CHAMPIONSHIP OF THE WEST DEPENDS ON TONIGHT'S GAME

Wisconsin and Minnesota Will Meet in Whitwinds Basket Ball Game

Standing of the teams.

Team	W.	L.	P.	C.
Minnesota	6	3	1	393
Wisconsin	5	3	1	388
Chicago	3	2	2	382
Illinois	7	2	5	377
Purdue	5	1	4	372

The Basketball championship of the West.

This is the stake for which the game tonight will be played. Minnesota and Wisconsin, each with the first place play their last conference game of the season. Either to the Gophers or to their old time rivals, the champion honors will go, according to the result of the contest on the Armory floor this evening.

It will probably be the most exciting game seen on the home floor for years. Both teams are evenly matched. Their style of play is the same, in that each team uses the short quick pass, and every man gets into the play.

In addition to this, the rules permit much rougher play than was the case in the past. The Gophers are the biggest and heaviest team in the league this play suits them.

But as the gophers have never shown themselves absolutely helpless and defenseless in this line, it is expected that the playing will be vigorous at times.

The Badgers have the advantage of superior stature and catching their opponents in poor physical condition. For Capt. McKee's men have a collection of lame ankles, black eyes, broken noses, bruised sinews and other afflictions, that would discourage any but a Minnesota team. But the Varsity, being five-fifths pure grit doesn't mind little things and will go into the game to win.

Davis of Milwaukee will referee tonight. The teams will line up as follows:—

McRae, (Capt.) rt. for. Wood Clark rt. for. Larson Center. E. Larson Center. M. Larson lt. guard. Brown rt. guard.

A curtain-raiser between the East and South High teams will begin at 7:30. The first two rows of the gallery are reserved at 10c. Other seats being charged for the band informal following.

The Girls Glee club will sing.

DISCIPLES OF DEMOSTHENES MEET IN PILLSBURY CONTEST

Splendid Delivery and Preparation Characterizes Work of Orators

- Lucile Wey First
- O. B. Flinders Second
- Fanny Filgelman Third

These were the prizes awarded in the Pillsbury Oratorical contest last night.

From start to finish, intense interest was taken in the event. Without exception, the subjects were thoroughly practical and were delivered with a spirit and eloquence which made the contest very close.

Magnus Ayyarn on "The Democracy of John Marshall" was the first speaker. He discussed the work of Marshall in his judicial capacity and the clash between the North and South over the question of sovereign power, whether it should be vested in the state or the federal government. He handled his subject in a masterly style and spoke with a vigor and enthusiasm that aroused lively interest in the audience.

Fanny Filgelman, the second speaker delivered her oration with all the grace and eloquence which has ever characterized her work in this field. Her subject was, "Back to Democracy."

aiding the view that our country at the present time is riven by dissension, she said that the fault can only be corrected by a return to true democracy.

"The American crime" of lynching, was the subject taken up by John F. Sinclair. Mr. Sinclair made an excellent presentation of his view which he set forth in the words, "The basic principle of a successful government is respect for law and liberty." He showed that lynching is the result of defects in the administration and enforcement of law and he made a vigorous plea for remedying these defects.

O. B. Flinders followed with the subject, "John Marshall, Nation builder," a beautifully worded oration, showing a careful and scholarly preparation. His arguments dealt with the present day conditions, the troubles resulting from them and the settlement of such troubles by the application of Marshall's principles.

In the oration "Our Country's Call" J. E. Neffert discussed the education of the citizen. He said that the weakest points in our country and only through the agitation of reform and the education of the citizen can we hope to see a better government.

DR. FULDA SPEAKS MONDAY EVENING

OPPORTUNITY TO HEAR FAMOUS GERMAN POET AND DRAMATIST.

Noted Lecturer Will Talk on "Schiller and the Modern German Drama."—Lecture Tour Meeting with Unprecedented Success.

Dr. Ludwig Fulda, the poet-dramatist of Germany who lectures in chapel, Monday evening on "Schiller and the Modern German Drama" under the auspices of the German department, is making one of the most successful tours ever accomplished by any foreign lecturer. He came to this country originally, simply to stage one of his plays in New York, but requests from all over the country to hear him lecture, were so numerous that he decided to make a lecture trip.

Dr. Fulda is one of the most prominent literary figures in Germany. He has produced many notable romantic comedies, including, "The Talisman," "The Son of Caliph," "The Sisters," "The Lost Paradise" and "Friends of Youth" and has greatly aided ushering in the new spirit of romanticism into German literature.

