Y. M. C. A. CABINET FOR 1919-1920 TO START OPERATIONS

Organization Meeting Held Yesterday—Burton Forster Presided.

MEMBERSHIP DRIVE TO COME NEXT WEEK

"Y" To Go Back To Original Pre-War Functions This Year.

At the initial meeting of the year, held yesterday, the cabinet of the university Y. M. C. A. was formed. The cabinet is the governing body of the association, composed of the three officers of the Y. M. C. A. and the eight committee chairmen. The functions of the cabinet is to conduct the plans of operation which the "Y" has drawn up for the year.

Purpose of "Y" Given.

Burton E. Forster, president of the Y. M. C. A., presided at the organization meeting, yesterday afternoon. He stated, for the sake of clarifying in the minds of the cabinet the fundamental motives of the association, the purpose of the "Y." The real purpose, he said, is to establish and maintain Christian standards of thought and conduct through practical application of, and provision for, these standards. He said that the motto of the cabinet should be "service." The methods by which the aim of the "Y" is to be attained are fourfold: university-wide, friendship, study courses, social activities, and extension (or community) work. Mr. Forster stated that the Y. M. C. A. intended to resume its original, pre-war, fundamentally religious purpose this year.

Membership First Work.

Each committee chairman will outline his plan of campaign and then choose several colleagues to aid him in his work. The first "zone of five" will be launched from the membership committee. A campaign will be started by this committee next week for several thousand memberships in the university.

Cabinet Named.

The list of cabinet men, together with their various functions, follows: Burton E. Forster, president; Howard Jacobson, vice president and chairman of membership committee; Dick Haupt, secretary; E. J. Berkvam, chairman friendly relations; Wendell McRae, chairman community service; David Lundeen, chairman discussion groups; Cecil Braham, chairman publicity; Kenneth Owen, chairman campus service; Harold Worrell, chairman social; David Bronson, chairman religious meetings; Walter Heyler, chairman Bible study.

Will Sell Flowers

Co-eds to Have Charge of Sale of Chrysanthemums for Homecoming.

The Y. W. C. A. will manage the sale of chrysanthemums for Homecoming day, next Saturday. Girls will have charge of stands in the post office and at different points on the campus, and maroon and gold chrysanthemums will be sold for the same prices that over town florists are asking. Everyone who plans to attend the Illinois game is urged to wear a chrysanthemum and to buy it from the Y. W. C. A. Fraternities and sororities expecting to use flowers for decoration are especially asked to order their chrysanthemums through the Y. W. C. A. All orders for one-half dozen blossoms or more should be sent to Elizabeth Dolson, box 721.

Prof. N. Wilde Hurt

Hit While Boarding Interurban Car—He Is Resting Easily This Morning.

Prof. N. Wilde, of the department of philosophy, met with a painful accident yesterday on Washington avenue. He was boarding an interurban car when he was struck by a motor truck. He was severely bruised and the skin was removed from several parts of his body. A bad cut was made in his head, which necessitated the taking of four stitches. Prof. Wilde was immediately removed to the University hospital where he was resting easily this morning.

Senior Girls Will Revel As Gypsies

Cap and Gown Installation of Officers Marked by Gypsy Feature.

Shevlin hall will be converted into a gypsyland this afternoon when officers of Cap and Gown, senior girl organization, are installed.

Co-eds who have been arranging the program promise that there will be witches, fortune tellers and other representative gypsies present when the party begins, and that the hall will be decorated to resemble a gypsy's paradise.

Officers will be installed, following a spread which will begin at 5:30. The installation ceremony was especially written for Cap and Gown and is to be handed down as a tradition to each succeeding class. Mrs. Jessie Ladd, acting dean of women, will have charge of the ceremony.

Elizabeth Nissen is president of Cap and Gown. Other officers include Lucille McNally, vice president; Marlon Webster, secretary, and Gretchen Muench, treasurer.

A tentative program, arranged by Lucille McNally, to be given following the installation of officers, includes a pianologue, by Clare Hamack and Muriel Florin; dance, by Pauline Whitney and Midren Warden; reading, by Betty Jones; and a stunt, by Mary K. Hartung.

