belt" in the May issue of The Professional Geographer.