

Economists Match Wits In 'Profits' Discussion

Three members of the University's economics department matched wits and erudition yesterday in the B-day panel discussion of the question, "Are Profits a Threat to Prosperity?"

The panel group was composed of Professor Arthur R. Uggren, moderator; Professor Yale Brozen, and Associate Professor Walter H. Heller. Professor Brozen saw in the enforcement of competition a much more comprehensive answer to our economic problems than did Professor Heller.

He emphasized the view that attainment of a truly competitive economy is necessary to the achievement of full employment.

Professor Heller said that he put his faith in the idea that achievement of full employment rests primarily on the maintenance and gradual expansion of consumer purchasing power.

He said that profits can be too high both in the sense that they represent monopoly gain arising out of low production and high prices, and in the sense that they channel too large a part of the increasing productivity into the hands of groups who would hold the funds idle.

The latter situation would not prevail in the case of wage earners, he said.

Brozen emphasized the importance of profits rather than wages in maintaining purchasing power.

The two economics professors found large areas of agreement in discussing the question. Both expressed the opinion (1) that profits are necessary; (2) that monopoly profits are evil and should be eliminated by enforcing competition.

Free Enterprise Should Be Here To Stay--Lyon

Competition and free enterprise are the backbone of the economic system of the United States and should stay that way, Dr. Leverett S. Lyon, chief executive officer of the Chicago Association of Commerce and Industry, said yesterday at the Business day banquet.

Although we nor any other country ever have had a completely free enterprise system, Dr. Lyon said, our economic system always has had its roots firmly in free and competitive enterprise with the possible exception of the governmental control during World War II.

During the war, we saw almost all control taken out of the hands of the people and put in the hands of the government, he said.

"There is danger in this system in that a government officer, in making a business decision, will not decide on the basis of a careful economical judgement as a businessman is forced to do because of competition."

Criticism has been hurled at the free enterprise system because of fear that it can be carried too far, Lyon concluded, but fortunately we have laws designed to maintain freedom of competition and at the same time keep it from going too far and becoming cut-throat.

Legislators Learn U Building Needs

By Tom Foley

Both the house appropriation and senate finance committee, of the state legislature heard the details of and reasons for the University's $15,534,000 building request in quiet but friendly sessions yesterday morning and afternoon.

University officials loaded the legislators with information about 39 proposed new buildings and additions, but the solons were quiet when the meetings were thrown open to discussion.

It was the third and last meeting with the house group, but at least one more is scheduled with the senate committee. The legislators won't get down to drawing up the bill for at least three weeks when all major legislative items have been considered.

Current speculation indicates that the $19 million asked by the University for maintenance and special items will go through the money committees without much trouble but that the $15,534,000 building request might meet some opposition.

Gov. Luther W. Youngdahl has recommended a minimum of $16,500,000 for maintenance and specials, but his building minimum was only $5 million, one-third of the Board of Regents' request.

Included in the building requests are $2,600,000 for housing purposes; $1,459,000 for a College of Education building; $1,050,000 for a chemical engineering building; $2,300,000 for the Ag campus and branch schools and stations in the state.

Divest Me, C.O.D.

He Files Suit for Pay

One veteran yesterday found a way to bolster his $65 subsistence check and at the same time make a public protest against the government allowance.

Bill Woskie, Technology freshman, did it by roaming through the Union dressed only in swimming trunks, tee shirt, sombrero, boots and a cap pistol in a holster. He collected $2 for the stunt.

For his half hour appearance in the main lounge and the fountain grill, Dean Tuveson, Forestry freshman, and Jim Dargavel, Arts freshman paid him $1 each.

"I can't get along on $65," Woskie said. "This is sort of a protest—and two bucks is two bucks."

He caused a mild stir.

Disappoints Art Teacher

Salt Cellars 'Too Practical'

By Stan Hietala

Joseph C. Thomas, instructor in art education on sabbatical leave from the University of Puerto Rico, is disappointed with students in his handicrafts class. "They're too practical," he says.