MINN. WILL LEAD N. W. IN MILITARY AFFAIRS—COLONEL

Artillery Unit and Two Regiments of Infantry To Be Formed Here.

REQUISITION FOR GUNS MADE TODAY

Band Will Give Concerts; Colonel Goodwyn Enthusiastic Over Prospects

An artillery unit and two regiments of infantry are to be formed from the two thousand men, who are enrolled in the military department of the University of Minnesota, according to a statement made by Colonel A. G. Goodwyn, to a Daily reporter this morning. There are twenty-four companies at the present time. Speaking of the prospects for a military organization of the first rank this year, Colonel Goodwyn stated, "Considering the conditions, we ought to have the best military organization in the northwest." Many ceremonies are scheduled for this year. The dates and the places will be announced later by the military department.

Requisition for gun No. 155, G. P. F., and for an eight-inch Howitzer was made by the university military department today. The former is a 155 millimeter rifle, about the same size as the six-inch gun. The instruction in the artillery unit will be principally theoretical during the first part of the year. When the guns are received, however, the university artillerymen will receive practical training in the art of "cocking" cannon.

"The band is going to be the best in the northwest," declared Colonel Goodwyn enthusiastically, when questioned.

Ag. Campus To Stage Y Booster Campaign

Prominent Men Endorse "Y." as Potent Factor for Character Building.

A "short, snappy, great, big, 'Y.' booster campaign" is to sweep the Ag campus Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of this week. "The idea," says W. L. Witte, general secretary at the University Farm, "is to put on a short, intensive drive for new members. We believe that by becoming a member of the Y. M. C. A. a student helps himself and helps the institution."

The campaign is to be carried out in an organized manner through committees who will work among the members of each class in the college. Chairmen of the "Y" commissions who will head the work in their classes are: Senior, Willis Lanson; junior, Don Shannon; sophomore, Homer Ballinger; freshman, Robert Douglas. Though the names of all men registered in the college have been secured, those who have previously signed the pledge card will not be approached again for "once a member, always a member."

The following statements, the first by Dean R. W. Thatcher, director of the university department of agriculture; and the second by Dr. C. W. Gay, chairman of the "Y" board of directors, indicate what men prominent on the Ag campus think of the Y. M. C. A.:

There is no other single agency in college life so potent for character building as the Young Men's Christian Association. It brings to bear upon the problems of individual and community life all that is best in true religion, freed from any restrictions of denominational creeds or sectarian doctrines. It is the best known agency for upbuilding of true Christian character as a part of student life.

I am personally very much interested in the success of our local Y. M. C. A. work. I am anxious to help in every possible way and commend its activities to students, alumni, faculty and friends of the department, as worthy of your loyal support.

R. W. THATCHER.

The Y. M. C. A. is the one organization on the campus which represents the best interests of all the men. It stands for student life in the broadest sense and on the highest plane. Through its various departments the student needs are met and his ideals are advanced along the three sides of the triangle, to the best rounded-out manhood. It leads in fellowship, as well as in spiritual devotion and affords an opportunity for student activity that is altogether worth while.

They Went; They Saw; They Licked 'Em ---And the Journey Was Enjoyed by All

By ROPA.

Speaking of trips, by train or by ship, we had some trip just last week. To Badger-town we went, and we bet our last cent, on hopes just a wee trifle bleak. We went there by train, in a shower of rain, in a "Special" arranged for the jaunt; some payed their fare, but some did not care, to give up their "wad" that was gaunt. Some chaps I know, wanted to go, to the journey to Madison town; the cash, "wherewithal," they did not have at all, but these fellows, I hear did not frown. They hitched up their "trow," and said they'd show how a Gopher could get by a "con." So they crawled under berths, which were not so worse, until Mr. "Con" had passed on. The tickets inspected, in each car collected, rooters—some tenors, some bass; some girls, some boys, they all made SOME noise, with the muscular part of their face.