Dr. Fulda's personality is pleasant. He is affable and unassuming. His stature is small, and with his clear cut profile and intellectual face, he presents the appearance of a true litterateur.

If ever there was an occasion when a team needed the undivided and lusty support of the students of the college which it represents, it is tonight, when the varsity quintette will battle against the badger for championship honors.

It is the grand climax of a successful season in which the team by a series of heart-breaking contests has fought its way to the top and is now in the act of grasping the laurel wreath.

Their success depends much on the support which they get from the student body.

The armory should be packed to its utmost capacity by the loyal supporters of the team. And moreover every man and woman there should consider it his or her duty to root.

Rooting at basket-ball games is a new thing for us, but at other colleges it is as old as the hills.

It was the cheering of the cardinal supporters that helped much towards winning the last game for Wisconsin at Madison.

It may be the rooting of the Gophers that will help win the game, and the championship tonight.

Real rooting—that's what we mean—given altogether with volume! Just brush up your last fall's enthusiasm and rehearse this little ditty.

"Rah! Rah! Rah! Ski-U-Mah! Minnesota!" It sounds great in the armory.

But the way someone suggests that it is about time for us to lose that old "what's-his-name? who-is-he?, whom-did-you-say? business. It was all right when the "U" was in the high school class, but it sounds rather out of place now.

Nine "rahs" and the player's name seems the proper thing.

MAY WIN PRIZES.

Two of Miss Clopath's pictures in the State Art Society exhibit at the State Capital are worthy of especial notice. They are "Twilight" and "The Willow Pond."

The former is remarkable for its softness of tone and harmony of coloring and is done in Raphael. In the foreground is a hay stack tinted purple and with the dark green of the trees in the background the effect is very pleasing.

"The Willow Pond," shows a wierd willow tree bending over a pond in which it is reflected. Miss Clopath's work shows a delicate technique and a facility in seizing upon strange effects and unusual colorings. All her pictures are noteworthy and have a good chance of winning one of the prizes.

ON THE PRESS.

The Medic Annual is being rushed off the "Index Press" and will be out on time.

No more books will be printed than are subscribed for.

The annual's long suit will be its artistic features. Its editors say that the numerous etchings and cuts which it contains are of exceptional merit.

MEN'S TOURNEY POSTPONED.

Big Preparations for Big Basket-ball Mixup.

On account of the Nebraska games on the 23rd and 24th of March, the boy's basket-ball tournament will be postponed.

To arrange for the details of the tournament, such as date and referees the managers and captains of the different teams will meet with Dr. Cook in his office at 2:45 today.

There has been some discussion as to whether the class tournament and the department tournament should be held on the same night or not. This will be decided at the meeting today. Every team should have a representative at that meeting.

Fifteen minute halves will be played in all games.

TAKE TRIP TOGETHER.

Men's and Girls' Glee Clubs Would Combine Forces.

A joint trip to some nearby town is being planned by the members of the Girls' and Boy's Glee Clubs.

This is the outcome of the enjoyable rehearsals which the two organizations have had together recently. Probably an engagement for the joint engagement will be secured at Stillwater.

Such a trip would be the first of the kind in the history of the two organizations.

The Clubs have been busy all this week in preparation for their appearance at the Basket-ball game tonight, when several new songs will be sung for the first time.

LAW PROFS WILL NOT ESCAPE LASH.

Another bit of news regarding the Law department's section of this year's Gopher has just leaked out.

The report is to the effect that practically every man in the class is going to be handed out a "slam" and some of the more favored ones, two and three apiece.

The editorial committee in charge of the Law's contribution, has been giving their undivided attention to these individual "grinds" of late, many of which are said to be so fierce that the committee is going to band together for mutual protection, in case any of the recipients should make personal and physical objection to the way they have been characterized.

The faculty caricatures have already been completed but the committee are not worrying any as to consequences following from them, for tho they are fully as fierce as those on the students, yet the Law Faculty in their part have always taken these little sallies with greater equanimity and good nature than do their charges, or the Profs in the other departments. Consequently, the editors felt assured that there will be no danger of their cracks at the faculty being taken seriously.

The committee expects to have between ten and twelve pages in the annual assigned to the Law department so that they are not being hampered by lack of space.

A number of sketches by John Gleason and other artists among Dean Pattee's proteges, are now being prepared and will do much to liven up literary portions.

All told, the Laws feel confident that some of the other departments will have to hurry some if they do not intend to be outdone.