The class has been working with materials new to most of them, horn and shells. Thomas hoped that his students would practice designs in costume jewelry, but instead they made salt and pepper shakers.

There was some compensation in the shakers, however. They are very practical, in that the salt shaker is carved from light horn and the pepper shaker from dark horn. "You don't have to strain your eyes hunting for the holes to find out which is salt and which pepper," remarked Thomas.

"Still, beauty is combined with the practical side in the carved horn. The tips are used to create an unusual free form and the various tones in the color of the bone can be used to the best advantage to produce a pleasant effect.

"I don't dictate problems to the students," Thomas explained. "They determine the type of work to fit their personal needs or apply techniques which will be of use in their work later on."

This freedom of choice is exemplified by the work being done by a nursing student. She worked in mental hospitals during the war and plans to continue in the same type of work after graduating. She's experimenting with materials and tools which can be used in the mental hospitals with no danger of the patient's injuring himself.

At present her materials are soap and old tooth brush handles. The sharpest tool she uses is a finger nail file.

"The primary purpose is not to develop skills, but to put the student's ability to use. Sort of letting the student find his own level," Thomas said. During his spare time, Thomas experiments with materials which are not available in Puerto Rico. He is working with rubber molds to develop a simpler method of casting.

Thomas also is working with a formula that can be used to make a permanent clay that need not be fired. Results so far have proven quite satisfactory.

He has cooked up a liquid which may be added to the clay just like water. It dries out much more rapidly than water, however, and leaves the clay very solid. In fact, the clay becomes so hard you can throw it around and it won't break or chip. A hammer was used to break several experimental batches to test its strength.

Such a clay would have numerous benefits. Although very few secondary schools have kilns, this clay could easily be used in art classes there.

Wrapped in Rapport

Szigeti Sparkles

By Arnold Rosenberg
Daily Music Critic

There was obvious and complete rapport between Dimitri Mitropoulos and Joseph Szigeti, violinist, last night when, together with the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra, they produced some of the most glowing concerto performances of the season.

Mozart's Concerto in D major, which was Szigeti's first offering, showed the violinist in his best light... as a classicist. This marvelous piece of music has become associated closely with his name. And until we hear better performances, it might just as well become his private property.

The Concerto in E minor by Felix Mendelssohn, despite its frequent performances, remains a gem among all violin concertos. If its luster seems dim to some people, those who heard it last night were reassured that it has lost absolutely none of its sparkle.

The orchestra's chief work on the program was the local premiere of Aaron Copland's excellent score for the Martha Graham ballet "Appalachian Spring."

Copland seems to be fairly unique among American composers. The folksy mood which pervades his compositions, whether they represent New England Shakers, cowboys or barefoot dancers in a Mexico City dance hall, appears to be that quality which makes him unique... the same quality which is overlooked by so many other American composers when they strive for profundity and originality.

Mitropoulos and the orchestra displayed no outward signs of having suffered artistically from their almost unbelievably arduous tour. As a matter of fact, from the very beginning of the program, the orchestra showed an awareness, so essential in performing first-rate music for some 30-odd one night stands.

The program began with a virile reading of Franck's seldom performed "Le Chasseur Maudit," which had a number of passages which reminded one, orchestrally, at least, of Franck's sensational compatriot, Berlioz.

Students in groups of 25 or more will be given a 20 per cent reduction in tickets to "Henry V" which begins showings at 2:30 and 8:30 p.m. tomorrow in the Lyceum theater. The Minneapolis run will extend two weeks.

The most expensive picture ever filmed in the British Isles, "Henry V," had its American premier in Boston nearly a year ago and since has been praised by screen critics and nominated for the Academy award.

Maroons to Play Cage Finale Tonight

—Basketball—

By Bill Smith

In a fitting conclusion to a bitterly contested conference season, Coach Dave MacMillan's Minnesota cagers will attempt to knock Wisconsin out of the Big Nine lead tonight when they take on the Badgers at 8:15 p.m. in the Field house.