Early next morn, our bunch, somewhat worn, the Badger burg saw in the ofing; they essayed a yell that sounded like—well, like a bunch of Denverites coughing. To town then

It Takes A Fire To Show Them Up

Sunday is a day of rest. Verily, verily.

But as the man at the ice-house fire remarked, "We look better with our makeup on." Apropos of how university students spend their Sunday afternoons.

When the fire whistle sounded, seven thousand students were resting. Shortly thereafter they appeared at the conflagration in their "restful" costumes. Talking swiftly with both hands was one upperclassman who had forgotten his collar. Two thin streams of blood trickled down the face of another who had been called too swiftly from his Gillette. A ghastly sight was the co-ed who had neglected to remove the artificial aids to a Sunday afternoon beauty sleep. One tall hero had apparently forgotten to tie his shoestrings and was tramping gayly through the mud regardless. More efficient was the man who arrived after washing his hair, in time for the heat to do a good job of drying. All in all, it was a spectacular blaze.

COLLEGE FIGHT COSTS $500.

To cap the climax to the fight in the gymnasium of the college of the city of New York, between the sophomores and freshmen, according to the "World," and following the sophomore victory in the tug of war, Dr. Frederick B. Wolf, professor of hygiene presented the two classes with a bill for $500 to cover the damages to the building. During the fight the swimming pool was so filled with broken glass from doors and windows, that a swimming match had to be postponed.

Foolsap To Appear Home Coming Day

Art Work Done Under Direction of S. Burton, Agricultural Department.

The Foolsap, slated to appear on the campus November 10, will put in its appearance two days in advance, to be on hand for homecoming day. The whole magazine is to be a great advance over the first issue, the editors say. This will be noticeable, especially in the art work, they promise.

Artwork for the coming issue will be done mostly by the architecture department under the direction of Prof. S. C. Burton, who has contributed one illustration to the next issue. Some of the students who have made contributions are Roy Pappenthien, Stanley Hahn, Edwin M. Loye, J. K. Corwin and Miss Dorothy Wackermer, who drew last month's cover.

Harry J. Korlund, art editor of the Foolsap, has drawn this month's cover. The drawing portrays Minnesota, represented by a female figure, holding the ship of state. In the background are homecoming ships, while at the feet of the central figure lies the German dragon pierced by a sword. On either side are panels in relief representing football players. The whole picture embodies the "Spirit of Homecoming."

Prof. Burton in outlining the work, said, "the aim is to make art dignified, well composed and with a high standard of excellence. This applies to art work in general, omitting cartoons."

NATIONAL LEGION EXECUTIVES WILL ADDRESS MEETING

Henry D. Lindsley and Jack Sullivan Here For The Convention.

SPEAK NEXT FRIDAY AT CAMPUS POST MEETING

National Convention in Minneapolis Gives U Rare Opportunity.

With such leading speakers as Henry D. Lindsley, chairman of the national executive committee of the American Legion, and Jack Sullivan, vice president of that committee, the university post of the American Legion will meet in the Little theatre, Friday afternoon, November 14, 1919.

The first national convention of the Legion will take place in Minneapolis next Monday. At this convention, four students of the university will be represented. They will be: Joyce Lewis, delegate of the fourth congressional district; Ed Flynn, delegate of the fifth congressional district; J. A. Struett, first alternative of the fifth congressional district, and Mr. Nolan.

"A big drive for members is soon to be made on the campus," said J. A. Struett, one of the university representatives at the convention. "We intend to choose one man from every fraternity and organization on the campus. The duty of this man will be to get as many men as possible from his organization to join the Legion. This drive will most probably be carried along on a competitive basis. In this manner we intend to get in touch with every male faculty member and student here."

At the meeting in the Little theatre, the representatives from the convention will speak on what was taken up there. Matters concerning the members of the university post will be discussed.

"Let me impress upon you the importance of the American Legion," Mr. Struett went on. "Quoting from the Journal, I will say that the American Legion is the only national organization existing which acts as a representative of the veteran American soldier."

