III. ASSEMBLY STEERING COMMITTEE

ANNUAL REPORT, 1984-1985

The Assembly Steering Committee's membership consists of five students and seven faculty, elected by their respective constituencies, plus the vice chairperson of the Twin Cities Campus Assembly, elected by the Assembly. In 1984-85 the members were Cathleen Birk, Shirley Clark, Beth Emanuelson, Phyllis Freier, Douglas Melby (student chair), Jack Merwin (chair), Paul Murphy, Irwin Rubenstein, Paul Schulte, David Shope, Frank Sorauf, Deon Stuthman, and Wesley B. Sundquist. These 13 comprised the Twin Cities membership of the Senate Consultative Committee.

The Committee did not need to convene separately from the Senate Consultative Committee (SCC) but, with the indulgence of the larger committee, conducted its business within SCC meetings. The Steering Committee carried out the following responsibilities for appointments and nominations:

- Appointed the special nominating committee to identify for the Assembly a double slate of candidates for the Assembly Committee on Committees;
- Nominated the faculty and student members of the Assembly Committee on Intercollegiate Athletics;
- Appointed faculty and students to the Recreational Sports Board of Governors.

The chair convened quarterly the chairpersons of ten Assembly committees to facilitate, through direct reporting and discussions, the work of the Assembly. Two of the meetings were held jointly with Senate committee chairpersons.

The Committee consulted with the Business and Rules and the Student Affairs Committees and with Vice President Frank Wilderson, Associate Vice President Donald Zander, and Mr. Robert Barnett, all of the Office of Student Affairs, concerning the policy on advertising, promotions, and sponsorships approved by the Assembly in Spring, 1984. After extensive deliberation the Committee in April moved that the Assembly rescind its earlier approval, which it did.

The Committee was briefed last August by Associate Vice President Betty W. Robinett on the Twin Cities Campus self-study which will precede the Spring 1986 site visit of the North Central Association's accreditation team, and has since heard periodic reports from Professor Irwin Rubenstein, chair of the Self-Study Committee, on their information-gathering work.

IV. STUDENT AFFAIRS COMMITTEE

ANNUAL REPORT, 1984-85

ACSA has concerned itself with two activities during the past year. In the Spring of 1984, the Assembly passed a policy on Advertisements, Promotions, and Sponsorships, which had been proposed by ACSA. This policy called for a review committee to monitor activities in that area. Because the faculty members who were supposed to serve on this committee were never appointed, ACSA was asked by the administration to review certain problems which arose concerning the sponsorship of certain major events on campus. This is an extraordinary role for ACSA and should not be expected to continue.

Secondly, ACSA began a full study of the problems which arise when student leaders, or students who hold jobs usually reserved for students, are either not full-time or not students at all. We have asked for a computer survey and expect to make recommendations in the near future.

V. TRANSPORTATION & PARKING COMMITTEE

ANNUAL REPORT, 1984-85

Our primary activity this year was to review the draft report of the Planning Advisory Committee which was appointed by Vice President David Lilly to conduct a long-time parking study.

The principal thrust of the report (not yet in its final form) is the need to move aggressively to expand the total amount of parking space available to contract holders, daily parkers, and visitors.

Our committee has submitted a variety of recommendations to amend and clarify the wording of the report, but we have no fundamental disagreements with it. Copies of our recommendations can be obtained from the office of the Clerk of the Assembly. Copies of the report can be obtained from the office of Vice President David Lilly.

VI. INTERNATIONAL STUDENTS COMMITTEE

ANNUAL REPORT, 1984-85

The International Students Committee devoted its attention to two issues over a series of six meetings throughout the year.

One of those issues concerned a proposed change in University policy regarding the payment of fees and living expenses by students from countries experiencing substantial currency exchange problems. The proposal was submitted to the committee by the International Student Adviser's Office. (A copy of the proposal appears below.) The committee discussed the proposal at length, weighing the implications for affected students and for the University. It became clear to the members of the committee that, however unfortunate the possible implications of an advance payment policy in preventing some international students from attending the University, the policy seemed at this time clearly to be justified and beneficial both to the University and to many prospective international students. As a result, the committee voted to endorse the proposal, but with three amendments:

1) The statement of policy premises should apply uniformly to all affected students who have lived in the United States for fewer than 12 months, rather than applying differently to those currently outside and those currently inside the United States. The uniform policy should be that stated in the (amended) first paragraph in the policy premises section.