Coach Bud Foster, with the conference title very possibly resting on the result, will field the same team against the Gophers which stopped them, 60-51, Feb. 8 at Madison.

Attempting to make up for that loss, which knocked his Gophers out of championship contention, MacMillan will start the same five which has opened every conference clash this season.

He will be hoping his charges' shooting eyes don't go blind as they did in the second half of their last meeting with the Badgers. Holding a 39-26 edge after three minutes of the second half, the Gophers went into a tailspin that saw them score just three field goals in 17 minutes.

Even in that loss, however, center Jim McIntyre clicked for seven field goals and eight free throws despite the combined efforts of Badger centers Ed Mills, Bob Haarlow and Don Rehfeldt, all of whom will be on hand tonight.

Tonight, as always, the main scoring burden will fall on Big Jim's shoulders. With only three fielders to his credit in the last two games, McIntyre still is pacing the conference scoring race with 169 points, nine more than Iowa's little Murray Weir.

Working with the giant Gopher center, Bud Grant and Jack Young will start at the forwards, and the buddies—Ed Kernan and Lou Brewster—will open their last Minnesota game as a back-court combination. Brewster, along with Dave Ruliffson and Don Mattson, who subs for McIntyre, will be playing their last game as Gophers.

Foster will start Bobby Cook, whose scoring average is third best in the Big Nine, and Exner Menzel at the forward posts. Mills is the probable pivot starter, and rebound and scoring specialists, Walt Lautenbach and Glenn Selbo, will be the guards.

Dave Bartelma Head Of State High School Grapple Meet Today

Wrestling Coach Dave Bartelma will be in charge of the state high school wrestling meet to be held in the Field house today. The action started last night, and will be followed by the semifinals scheduled for 10 a.m. today, with the proceedings winding up in the afternoon with the running off of the finals at 2 p.m.

Eighty-eight men survived grappling in four regions to qualify for the tourney. The state tournament uses eleven weights starting at 95 pounds and continuing through the heavyweight division.

By placing a total of 21 matmen between them, Litchfield and Mound are seeded favorites to dethrone Robbinsdale which has ruled the wrestling roost for many years. Last year's runner-up, University high, also will be forced way down the list as they placed only their heavyweight, Jack Dorfman, in the meet.

Sports fans will get a look at Anoka's all-state fullback, Buddy Brooks, but this time the Anoka powerhouse will be in tights as he goes after the state heavyweight crown.

Forwards Bob Cook, left, and Exner Menzel will start tonight as Wisconsin shoots for its title clincher against the Gophers. The two Badgers rate third and seventeenth respectively in the Big Nine scoring race with Cook almost a shoe-in to gain all-conference honors.

Guard combination for the pace-setting Badgers will be Glenn Selbo, left, and Walt Lautenbach. It was due mainly to their sterling rebound work and shooting eyes that Coach Bud Foster's crew came through with their 60-51 win over Minnesota Feb. 8.

'Brand-New' Mitt Squad Due Monday

By Bob Rees

Boxing fans, who suffered through Michigan State's route of the Gophers earlier this week, won't recognize the team Ray Chisholm will throw against the University of Miami Hurricanes at the Field house Monday night.

Only three boxers, all in the lower weights, of the eight men who were involved in the Spartan debacle, will step into the ring in Minnesota's second and last home meet of the year against the Miami team which has been accumulated from Duluth, Pittsburgh, Pa., Hartford, Conn., and, coincidentally, Miami, Fla.

Bantamweight Bob Provost, featherweight Hal Brown and lightweight Kelly Abdo will be the only repeaters in Minnesota's home boxing finale. In bouts with Michigan State Provost dropped a questionable decision, Brown gained a draw and Abdo was KO'ed by former NCAA champ, Chuck Davey. Brown will box Miami's Billy Johnson, a first year man from Duluth.