"Minneapolis should consider it an honor to have the first national convention meeting take place here, and to have the important national officers to lead it. Mr. Lindsley, its chairman, has just arrived from New York with news that should be of interest to all the members. I cannot guarantee his presence at the meeting in the Little theatre, but will state that if he should happen to not be able to get there, we will have Mr. Sullivan or some other national figure to take his place."

The national meeting Monday will take place in the Minneapolis auditorium.

CO-EDS TO START ACTION THURSDAY ON BUTTON DRIVE

Five Thousand Maroon and Gold Buttons Will Be Placed on Sale.

TO BE WORN DURING THE MINNESOTA HOMECOMING

Twelve Sorority Teams Will Compete—Prizes To Be Offered.

Homecoming buttons will be placed on sale at twelve different points on the main campus Thursday. 5,000 Maroon and Gold buttons, one and one-half inches in diameter, will be sold by twelve sorority teams. Mabel Prothers is in general charge of the sale and has appointed the following girls to captain the teams:

Team No. 1—Alpha Phi, Louis Robertson.

Team No. 2—Kappa Alpha Theta, Lola Platon.

Team No. 3—Alpha Gamma Delta, Winifred Mo.

Team No. 4—Kappa Delta, Verona Friedel.

Team No. 5—Alpha Si Delta, Katherine Thorbus.

Team No. 6—Pi Beta Phi, Bernice Marsolais.

Team No. 7—Alpha Omicron Pi, Alice Cheek.

Team No. 8—Scyth, Harriet Bower.

Team No. 9—Kappa Kappa Gamma, Jessalyn Salmon.

Team No. 10—Delta Gamma, Henrietta Benton.

Team No. 11—Gamma Phi Beta, Nell Hallock.

Team No. 12—Delta Delta Delta, Betty Jones.

Each team composed of ten members, will have a different station each day of the campaign. The twelve stations chosen are: Station 1, first floor Folwell; station 2, medicine; station 3, dent pharmacy; station 4, library; station 5, Minnesota Union; station 6, law; station 7, postoffice; station 8, chemistry and mines; station 9, first floor Folwell; station 10, Shevlin hall; station 11, engineering; station 12, postoffice.

Two prizes have been offered by the Homecoming committee, one for the team selling the largest number of buttons, and a second for the team selling the largest number of Homecoming souvenir magazine programs. The sale of the latter will start Friday morning, and will be handled by the same teams selling buttons.

Elmer Engelbert, chairman of the button sale campaign anticipates an enormous sale the first two days since every student will be expected to purchase a button, which will sell for 10c. The revenue derived from the sale of buttons and magazine programs will be used to cover the general expenses incident to bringing the alumni back to the campus.

Hospitality Shown By Madison Hosts

Welcome Extended to Minnesota Rooters by Badgers Continuous During Stay.

Winning the game from Wisconsin last Saturday had no effect on their hospitality to the Minnesota team. Every hour was filled with some sort of demonstration for their team by the Wisconsin students or celebration in honor of the victorious Gophers.

There were 200 "paid fares" on the special which left Friday night and was made up of eight coaches. About seventy-five members of the Rooters Club attended the game, but every member of visiting delegation was a royal rooster, the reports from Madison say.

"An example of loyalty to tradition and support of their team was shown by the Wisconsin rooters last week," said Frank McNally, yesterday, when asked what he thought of the Wisconsin rooters: "Even when the last quarter came around and their team was hopelessly beaten, not a member of the Wisconsin supporting body left the stand. And after the game was over they rose in a body and sang their varsity song as their team left the field. It was an inspiring sight and a lesson to may a university throughout the country."

GOOD SPORTSMANSHIP.

Students at Minnesota have always been held as examples of the best of sports. Whether a contestant or a rooster in the stands a Gopher is always expected to be sportsmanlike. It is one of the first things that the incoming freshman must learn, especially if he be a graduate of some small high school. Win or lose Minnesota rooters and players leave the field knowing we have done our best. At Wisconsin last Saturday we found this same spirit prevalent. The Wisconsin team played as clean a game as did the Maroon and Gold, and the Wisconsin rooters were sportsmanlike during the entire game. There were exceptions, of course. Now and then some student who could not quite bear the turn of things cast some slurring remark. But such a student was not representative of Wisconsin. We, too, as we have before remarked, have our black sheep. All universities have. When Nebraska was here several weeks ago we could not help but feel that they had too many of them, both on the field and in the stands. They had a great team and splendid support, but they had not learned to play the game clean, nor how to be good sports. It is for the larger universities to set the ideal.