2) The statement of policy premises should contain a stipulation that advance deposit be required of affected students for the health insurance and living expenses of any family member who will accompany them to reside in the United States.

3) The statement concerning determination of countries and agencies affected by the policy should contain the explicit provision that the list will be reviewed annually.

Finally, in reaction to the statement in the section on implementation that "an explanation of why and when could be included," the committee felt it important to emphasize that every effort should be taken to provide an explicit and, to the extent possible, personalized explanation. The University should do everything that it can to avoid creating the impression that it seeks to discourage applications from international students.

The committee's endorsement of the proposed policy change, as amended, was conveyed to the Vice President for Student Affairs and to the International Student Adviser's Office.

PROPOSAL

UNIVERSITY OF MINNESOTA—TWIN CITIES

PROCEDURES FOR IMPLEMENTATION OF AN ADVANCE DEPOSIT POLICY (graduate, undergraduate and adult special admission for international students)

PREMISE: That an advance deposit against tuition, fees, health insurance, and living expenses (equal to estimated expenses for a non-resident for 12 months) will be required prior to release of visa documents (I-20, IAP-66) to international applicants from specific countries and/or who are sponsored by specific scholarship agencies (applies to applicants currently outside the U.S.).

That an advance deposit against tuition, fees, and health insurance expenses (equal to estimated expenses for a non-resident for 9 months) will be required prior to release of visa documents (I-20, IAP-66) to international applicants from specific countries and/or who are sponsored by specific scholarship agencies (applies to applicants currently inside the U.S.).

DETERMINATION OF COUNTRIES/AGENCIES AFFECTED: After consultation with the Office of Student Financial Aid, Student Accounts Receivable, University Business Office Accounts Receivable, the National Association of Foreign Student Advisers (NAFSA), and other major U.S. educational institutions, The International Student Adviser's Office will compile information on ability/inability to pay and make recommendations to the Twin Cities Campus Assembly Committee on International Students.

The committee will determine which countries or agencies will be affected by the advance deposit policy. Appropriate University administrative officers will approve or modify the list and direct involved University departments to implement.

NOTIFICATION TO APPLICANTS: At the point of initial inquiry and/or when an application form is sent, the Office of Admissions (for undergraduates and adult specials) or the Graduate School or Graduate departments mailing application materials will enclose a letter explaining the advance deposit policy. The explanation letter will be individualized and will only be sent to prospective international students from affected countries or agencies.

APPLICATION PROCESSING: In keeping with the University's policy of not tying admission decisions to ability to pay, applications affected by the advance deposit policy will be reviewed and processed in the normal manner. An offer of admission (or letter of rejection) will be sent. If admission is offered, the I-20 or IAP-66 will be issued as usual, but will carry special notations to the U.S. Embassy or Consulate.

REMARKS: THIS DOCUMENT IS NOT VALID UNLESS ACCOMPANIED BY AN ORIGINAL RECEIPT OF FUNDS FROM THE UNIVERSITY OF MINNESOTA BUSINESS OFFICE. THE RECEIPT MUST BEAR THE INDIVIDUAL'S NAME, THE DOLLAR AMOUNT ON DEPOSIT WITH THE UNIVERSITY OF MINNESOTA, AND THE PERIOD OF TIME COVERED BY THE DEPOSIT. THE RECEIPT WILL BE PRINTED ON UNIVERSITY OF MINNESOTA STATIONERY AND WILL BEAR AN ORIGINAL SIGNATURE.

REQUESTS FOR EXEMPTION TO THE POLICY: Requests for exemption to the advance deposit policy will be reviewed by the International Student Adviser's Office. If a determination can be made that the funds are guaranteed in another manner, ISAO will request the Admissions Office or the Graduate School to issue the I-20 or IAP-66 without the REMARKS shown above. A statement will be added to the form showing what guarantee was made and requesting the U.S. Visa Division officer to verify the funding source. (Above statement applies to applicants direct from overseas.) In cases where the applicant is a transfer student from a U.S. educational institution, the statement will show what guarantee was made and will request the Designated School Officer at the previous institution to verify that educational expenses have been met at that institution and to review future funding methods with the student before processing the transfer with the U.S. Immigration Service.

IMPLEMENTATION:

ISAO will begin process for determination of countries/agencies affected.

Admissions Office, Graduate School and others printing prospective student materials or recruiting materials should include a statement that. . . "The University of Minnesota reserves the right to require an advance deposit against tuition, fees, health insurance and personal living expenses from applicants. (An explanation of why and when could be included)."