The two latest additions to the Gopher lineup were announced yesterday by Chisholm. They are Bruce Larson in the 155-pound division and light heavyweight Art Rivkin.

Larson, who injured his right hand while sparring a week ago, tested it in an exhibition match at a Marshall high school fathers and sons banquet last night, and found it to be okay. Rivkin, runner-up in the all-University tourney, will be making his first appearance on the varsity as will welterweight Bob Tibbetts, the Gophers' version of perpetual motion and middleweight Dick Newberg.

In the heavyweight class Bob Danielsen is set to go again and will meet Art Saey of Miami. Danielsen has recovered completely from the back injury he suffered at Pullman, Wash., which kept him out of the last meet.

Track Hopes In Field Events

By Ralph Pohland

A squad of 17 Gopher tracksters are in Chicago today to meet the Indiana cinder squad, coming from Bloomington, on a neutral track at Chicago Field house.

The Minnesota thinclads plan to meet the Hoosiers more than half way, however, but the ever-cautious dope sheet fails to pick a winner.

The Gophers look for sure top honors from field men Gordien, LaMoise and Cooper. Two-miler Ed Hendrickson shouldn't experience too much strain copping his pet event unless Indiana's crack distance runner, Earl Mitchell, decides to concentrate on that race.

The Gopher mile relay quartet of Covey, Comer, Neff and Ewing are favored to trip the Hoosiers in that event. Either Covey or Comer also should have a good chance of taking the 440-yard dash.

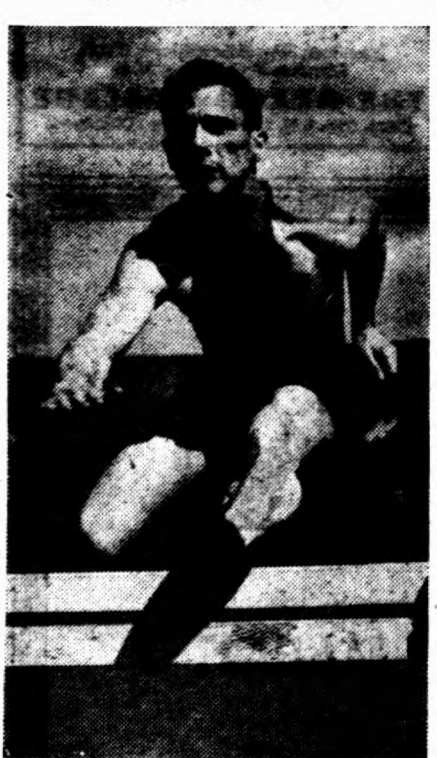

The hurdling trio of Ray Tharp, Bill Ewing and Fred Brass will have a tough tussle for points against the hurdling combination of Tom and Bill Mitchell, Hoosier brother act.

Mel Groomes, dusky athlete who cavorted for Indiana this fall on the gridiron, should grab best points in the high jump.

The Hoosiers will seek to make their heaviest impression on the scoring column with their middle-distance runners, Mitchell, Tom Deal and Elmer Prifogle, who helped them to a share of the Big Nine cross country title this fall.

Gophers making the trip include Tom Mason and Tom Quinn, dashes; Harry Covey, Bob Comer and Paul Neff, 440; Roy Good and Bruce Lundholm, 880; Dick Kilty and Ed Hendrickson, distances; Ray Tharp, Fred Brass and Bill Ewing, hurdles; Fortune Gordien and Ed Bush, shot put; George Kilen, high jump; Harry Cooper, pole vault; Lloyd LaMoise, broad jump.

Basketball Admission

In order to insure admission to tonight's Wisconsin-Minnesota basketball game in the Field house, student and faculty ticketholders must present both their exchange ticket and winter-spring athletic card.

COLORADO SPRINGS, COL.—(Special)—The Minnesota Gophers gasped for breath in the rare air of Colorado Springs, but their eyes remained normal and the Gopher skaters tamed the Colorado college Tigers, 8-3, last night before a standing room crowd of 3,000.