Next Saturday in our effort to make our Homecoming successful we are in danger of neglecting our visitors from Illinois. Let us, as we have always done, extend them every courtesy. Let us be ready to give them a yell on the gridiron and another for any man of their team who may suffer injury. Both teams will play clean and hard. It is up to us who will be in the stands to do our share. It's a great thing to be looked upon as an example of good sportsmanship. Be on your guard.

AN ORCHESTRA IN OUR MIDST.

The symphony orchestra composed of students from the College of Agriculture, and under the direction of A. Pepinski, made its first appearance on the Farm campus last week. "Shubert's Unfinished Symphony" was the feature of the concert given in the auditorium of the Administration building. Students and faculty who had the privilege of hearing it say that never has so splendid an orchestra been organized on either campus. We believe that an effort should be made to have this orchestra appear before the students of the main campus at an early date. An organization of this nature is sure to receive the support of the entire University. We believe that students of the main campus would show their interest in a record breaking attendance to the convocation or other meeting where this orchestra would appear. Mr. Pepinski, who is himself a musician of note, has always held himself at the disposal of those on the Farm campus who arrange the programs given in their auditorium. He will, we are sure, be glad to aid us upon receiving proper invitation. We are interested in knowing just who will have the honor of extending the first invitation. The resulting entertainment will be something new and more worth while than has been arranged for some time.

THE OTHER FELLOW'S VIEWPOINT.

Are you able to see more than your own side of things in your relations with the other men of your acquaintance? Can you see yourself as he sees you, not as the man which you think you are but at your actual, intrinsic value. One of the big assets of a college education which is really worth while is the ability to grasp both sides of a question, to see it in a mirror as it were, and to act accordingly.—Purdue Exponent.

In the defeat handed Michigan, Captain Harley was not only a factor, but a tractor.—Ohio State Lantern.

WHAT IS PRACTICAL?

Education has always received a pelt from some inadvertent stone-thrower. In the old days even the three "R's" were condemned by the hard-handed wood-cutter and the sodden plowman. The high school came next, and some men who had scarcely mastered arithmetic themselves saw no need of a "higher learning" for their children. Then came the time when universities were considered elite and high-brow. It is interesting to trace the evolution in popular thought as regards to the value of education. More men are in college this year than ever before; the question of the day is the practicality of certain subjects.

It is amusing to note how shortsighted are most attitudes upon the matter of practicality. Interested in some certain line, anything outside of its limited area looks impractical to the enthusiast. A man may become so intent upon the details that are in the foreground of his chosen profession that he forgets the big background he needs. That, of course, is just what many subjects in general education give—background and balanced schooling for thought. And therein lies their practicality.

The questions, "What do I really enjoy? What sort of work can I do best?" cannot be answered adequately until many subjects or branches have been touched upon. Choosing a career too often rests upon a radical modification of these questions, such as, "How can I make money most easily?" or "Where have I got a pull?" And these latter ideals too often are used to determine the practical.

Specialization is a great thing; but it is apt to furnish only one too. What if some day that tool should become broken? The remedy is to have other tools sharpened and ready for use.—Michigan Daily.

Communication

This column is conducted for the benefit of readers desiring to present their views on all subjects of interest to the university. All communications must be signed as evidence of sincerity, but names will be withheld if desired. While the Daily does not hold itself responsible for the contents of its communications all such material must pass through the hands of the Managing Editor and should be so addressed.

COMMUNICATION.

To the Editor of the Daily:
The unusual attendance has taxed the abilities of the various offices of the university this quarter. This also makes it very difficult to locate students by college, class, name, post-office box and address. The old address book, familiar to all upperclassmen, would lessen this difficulty. It appears that there is no rational excuse for the non-appearance of this book.

