FOOTBALL PRACTICE TO COMMENCE NEXT SATURDAY

Prospects Much Better Than Last Year Although a Light Team is Expected.

Conditions Still Bother Athletes—First Game With South Dakota Sept. 27th.

The 1913 football season at the University of Minnesota will be opened on next Saturday afternoon, when Dr. H. L. Williams, the Connie Mack of Northwestern football will lead his hopefuls out onto Northrop field for their first practice. From then on, Coach Williams and his assistants, Sig Harris and McDevitt will be working at top speed to whip the Gopher team into shape for the clash with South Dakota on September 27th.

Among those who will respond to Dr. Williams call will be Robertson, Fournier, Aldworth, Shaughnessy, Sawyer, Ostrom, Rosenthal, Tollefson, McAlmon, Mattern, Solon, Shannon, Snyder, Haskins, Fegan, Dunningan, Barron, Push, Cerveny and the Bierman brothers.

The Minnesota backfield will be one of the lightest and shiftest in years. The veterans Tollefson, McAlmon and Bierman will be hard pressed for their position by Mattern, Bierman, Jr., Haskins, Shannon and Solon of last year's freshman team, so that the loss of Captain Tobin the battering fullback of last year's team, Hayward and Erdall will not be felt.

From end to end, the line will be practically intact. Those who will be back again will be Robertson, center; Rosenthal and Ostrom, guards; Sawyer and Shaughnessy, tackles; and Captain Aldworth and Fournier, ends. In addition to these veterans, there will be some powerful reinforcements in Townley, center; Dunningan and Push, guards; Snyder and Barron, tackles and a half dozen ends from last year's scrub team.

The coaches will not be able to start the actual assembling of the Gopher machine until the early part of next week, when the results of the condition examinations will be made known. If the candidates get an even break with their examinations, Minnesota's 1913 football team will be the strongest in years.

Following is the 1913 football schedule:

- Sept. 27—South Dakota at Northrop field.
- Oct. 4—Ames at Northrop field.
- Oct. 18—Nebraska at Lincoln.
- Oct. 25—North Dakota at Northrop field.
- Nov. 1—Wisconsin at Madison.
- Nov. 15—Chicago at Northrop field.
- Nov. 22—Illinois at Champaign.

WILL MICHIGAN COME BACK?

Editors of "Big Eight" Dailies Hold Conference on Foot-Ball Question.

On Friday, September 12th, the Palmer House in Chicago was the scene of a most significant gathering of western college and university editors. The meeting was called by Maurice L. Touline, managing editor of The Michigan Daily of the University of Michigan and was for the purpose of enlisting the support of the university dailies in a movement for settlement of athletic difficulties in the western conference and its relation to Michigan. It was hoped that by a concerted effort, supported by the daily papers of each university that a compromise could be effected and Michigan readmitted to the conference.

The meeting was well attended, each university paper being represented either personally or by proxy. Minnesota was represented by Wisconsin. In his preliminary statement

STUDENT ACTIVITIES WILL BE EXPLAINED TO FRESHMEN

Meeting for Benefit of New Students Held Thursday at 12 O'clock at the Armory.

Fifteen Representative Upperclassmen will Present Various Phases of Student Work.

A convocation will be held for Freshmen and other new students in chapel Thursday noon at 12 o'clock, at which the principal student activities and interests will be presented by fifteen student speakers in two minute speeches. The purpose of this meeting is to acquaint the new comers with the opportunities for student activities of Minnesota and to define the relation of the individual to each of these interests that more or less concern the whole group. It is hoped that new students will be able to choose their pursuits the better by obtaining an early knowledge concerning their purpose from the men and women at work in these activities.

The speakers will be limited strictly to two minutes each. Last year fourteen talks were delivered in twenty eight minutes. The men and women who will address the Freshman are prominent in the university and in the work they represent.

The list of organizations and speakers follows:

All University Council, Horton Daniels; Men's Union, Donald Pomeroy; Y. M. C. A., Seiford Stelwagen; Y. W. C. A., Margaret Hutchinson; Minnesota Daily, Allen Moore; Minnesota Magazine, Ray Ziesmer; The Gopher, John Shadolt; The Minnehaha Magazine, C. W. Smith; The Masquers, Albert Shiely; University Glee Club, Allan T. Agnew; The Entertainers Club, Florence Swanson; Woman's Self-Government Association; Helen Drew; Women's Athletic Association, Gertrude Moore; Senior Freshmen Advisers (Men), Harvey Hoshour; Senior Freshmen Advisers (Women), Alice Colter.