ISAO will develop or assist in development of a letter of explanation to be sent with application materials.

Admissions Office and Graduate School will contact Colleges, Departments, and Schools that correspond to prospective students and request their cooperation in developing a system to identify students they deal with from the affected countries. They will be asked to include the letter of explanation in their materials as well as making certain that they refer to the policy in their correspondence with applicants.

ISAO, Admissions, and the Graduate School will amend the I-20 and IAP-66 as stated when sending offers of admission to applicants affected by the policy.

ISAO, Admissions, and the Graduate School, and the University Business Office-Accounts Receivable will develop an internal system for receipt, deposit, student account credit, notification to applicant that funds have been received, and a policy and system for refunds (excess deposit or non-enrollment of the applicant).

ISAO, Admissions, and the Graduate School will develop procedures to deal with requests for exemption from the advance deposit policy.

—END OF PROCEDURES—

The second issue to which the committee directed its attention was recommendation C5 of the Report of the President's Task Force on the International Character of the University (April 16, 1984) that the University "should outline a plan that will address the unique needs of international students." The committee read and discussed materials about and results from surveys of international students designed to assess their most strongly felt needs, listened to a presentation by the author of a Ph.D. dissertation recently completed at the University on the topic of international student needs, and solicited responses to a small set of general, open-ended questions about the special needs of international students from a large number of international student organizations on campus. The committee became convinced that a wealth of information is currently available about the felt needs of international students, and that, as a result, it would be an unwise use of University resources to undertake a large-scale survey of international students to assess their needs. Better, in the judgment of the committee, for the University to begin to move in two directions:

1) the careful analysis of the wealth of information that is currently available about international student needs;

2) the adoption of an experimental program of intensive orientation to the University community and American society for a set of newly arriving international students. The felt needs of those students involved in the intensive orientation program could be compared over a period of time of as long as several years with those of a group of international students not involved in such an experimental program.

The committee will be pursuing this issue further next year with an eye toward making formal recommendations for University action.

VII. UNIVERSITY HEALTH SERVICES COMMITTEE

ANNUAL REPORT, 1984-85

The full committee met 9 times during the academic year. Attention was focused on budget and funding issues. The committee submitted 3 fee options to the Fees Committee, detailing the respective deficits associated with each budget plan. The fee of $44.85 was recommended by the Fees Committee. Health Service members lobbied the MSA Forum and that body approved a fee of $45.85 per quarter for 1985-86. This amount leaves the Health Service with a projected deficit of $372,000 for 1985-86.

Since a two-year contract was entered into with Higham-Whitridge last year, it was not necessary to select an insurance company this year for University mandated hospital insurance. The cost of insurance coverage continues to be a major concern.

Other major topics discussed during monthly meetings included the exemption policy for those with equivalent coverage elsewhere and reimbursement for the St. Paul Health Services Building. The equivalent of $300,000 in student services money was invested in the St. Paul Health Services Building (which is no longer used as a health service building), and this amount should be returned to the students. This amount has not yet been returned to students. An arrangement for reduced utility payments is pending as the mechanism to return the funds to the Health Service.

Six members traveled at their own expense to Duluth, Minnesota, for the meeting of the North Central College Health Association, October 11-12, 1984. Health and social concerns workshops provided a good opportunity to share information with other college health services in the region.

The committee continued its interest in the active quality assurance program at Boynton Health Service and the ongoing evaluation of service levels and satisfaction.

During spring quarter, the possibility of tuition based funding for the Health Service was discussed. Under one form of this proposal, students would pay $2.57 per credit for the Health Service. This would not change next year's overall funding level.

X. ADJOURNMENT

ABSTRACT

The Twin Cities Campus Assembly was called to order by Vice Chair Shirley Clark, professor of education, at 3:15 p.m. in 25 Law Center. Memberships on 1985-86 committees were approved.

Calendar. Mary Young, professor of physical education and chair of the Calendar Committee, presented the 1987-88 calendar and called attention to the late start that had been suggested at the last Assembly meeting to provide adequate time for the training of teaching assistants. It was approved without debate.

Parking. Edward Coen, professor of economics and chair of the Transportation and Parking Committee, was asked about alleviating the shortage of parking space on the west bank campus. He said he understood a new ramp was being contemplated.

The rest of the annual reports were accepted without comment, and the meeting was adjourned at 3:30 p.m.