If the University of Minnesota cannot publish a list of names and addresses in 30 days' time, the department of agriculture should see to it that a typewritten list of names and box numbers is available at all hours at the "Farm" postoffice.

This can easily be remedied and prevent a great deal of lost efficiency. Think it over.

JUNIOR AG.

Editor's Note:—We understand that the university address book is now in the hands of the printers. Until it appears, however, the post office at the college of agriculture should follow the example of the main campus and post a list of the students' names and box numbers.

Council Tells Of Honor System

For the benefit of the students who are unfamiliar with the honor system, the academic council yesterday made the following statement with reference to the system as it is in effect at the University of Minnesota:

"Briefly stated, the honor system means that no student shall endeavor to obtain credit for work that is not the result of his own efforts.

"It is an unwritten law at Minnesota that freshmen shall comply with the provisions of the honor system even though they are theoretically excused from observing it. Freshmen classes that desire to be put under the honor system along with students of other classes must demonstrate that they are in earnest. The men's and women's academic councils have promised to do all in their power to help in such a move.

"A student who sees another cheat is expected to speak to the student, if possible, or to report him to the council. He will not be asked to testify against the student whom he reported.

"Students who are charged with cheating will be given a fair trial. The men's academic council will settle cases in which men are involved, and the women's council will handle the cases of women."

Matinee Provides Funds For Actors

Performance for Benefit of Student Loan Fund to Be Alternative.

Students here may receive an opportunity to aid in swelling the national actor's fund if plans of the Masquer Dramatic club, in preparation at present, are perfected.

If a sufficient number of seats are sold to warrant a matinee, a percentage of the receipts will be turned over to the Actor's fund. At present the activity in ticket sales indicate a keen interest in the coming Masquer production of "What Every Woman Knows."

Should the plans for the actor's benefit go astray, a performance for the benefit of a student loan fund will be given. This fund would be used for students wishing to borrow funds at a low rate of interest. It would be added to from time to time by various play receipts.

"All plans, however, are dependent on an advance sale of enough tickets to warrant a matinee," according to the business manager.

CAMPUS SPORTS

With Old King Football out in the spotlight the other athletic sports around the University are forced to be content with a place in the chorus, for the immediate present at least. In fact all that the various students around school can think, or talk about nowadays is "that wonder game at Madison," and "will we win from the Illinois, Saturday?" The way the seats have been selling for the battle, over 10,000 sold up to date, we at least believe that there are beaucoup persons interested in the final outcome of the contest.

The big conference tangle will probably be in a greater muddle than ever after this Saturday's game. Most of the present big ten leaders will swing into action against each other but with the recent upsets it would be foolish to pick the favorites among them. Some very bright person possessed of a mathematical mind that can delve into the unknown may be able to figure out the best team in the conference; if there is such a person he can have the job—we don't want it.

Theron Gerow, injured in Badger game with a twisted leg is back on the field watching the practise rehearsals from the sidelines. Gerow put up a whizz of a game against the Cardinals last week, completely playing his opponent off his feet. The news that his injuries are only of a minor nature and that they will not keep him out of the Illinois game comes as welcome news to expected Gophers looking for another victory on Homecoming Day.

Dr. L. J. Cook, athletic director, has received word from Ann Arbor requesting the number of Minnesota rooters who will accompany the team in their game with Michigan, two weeks from Saturday. All persons who are going to make the trip and wish accommodations should turn

Suede Cloth Coats

WHEN you see these suede cloth coats at different places, don't you admire their smart appearance? They are the very latest—the practical coat for the college man—a coat for recreation or dress. The fur collar, coon, opossum or wombat, adds a smartness that is distinctive. Durable browns, greens and drab shades; belt all around; half and full sheplined; blanket backed; sleeves leather lined. You'll get style and value for your money in one of these warm, serviceable suede cloth coats. See what we have from

$20 to $40

GIRLS appreciate the smartness of these coats. They're buying them in place of fur.

