VOL. VIII

THE UNIVERSITY OF MINNESOTA, FRIDAY, APRIL 12, 1907.

NO. 121

GERMAN LECTURER WILL APPEAR IN CHAPEL TONIGHT

Dr. Hoetzsch, Famous Scholar and Publicist, to Speak on the "German Constitution."

Dr. Otto Hoetzsch, who will lecture tonight on the "German Government," arrived this morning. He came direct from the Madison, where he delivered a lecture at the University of Wisconsin. He was met at the depot this morning by a committee consisting of Dr. Schaper and Mr. Holtzman.

Elaborate entertainment has been planned for the lecturer, who will be shown the points of interest in Minneapolis and St. Paul during his stay here.

Student tickets are being sold at reduced prices, the admission price for one lecture entitling the student to attend the Saturday evening lecture as well, which will be delivered in German.

Dr. Hoetzsch is a famous lecturer, scholar and publicist of Germany, and his presence here has been secured only after much work on the part of those interested.

MINN. DEBATERS FAMOUS.

Lyceum Bureau Offers Flattering Positions to Men.

Since the recent Minnesota-Illinois debate before the state legislature Professor McDermott has received a request from a lyceum employment bureau to furnish two good debaters to debate one side of a socialist question in the cities of western Canada and the Pacific coast of the United States.

The engagement would last for two or three months, or perhaps a year, and a good salary, not less than $100 per month and all expenses paid.

MRS. JENKS TO SPEAK.

Mrs. A. E. Jenks will speak at the regular Friday meeting of the Y. W. C. A. at 1:15 in Alice Shevlin Hall. Special services.

'09 MEN WANT BANQUETS

Meeting Called Today for Following Out Custom of Seniors.

Many prominent sophomores have announced themselves as in favor of introducing the senior custom of class banquets into the sophomore class. The proposition has met with general favor wherever broached.

The purpose of the senior spreads is that of making the men better acquainted, and the second-year men argue that their policy, if adhered to, will be all the more successful in accomplishing this purpose.

This is the matter which will be brought up at the class meeting in Dr. Burton's room to-day at chapel time.

CRITIC COMPLIMENTS WORK OF 1907 MAGAZINE BOARD

J. T. Watts States That in Spite of Their Difficulties, the Editors' Work Spells "Success."

A pretty bunch of blossoms was what James Thompson Watts, well-known as a Minnesota Magazine critic, handed to the board of editors, when asked to review the April number. He said:

"Dante's neighbors upon meeting him would follow him with their gaze until he disappeared in the distance, and then with a look of wonder, would make this remark, 'That man has seen hell.' Such has almost become the case with the editor of the Minnesota Magazine, handicapped, as he says, by the 'demon, commercialism,' and resting his hope, as he has, upon 'the advertiser' and the 'phantom, students' support.'

"In the April number, the Magazine board issued its farewell message, ending a year of painstaking work and worthy accomplishment. During the past year the editors have done their best to put the Magazine on a high plane, and have had good results. The verse has been the worst and most meager in quantity, but of course they can't publish what they don't get from the students. Yet (Continued on third page)

CADET FORMAL LAST NIGHT.

Decorations of the Military Ball Are Voted a "Hit."

Amidst a blaze of red, white and blue coloring and lights the military ball was opened last night. The rattle of the drums and the sound of the ushered in the event.

The decorations, which consisted mostly of flags, swords, knapsacks and other army accoutrements, carried out the idea of camp life.

Between dances the crack squad gave the final drill of the season.

Supper was served in mess tents in regular military fashion, to the large number present.

Governor Johnson and his staff added much to the dignity of the ball.

WOMAN'S MAGAZINE CONTRIBUTORS.

The Woman's Magazine will go to the printers Saturday. Four times as many copies will be printed as have been in the past on account of the large demand.

The cover design will be a beautiful creation of daffodils. The list of stories and contributors is as follows: Editorial on "Pre-Shakespearean Drama," Miss Peck; editorial on "The Dormitory Question at Minnesota," Miss Comstock; sermonette by Professor Sanford; poem entitled "Promise," Mrs. Potter; poem entitled "The Phantom Ship," Prudence Pratt.

There will also be four long stories, four short ones and two pages of jokes.