First university convocation of the year in the Armory at 12:00 noon. All members of all departments are urged to attend.

SEPT. MINNESOTA MAGAZINE WILL BE OUT TOMORROW

All Freshmen will be Presented With Complimentary Copies of the Number.

Prof. Geo. N. Northrop will Review the September issue in Tomorrow's "Daily."

The first number of the Minnesota Magazine will appear on the campus tomorrow, with a number of new and interesting features. Prominent among these is the new cover design which is the work of Carl Teigen, '15, and the make-up is greatly improved throughout. This issue will contain 16 extra pages, and 1200 copies will be printed, as every incoming Freshman is to receive a complimentary copy.

An unusual amount of good reading matter is promised by the Table of Contents. The leading feature is a very well written psychological story, "The Day Before Tomorrow," by last year's brilliant literary editor, Mary B. Kolars, '13, now at Columbia, and doing active magazine work in New York. Stanley I. Rypins, '12, now at Harvard, contributes a clever and forceful article, "A Short Essay on Long Prayer." The main body of the prose is concluded with an excellent realistic story by Edgar Herrmann, '15, "A game at Cards," and a critical essay, "The Spirit of Humor in Elia," by Harold Rypins, '14.

Of the poetry, Dr. Richard Burton contributes a short bit, "At The Villa Palmiera," and Pearl Palmer, '16, has some more of her excellent free verse, "Pagan." Sophie Hubman, '13, concludes the poetic contributions with "A Song."

There are a half dozen very live and forceful editorials, and two delightful Informal Contributions.

MANY FRESHMEN SEEK AID AT THE Y. M. C. A. BUILDING

Employment Bureau and Information Concerning Board and Rooms Prove Very Helpful.

Henry J. Doerman Appointed General Secretary for the Coming Year.

The University Y. M. C. A. is, with the exception of the registrar's office in the library building, the busiest place on the campus. Hundreds of students, old and new, are daily consulting the employment and board and room bureaus there conducted, while in the evening those men, who seek room-mates gather and get acquainted. The games and reading rooms are also proving attractive to many new students as well as to former frequenters of the place.

Back of the more evident activities, however, still more important plans and changes are going into effect. Henry J. Doerman, who graduated from the Academic college last year, is back this year as general secretary of the association and putting his intimate knowledge of men and conditions on the campus to good use in his newly assumed duties. Dr. J. W. Powell is also busy with the work of organizing the religious factors of the university.

One of the important changes will be the University Vesper Service, held on Sunday afternoon at 4:30 in chapel, formerly conducted by the Y. M. C. A. alone, but now under both the Y. M. and the Y. W.

The Freshman Bible class is a feature to which special attention has been given. The course will be presented by interesting and able speakers, who will shape their addresses to the needs of the first year men.

The greatest innovation, however, is Doerman's new free membership plan. The membership fee formerly was one dollar, and large membership campaigns were conducted to raise money. This plan has been changed. It costs nothing to belong to the Y.

The Minnesota Daily

Official Paper of the University of Minnesota

PUBLISHED BY

THE MINNESOTA DAILY ASSOCIATION

ROOM 4, FOLWELL HALL
TEL. 7-8, SPRUCE ST.

Fellow Members of the University Community:—

With the beginning of the college year 1913-14, The Minnesota Daily at last realizes its long cherished hope that some day it might widen its field of activity and extend its usefulness thru an enlarged publication.

We take this somewhat novel, and not altogether inexpensive, means of calling to your attention the fact that, in order to maintain our paper at a standard set by our sister universities, in order to make the Minnesota Daily what it should be, namely, a truly representative college publication and a credit to the University which it represents, it behooves every one of us to rally to its support. To make a publication such as we propose to give you financially self-sustaining at the same subscription price as formerly, will require the most hearty cooperation of every person on the campus, faculty and students alike.