Before the lowlanders could get used to the 7,000 foot altitude's ozone, the Tigers sprang away to a two goal lead. Dick Rowell homed Clem Roy's pass at 6:10 and Jim Slattery nested an assist from MacDonald.

Then the Gophers took a deep breath and went to work. Rolly DePaul amalgamated with Jerry Remole for Gopher goal number one and Teddybear Harris tied the score on Bill Hodgins' setup. Everyone behaved in this period and the penalty box stayed untenanted.

Wentworth, unassisted, led off the second period counting. It was the Tigers' last goal of the evening. The Gophers took over big and tattooed the net with three markers in the last five minutes. Dennie Bergman scored off Bob Harris, Bob Fleming counted from Dick Roberts and Billy Hodgins penetrated with Jack O'Brien's layup.

Two of the games' three penalties saw Rowell and Norm Aronson cool in the sinners' cell.

The third period was mostly Jerry Lindgard. Jerry made it 6-3 on Harris' helper and then increased it to 7-3 on a double assist by Roberts and Hodgins. Roberts got the last light with Hodgins' cooperation.

Gym Team to Face Chicago in Last Dual Meet of Season Today

In its last dual meet of the season, preparatory to the Conference meet at Champaign, Ill., March 15-16, Minnesota's once-beaten gymnastic team takes on the University of Chicago at Chicago this afternoon.

Beaten only by Penn State's crack National AAU champs, the Gophers will be seeking their fourth victory of the season. Today's meet was originally scheduled to be a three-team affair, but Indiana, the third entry, withdrew.

Team captain George Patton and Jim Peterson will lead Ralph Piper's gymnasts against the Maroons. Both participate in all events.

Taking part in his first competition for the Gophers will be Arthur DuCharme, former gymnast for Minneapolis Roosevelt high school.

Howard Swanson, Donald Hedstrom and Donald Peterson round out the Minnesota team. Swanson will be one of the Gopher entries in the high bar, parallel bars and horse events. Hedstrom will work on the rings, long horse and tumbling, and Peterson will be a side horse contestant.

Tankers Out to Make Iowa Swallow Words

On the bulletin board across from the swimming pool office a little notice was posted yesterday. Inscribed thereon was the phrase, "Let's make 'em swallow it!"

The inscription was explained by a clipping from the Daily Iowan. In bold face print appeared one outstanding sentence, "The Gophers, although strong in some events, should not be too much trouble for the Hawk mermen."

Therefore, when the Minnesota swimming team engages Iowa's favored tankers at 2 p.m. today, the Gophers will have another reason for wanting to win. The Gopher mermen will be out to make the Hawkeyes gulp those egotistical words until no more bubbles come to the surface of the Cooke hall exhibition pool.

Coach Niels Thorpe's swimmers are in tip-top condition, and if they show their usual improvement they may be expected to give the Corn state men plenty of competition.

Mark Heffelfinger, ace dashman, will swim in a meet for the first time in three weeks. Mark has shaken off the effects of the flu which has bothered him quite a bit this season. He has shown steady improvement from meet to meet, but still isn't satisfied with his time in the 50 and 100-yard free style events.

This will be the last dual meet of the season for both teams. At 4 p.m. the state high school swimming meet will start.

Bees Eye Tenth Straight Tonight

The Gopher Bees are gunning for their tenth straight win tonight against the Carlton Bees in the last game of the season.

It should be an easy win for Coach Giffy O'Dell's Maroons who have beaten every team put up before them since their first loss this season. The junior varsity whipped the Northfield dwellers in their first engagement this season.

O'Dell will start his old standby, Dick McWaters, at one of the forwards, paired with Gordy Soltan. Burly Bill Carroll fills in the center spot, while Charlie Mohr and Pat Turner will work in the back court.

The contest will get under way immediately after the Gopher-Badger tussle.