FINAL SCENE IN LIFE OF 1907 BOWLING LEAGUE

Large Number of Awards Distributed Among Various Fraternities and Members.

The interfraternity bowling schedule has been completed and prizes were awarded as follows:

The cup presented by the Northwestern School Supply Company for the team having the highest percentage was won by the Alpha Deltas. The cup given by the Arcade alleys for the team having second high percentage was won by the Sigma Nu fraternity. The bat, ball and catcher's net, also given by the corner bookstore for the highest team average, was won by the Alpha Deltas. Dekes won the pennant offered by Thoen Bros. for the highest team score. The Brunswick Balk Company's bowling ball for high individual score was won by H. Fisher. The bowling shoes for high individual average was awarded to Paul Sukey. The Ferris & Grady box of 10-cent cigars and the Winnecke & Doerr pipe, for second high individual average, were awarded to "Monte" Holmes.

The Ski-U-Mah shaving mugs, for the member holding the highest individual average in each team, were won by Brown, Alpha Delta; Holmes, Sigma Nu; Beckwith, Chi Psi; Thompson, Phi Delta; H. Jones, Kappa Sigma; Sukey, Zeta Psi; Montgomery, Alpha Tau Omega; Leonard, Beta; Malloy, Dekes; Devaney, Phi Gam. Each cup will be engraved with the winner's name and fraternity.

BASEBALL TICKETS.

Season baseball tickets are on sale at the postoffice, the accountant's office, the book stores, and will be sold in the rotunda as well.

"FROGS" TO BE PUT ON.

Literary Societies Will Use Greek Comedy as Curtain Raiser.

In addition to "Thesmophoria," which has been found rather short, the girls' literary societies will present two scenes from Aristophanes' comedy, "Frogs," as a curtain raiser. One of the striking features of this play is the frog chorus.

Trials for the three characters needed in this play will be held in Dr. Burton's room today at 4 o'clock.

They are: Bacchus, a humorous character; Xanthias, his attendant; Aeschylus, tragic in appearance.

ELECT OFFICERS.

The School of Mines Society held its annual election of officers for the ensuing year this week.

A. M. Locke was unanimously elected to succeed A. S. McCreery as president. The other officers are: Corresponding secretary, R. C. Grant; secretary and treasurer, J. Barrett; advisory board, J. Olmstead, R. Moody, and J. F. Wingate.

ACTIVE CAMPAIGN IS ON FOR JOURNALISTIC COURSE

Favored by Press Committee and Dr. Burton, Who Will Give Course, if Authorized by Faculty.

Another movement is now on foot for the institution of a class in journalism.

For several years members of the faculty on the press committee have been quietly urging that the University should give a course in journalism. The principal objections against it were that no funds were available to secure an extra instructor, and if any of the professors should undertake the course, it would crowd out other branches more necessary.

The plan was that those who contributed to the paper were to hand in their productions to the instructor giving the course, who would accept them as class work. The managing editor would hand in a copy of the Daily each morning with the names of the contributors under every article. Improvements in the language, style, news and mechanical make-up would be suggested.

Several years ago Dr. Burton gave a course in journalism for graduates. He has had twelve years of newspaper experience, dealing with "everything from police assignments to editorials," and is in entire sympathy with the movement.

When the suggestion of having such a course of journalism was presented to the council, they referred it to the faculty of the academy department. A faculty meeting will be held next Saturday and probably a request will be made at that time for a course in journalism.

FRAWLEY WANTS PINAFORITE

Elizabeth Breen Offered Place by Manager of Lyceum.

More than mere fame has come to at least one of the famous "Pinafore" cast that is to appear at the "Met" Saturday afternoon and evening. The manager of the Frawley stock company was present at the performance last Saturday night and was so taken with the acting of Elizabeth Breen that he immediately set about to secure her for his company. It is reported that he made her an excellent offer. She, however, is not contemplating going or the stage for the present, at least, and turned him down hard and cold.

Another interested spectator of last Saturday night's performance was Al Wilson, who is playing at a local theater this week. He expressed himself as much pleased with the work done and stated that the chief thing that told that it was a performance of amateurs was that the make-up of the actors was not as good as it should have been. This is considered a high compliment, coming from (Continued on fourth page.)