Now then, if you want an enlarged Daily, if you approve of our honest effort to make the Minnesota Daily a credit to our University, voice this want and show this approval by subscribing AT ONCE.

Our future course in the matter will be determined entirely by what you decide.

Yours for a better Daily,

THE MINNESOTA DAILY ASSOCIATION.

FORMER STUDENT DROWNED.

Junior Academic Drowned in White Bear Lake July 28.

Alyce E. Scheidecker, a junior academic at the University last year and prominent as a woman athlete, was drowned while swimming in White Bear Lake on July 28. Miss Scheidecker was an instructor in swimming at the University, and her death was a surprise to all who knew her.

SORORITIES GIVE 20 BIDS

Dean Sweeney Sends Out Coveted Invitations. Answers Expected Today.

Owing to the fact that today is sorority pledge day, an undue amount of excitement may doubtless be observed upon the campus. According to the desire of Pan Hellenic, no freshman girl may be asked to join a sorority, but upperclass girls who are new students have been most strenuously entertained the past week and even before. These upperclass girls will choose their sorority today. Although preceding days have been crowded full with luncheons, teas and theatre parties no rushing of any kind will be permitted on the campus today. Written bids went out last night and they will be answered this afternoon at 4:30, when the favored students are asked to appear at the sorority house of their choice. Dean Sweeney announces that 20 bids were sent. No intercourse is allowed between sorority girls and others today.

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

Today marks the beginning of a new college year and we who have been here before come back with a deep feeling of gladness, greeting old friends and classmates with a joyful handshake and looking forward to another big year at Minnesota. We are glad to be back. Along with others who have returned from paths of philosophical research or from wheeling concrete or pitching bundles, we come from our summer's labor of helping "dad" mow the front lawn, ready to take up our active duties for another year.

Among others we are glad to help greet the freshmen and welcome them to Minnesota. We are not like the crabbed old gentleman who had never been a boy. We can still remember when we were a freshman. We can remember the wonderful opportunities that opened before us with the beginning of our college career. And again we can remember how advice was offered us. Most of it is forgotten, now. We might say that all of it is forgotten except the admonition to work hard, especially during the first six or eight weeks.

It is no easy task to get started right in your college work. Freshmen come here from high schools where the personal element in the relations between faculty and student necessarily enters more easily into their work than it would in a university like ours, and which in a university is often considered missing entirely. We repeat, the freshman is facing no mean task. And so, in offering our little bit along with the other peddlers of advice, we offer this: Make a good start and work hard. It is up to you to make good. Go to it.

In the hurry and bustle coincident with the reopening of class work for the coming year one big event stands out above all others deserving the attention of the student body. That event is the All-university convocation in the Armory at noon today. To those who have attended the first convocation in former years the mere announcement will be sufficient to insure their presence. New students, however, who for various reasons neglect to inform themselves of the purpose and character of the meetings, very often neglect this opportunity of witnessing the formal opening of the university. Every freshman should understand that convocations, especially these which come during the first few weeks of the year, are arranged with a view of providing the new students with accurate information concerning the routine of college work. At today's meeting the freshmen will meet those men who are in charge of the different colleges and schools of the university. Announcements will be made, directions for the starting of class work will be made, and other information of extreme value to the student will be given. Aside from all this, convocation will give the new student his first glimpse of one of the most powerful factors of university life at Minnesota. The Minnesota spirit as perceived through the first rendering of "Minnesota" will usher him into his college career with a new feeling toward his alma mater which is to be. Today's convocation will be worth while. Do not fail to be present.

WILL MICHIGAN COME BACK?

Mr. Touline said, "Recent developments have shown that the settlement of the difficulties can be effected through the ordinary channels at Michigan or through the representatives of the Conference. Neither will compromise enough to effect a settlement—a thing that we fundamentally desire. There are some disputes between Michigan and the Conference, but both are working for the same end—the betterment of amateur college sports. Both have made mistakes and both must compromise, if we are again to unite.

But to secure these necessary concessions some appeal to different organizations is necessary—possibly somebody that is free from the prejudices that come from being on the firing line.