Social Hour To Be Held At Shevlin

Madame Twyste, Hungarian Gymnast, to Be Feature on Program Friday.

Social hour at Shevlin Friday afternoon will feature Madame Twiriran Twyste, the agile Hungarian gymnast, whose artistic contortions have attracted world-wide attention. Madame Twyste, who comes to Minnesota highly recommended by Dr. Anna Norris, will present nine of her nimble-footed proteges in a big gymnastic exhibition which promises to be educational as well as interesting. Of Madame Twyste, Dr. Anna Norris says, "she embodies all of those esoteric qualities essential to an ideal gymnast instructor."

Madame Twyste has been at the university several days, and after visiting the undergraduate gym classes here, expresses great interest in the dexterity with which the freshmen girls execute such difficult exercises as opening and closing ranks. So interested is she, in fact, that she will give a short demonstration of their unusual ability in the course of the exhibition. Among those featured by Madame Twyste will be: Geometrica Walkoff, Greena Horn, Bollia Rice, Ima Darling and Candia Cherry.

Prominent Speaker To Address Girls

Miss Mary Roberts, of the Northeast Neighborhood House Will Tell of Social Opportunities.

Miss Roberts, of the Northeast Neighborhood House, will speak to the women of the agricultural campus at 4:30 p. m. Friday afternoon in the Home Economics building.

Miss Roberts is engaged in social agrivice work and will discuss the opportunities offered to the college girl for service in this branch of Y. W. C. A. work. She has the reputation of being an earnest worker and an enthusiastic speaker and will have an interesting message for the girls.

This is the first of a series of talks to be held under the auspices of the Y. W. C. A. Prominent speakers will talk upon subjects of civic and social interest to the young women of the college.

Academic Luncheon

Freshmen and Upperclassmen to Meet Tomorrow at Men's Union.

All freshmen and upperclassmen in the academic college are invited to be present at the informal luncheon in room 209, Minnesota Union, tomorrow noon, at 12:30 p. m. These meetings are informally conducted for the purpose of fostering real friendship between the old and new men of the university. All men planning to attend the luncheon are requested to put their name, college, and postoffice box number in P. O. Box 1635 before 10:30 Thursday morning.

Sophomores Choose Huskies For Tilt

Two Classes to Battle to the Death Saturday—Big Boys Wanted Very Badly.

At a meeting of the Sophomore Academics yesterday noon in the Little Theatre 36 strong men were chosen from the gathering to form the Soph aggregation for next Saturday's bag contest. Saturday morning at 10:30 the Frosh and the Sophs will meet for battle on the parade ground. The remaining fourteen needed to form the required fifty will be chosen later.

George D. Reed was chosen generalissimo in command of the Soph forces. A committee of four composed of the following members was chosen to aid him: Terry Naughton, D. Anderson, Sam Murray and Herbert Ba-trem. These men will meet to decide on some distinguishing garb to be worn by the Sophs to identify them from the Frosh during the scrap. They will also discuss and map out the plan of battle in detail.

The scrap Saturday is being scheduled under the auspices of the Homecoming committee of the American Legion. Expenses for the bags will be defrayed by a sum voted from the general treasury of each of the under-classes.

Thursday at 11:30 the Sophs will have another meeting in the Little Theatre to plan final arrangements and choose the rest of their warriors.

Upperclassmen Meet

Academic Association Holds Regular Meeting Thursday Evening.

The next regular meeting of the Academic Upperclassmen's Association will take the usual form of six o'clock dinner in room 204 of the Minnesota Union, tomorrow, Thursday night. This is expected to be the best meeting of the quarter to date.

Dr. Quincy Wright, a new instructor in the political science department, will lead the hour's discussion, starting with a twenty minute talk on "Some Questions in Connection With the Peace Treaty." Last spring a discussion upon a twin subject, the League of Nations, led by Dr. J. S. Young, was one of the most interesting ever had.

Mr. Paul Nelson, vice president of the association, will introduce the speaker, and will adjourn the meeting promptly at 8 o'clock.

Tickets may be secured from Mr. Paul Hathaway, treasurer of the association, or from other members on the campus.