CLASS IN JOURNALISM.

A class in journalism has been proposed just as often and with as much result as a new piano for chapel, a gymnasium and swimming pool, an editor with whose issue none can find fault, and a thousand and one other things that are needed around this institution.

But what is good and necessary must come. It rests now with the faculty of the academic college whether the hopes and longing of many of the students, both on and off the Daily staff, will be realized. One member of the faculty has expressed a willingness to give such a course. Now the only argument brought up against this measure is the fact that too few persons could carry the work to justify the time spent by that faculty member.

Nobody will deny, nay, we even know many who would wish to state, that the Daily admits of improvement. The institution of a class in journalism would make the work handed in of a higher quality and literary merit. This being so, every reader of the Daily, including the subscribers and a large majority of the non-subscribers who so mysteriously manage to read the Daily, will be benefited by such a class.

Give us a chance, members of the faculty. Try the plan one semester, and if it doesn't work, drop it. But when this has been asked for so long, you can't afford to dismiss this lightly. Many of you favor the plan. We trust that Saturday you will authorize this course.

GO YE AND DO LIKEWISE.

That call for some of our debaters to do work of the same kind at a good salary indicates that the man who acquires a silvery tongue—and you may be sure, to paraphrase Edison, that debate is 98 per cent work and 2 per cent genius—gets pretty quick returns. Debating brings results.

SIX-YEAR MEDICS TO DINE.

Freshman six-year medics will have a banquet Saturday evening at Donaldson's tea rooms. Dr. Sigerfoos will be the toastmaster and toasts will be given by various students. A musical program will be rendered.

Thirty-five or forty members have signified their intention of attending.

Over $800 was netted by the varsity circus at Wisconsin.

It is very important that when you buy a fountain pen you get a pen that suits your hand. Over 800 pens to choose from at the Northwestern School Supply Co.

CRITIC COMPLIMENTS WORK OF 1907 MAGAZINE BOARD.

some of the verse has been excellent, and Edith Thompson, Miriam Clark and Ellen McPartlin, as well as a few others' deserve special consideration.

"Editorially, there has been a Herculean effort to attain literary perfection, and Frederic Calhoun, Ralph Dyar, and Ed. Swenson have done fine work in discussing live, up-to-date questions with force and in good form. To be sure, F. D. Calhoun's idiom smells of the midnight lamp and is arrayed in too many frills and too much white linen, but in spite of this it is strong work.

"The prose has been far in the lead, and among the students who have done excellent work are, Florence Godley, William Davis, J. Louis Endahl, and many others. The faculty has also helped, and Mrs. Potter, Dr. Folwell, and Miss Peck, have contributed very interesting articles. The whole year's work has shown careful selection of material and an effort to give the readers the best there is in the University literature.

"The April number is good, as the following list of articles and authors show when the magazine appears."

"Salvage," Alice Dyar Russell, '03; "In Prison," Catherine McPartlin; "Macgregor," Donna Marie Lycan; "Roundelay," Edith Thompson; "Eros in Overalls," Elta Lenart; "The Hermit Apparition," J. Louis Endahl; "The Materialist," Marion Nickell.

The editors guessed, that the April Magazine would be out Friday. But as usual they guessed wrong. Even the printer doesn't know this time, and the editors have given up guessing, "Monday, at the latest," is the most recent rumor.

GEMS CULLED FROM FRAWLEY'S LECTURE.

"The essential thing in stage management," said Mr. Frawley of the Lyceum theater yesterday at the open culture hour, "is to control people, to gain their respect and enthusiasm; it becomes merely a question of psychology.

"It is easier to develop women than men; they are born actresses.

"The stage is being equipped more and more from the university; education has come to be essential to the success of the actors' art. When we have the box-office separate from the stage and the stage in control of an actor of artistic temperament, then we will have a better standard of art, a better standard of actors, and a more ambitious stage."

In reply to questions from the audience, Mr. Frawley said that the stock company is declining because of its lack of good management. "But," he added, "all big actors and actresses are those who have had apprenticeship in stock companies."

HONORS FOR DEBATERS.

Minnesota is tied with Wisconsin for first honors in the Quintangular Debating League, each university