I have a scheme I would like to submit for your consideration. The plan consists of an organized educational campaign by the college paper of each Conference university and Michigan, asking the Regents (or the final governing body of the university) to appoint a representative from their own number to confer with representatives appointed by the other Conference Universities and Michigan, to effect a settlement of the athletic situation. This does not mean that the Conference is to be 'busted,' but that some badly needed repairs, will be done. It is advised that a petition signed by the student bodies, the faculty and the alumni of the universities, would be the most effective method of presenting the movement. If we succeed at all in securing names our appeal will be too powerful to be ignored. We are also hoping, and not without some reason, to receive effective support from the metropolitan papers."

Comments on the Passing Show by "The Campus Wags."

We passed a professor yesterday and as he was rubbing his eyes we expected to hear him ask if school was about to reopen.

From the glare emanating from Northrop field we would say that the goal posts had been painted—painted white, too! And it's such a dirty game.

In line with the fact that the academic freshmen are having senior advisers we suppose that the Engineering college will appoint senior companions to show the freshman engineers the city.

We like our new paved street; don't we?

Aren't we glad we register by mail?

Have you seen that tall guy?

We suppose that idea in letting the sand-burrs grow on the parade grounds is to prevent our brave soldiers from sitting down every time the order "rest" is given.

SEPT. MINNESOTA MAGAZINE WILL BE OUT TOMORROW

Continued from page one "Wishin'" by Mary Dale, '14, and "How Goats Learned to Butt," by Helen Dunn, '15. The exchange column for the year will be conducted by Edgar Herrmann, '15, and should prove excellent reading.

The Magazine will be reviewed in Thursday's "Daily" by Professor George N. Northrop, of the Department of English.

BOOK STORE CHANGES HANDS

The Northwestern School Supply Co. Will Succeed "Wilson" Book Store.

The Northwestern School Supply Company, whose main store is at 717-19 Hennepin Avenue, and who until last year owned the "Co-op" store on the corner of 4th Street and 14th Avenue, have bought the book and printing business of H. W. Wilson Co., corner of University and 14th Avenues. The Northwestern School Supply company will continue the retail trade of H. W. Wilson & Company, and will also move its wholesale and shipping departments to the three story brick building recently acquired.

Competition in the University book business has been keen for several years and reached its height in unprecedented discounts last year. As a result The H. W. Wilson company has discontinued its retail business and will move the Index Press to New York City.

NO ROYALTY AT MINNESOTA

Princess Ina Salmon of Tahiti Unable to Enter with This Year's Freshman Class.

Dr. Joseph Tilden, and Miss Josephine Tilden, both botanists, who spent last year in the South Sea Islands in the interests of the University, returned recently as guardians of Princess Ina Salmon of Tahiti a descendant of King Pomare of the South Sea Islands.

Miss Salmon arrived here last week, coming direct from her home via San Francisco, on the British Mail liner Moana. She is a girl of 15 and speaks nothing but French, which is the common language of the Islands. The Princess has come to America for an English education and entered the Murray school in St. Paul last week.

It was at first reported that the Tahitan Princess would enter the University of Minnesota, but her plans were changed as she is unable to speak English.

The Minnesota Agricultural College is gaining a wide reputation in states, both east and west for the quality of the hog cholera serum produced at the Farm school plant.

OVER TWO HUNDRED CADETS ATTEND FOURTH ENCAMPMENT

Rifle Practice Field Work and Other Manoeuvres Made Up The Regular Routine Work.

Several Men Awarded Marksmen's Buttons by the National Rifle-men's Association.

Approximately two hundred and twenty-five cadets broke camp yesterday morning at Fort Snelling where the military department of the University has during the past week maintained its fourth annual encampment. With the blowing of the bugle at 10:00 A. M. the tents were lowered and the ground quickly cleared of its array of tent-poles, canvas, bedding and baggage. In a short time nothing remained but the kitchen, the mess tent and the headquarters tents, and camp was at an end.

Under the direction of Commandant J. B. Woolnough the university cadets have for the past week been familiarizing themselves with field operations, which could not have been executed inside the Armory. A part of each day was set aside for rifle practice on the Fort Snelling range, 1 day was given over to a practice march, and on still another manoeuvres were executed, all of which imitated very closely the routine of a regular National Guard camp. Some excellent records were made on the firing range and as a result a large number of the cadets will be awarded marksmen's buttons by the National Rifle Association. The camp has been called "Camp T. P. A. Howe" in honor of Sergeant Howe, a graduate of Minnesota, who was killed in action in the Spanish-American war.

Camp life proved to be no sinecure to the men who expected an easy time. Reveille was played at 5:40 each morning, after which came the polishing of the grounds, mess at 6:00 and by seven o'clock the cadets were on the march to the range unless through necessity they were compelled to remain on kitchen duty or perform special work. The officers in charge of the camp have expressed their satisfaction with the results accomplished and look forward to a bigger and better year than ever in the military department.

MANY FRESHMAN SEEK AID AT THE Y. M. C. A. BUILDING

M. C. A. but each man is free to contribute as much as he feels able to give.

"We do not wish," said the new secretary yesterday, "that the one dollar fee should be a hindrance to anyone desiring to belong to the Y. M. C. A. All we ask is a chance to help every man student and let him contribute in return what he finds he can."

IMPROVEMENTS ON CAMPUS

New Pavements, Electric and Water Systems Have Been Installed.

It is interesting to note the many changes and improvements that have been made on the campus during the summer vacation. Construction work is now well under way on the new chemistry building, which will be completed by July 1st, 1914.

Creosote blocks have replaced the dirt street in front of Folwell Hall. The electric systems have been re-wired in several of the buildings, including the Library, Pillsbury Hall and the Law School building. New desks have also been provided in the Law School. New water mains have been installed at different points on the campus.

A short course of instruction for the country merchant analogous to the short course in agriculture is the latest addition to the extension division of the university. The principles of buying, selling and advertising will be taught. Another new course for this year is one in railroad rates.

and therefore a slight tenseness in the atmosphere will be most natural. The lists of pledges will be made public tomorrow.

Freshmen girls who have formerly been the objects of interest during the matriculation week have been allowed to receive no attentions but assistance in registration. During the year, however, they will be guests of honor at many functions and hundreds of little courtesies will be extended toward them. No doubt there is a line of sorority girls in the Post-office this very minute anxious to help some attractive but unsophisticated freshman. It is the desire of Pan Hellenic that acquaintances between sorority girls and freshmen may progress in a more natural way, and because of this certain regulations have been laid upon the girls. Only four parties and these limited in price will be given by each sorority; even campus rushing is restricted, since by the decree of Pan Hellenic a sorority girl may not even "treat" at Shevlin or the Oak Tree and freshmen girls are not allowed to lunch tea or visit at any of the sorority houses.

While the fraternities are allowed to pledge men in their senior year at High School and during matriculation as well, still they have been rushing freshmen to some extent and much interest is being manifested. Their pledges will be announced in Friday's issue of the Daily along with the complete list of new sophomore sorority girls.

President Vincent will address the American Banker's Association at its annual convention, held in Boston Oct. 4 to 10.

LIND TO REMAIN IN MEXICO

President Vincent Notified of Prolonged Visit of the Envoy.

President Vincent yesterday received a letter from John Lind, president of the Board of Regents, now personal representative of President Wilson at Mexico City, in which Mr. Lind states that he does not expect to return for some two months. No university or diplomatic matters were mentioned in the letter.

SEEK STUDENT CO-OPERATION

Success of the "Lost and Found" Bureau Depends on the Aid of the Whole Student Body.

In the past year the "Lost and Found" Department was of a great benefit to the University students, returning several dollars worth of articles every day to their rightful owners. In order to give the University better service the students must cooperate so far as to turn in all articles found on the campus immediately. The success of such an enterprise is dependent upon the confident co-operation of the student body. Let the honor system which was agitated last year prompt the students to bring everything found to the Lost and Found Department. The department met with several interesting problems during the past year which showed carelessness and neglect on the parts of some students. This negligence leads to dishonesty, since all students are aware of the fact that a place has been provided for all lost articles.

Advertising glass cases are stationed in the Post Office, where daily additions will be made of all lost articles. Students should watch these carefully, so that they may know whether or not the article they lost has been found.

An extensive Information Bureau is also conducted in addition to the Lost and Found Department of the Post Office. This is the only place on the campus where general information in connection with the University can be secured, and it is open to the general public.

Notices for the bulletin boards must be submitted to the Information Bureau for approval before being posted on the boards.
