DR. NOTESTEIN TO LEAVE MINNESOTA FOR CORNELL "U"

History Professor Accepts Eastern Offer Carrying Research Opportunity

DEAN WULLING SAYS HE WILL NOT LEAVE POST

Declines Position With Chemical Company For Life Work Here.

Wallace Notestein, professor of history at the university, has accepted the position of professor of history at Cornell university, offered him by the board of trustees of that institution at their last meeting. Professor Notestein will leave Minnesota in June and will take up his new duties at Cornell in the fall.

The reason for his going was not the additional financial inducement of the new position, but rather that less time for class work would be required, allowing him more time in which to indulge in research and study. Professor Notestein said yesterday.

Came to Minnesota in 1908.

Dr. Notestein was born at Wooster, Ohio, December 18, 1879, and is the son of J. O. Notestein, professor of Latin in Wooster college, and a nephew of Professor James Wallace, of Macalester. He took his B. A. degree at Wooster college in 1900, his M. A. at Yale in 1903, and his Ph. D. at Yale in 1908. During 1905-07 he taught English history at the University of Kansas and came to Minnesota in the autumn of 1908 as instructor in history. He became assistant professor in 1910, associate professor in 1914 and professor in 1917.

During the war Professor Notestein was at first connected with the committee on public information as research assistant and from there went in December of 1917 to the "Inquiry" of the state department, an organization formed by Colonel House, to prepare the material for the American peace commissioners. He was taken to Paris as one of the American experts during the peace negotiations and served there as chief of the division on the subject of Germany. He has taught modern English history at the University of Minnesota, and has published the following books: A History of English Witchcraft, Source Problems in English History (with A. B. White), Conquest and Kultur (with E. E. Stoll), and has written articles and reviews for the American Historical Review, the Political Science Quarterly, "History," the Historical Outlook, the Yale Review, and the Atlantic Monthly.

Dean Wulling Declines Offer.

Refusal of the offer made by an eastern chemical manufacturer for the services of Dean F. J. Wulling, head of the college of pharmacy, was explained yesterday in a letter received from Dr. Wulling.

"I have just refused the offer," stated the dean. "Some of my business friends think I have made a mistake. From my standpoint, however, the only advantage of the offered position is the considerably larger salary it carries. For any sum of money alone, however, I could not enter fields in which I could not do work that I would regard at least as equivalent and parallel to the kind of work I am now doing."

Life Work Here.

"Without equal opportunities for affirmative work and services I could not give up what has so far been my life work here at the university, where I have had and hope to continue to have opportunities for constructive work for my calling and for myself. Next to my family, the college of pharmacy, with which I have been so intimately connected for almost 28 years has my heart and paramount interest."

Daily Planning To Give Staff Party

The Daily staff is planning a big party for the evening of Tuesday, March 16. All who have been on the staff at any time this year are invited. The entertainment committee consists of Glenn Bruce, chairman; Lawrence S. Clark, Virginia Owen, Jessica Becker, Norris Darrel, and W. G. MacLean. They are making arrangements for a lively frolic, including plenty of stunts and dancing.

Men Singers Wanted

Glee Club Will Hold Tryouts Today to Fill Vacancies in Tenor Parts.

Tryouts for the University men's glee club will be held this afternoon from 3:00 to 4:30 at the music building. There are a number of vacancies in the first and second tenor sections, and any one possessing a tenor voice and having had some experience is urged to try out.

The club has made two trips this year, and others are being planned. A trip will be made to Waseca shortly after the opening of the next quarter.

Faculty Women's Club To Give Vaudeville

Mothers' Section of Organization to Present Performance Friday and Saturday

Arrangements for the vaudeville performance to be staged at the Little Theatre on the evenings of March 5 and 6 by the mothers section of the faculty women's club are nearly complete.

The three dramatic clubs on the campus which are each contributing a playlet have completed their casts. Miss MacNaughton, who is dramatic director for the acts of the vaudeville, says that rehearsals are going forward rapidly and that the whole performance is to be one of the best of the year on the campus.

The "Maker of Dreams," which the Masquers are giving is to be staged in a setting of black and white, a dainty background quite in keeping with the delicate fantasy of the play. The cast includes: Maker of Dreams, Dorothy Anderson; Pierrette, Edith Sondergaard, and Pierrot, Paul Nelson.

Miss Frances Donnelly is assisting in the coaching of the play.

The Players club is to give the comedy-skit "Suppressed Desires," for which the authors, George Cram and Susan Glaspel have very kindly waived their royalty rights. The cast: Henrietta, Bernice Marsolais; Mabel, Dora Hanna; Stephen, Arthur Motley, and Miss Rose Schefrin is assistant coach of the play.

The Garrick club, which is giving Lord Dunsany's "A Night at an Inn," has made a change of cast. William Treng will take the leading part of the "Toll." The cast will be:

A. E. Scott-Fortescue (The Toll), William Treng; William Jones (Bill), Preston Holliday; Albert Thomas, Wendell Warner; Jacob Smith (Sniggers), Reman Bohnen; First Priest of Klesh, Robert Fuller; Second Priest of Klesh, Norris Darrel; Third Priest of Klesh, Henry Poehler and Idol Klesh, Condyon Jones.

Those who intend to go and who have not yet bought tickets are urged to do so at once as the house is nearly sold out for both performances. Tickets may be secured for 50 cents at the Co-op, Shevlin hall, and from the sororities.

Kappa Rho To Hold Open Meeting Friday

Annual Program Postponed Because of Influenza to Be Presented in Shevlin Hall.

Kappa Rho Literary society will hold its annual open meeting at 8 p. m., Friday, in Shevlin hall. The meeting was to have been held last month but was postponed until this week, because of the influenza prevalent on the campus at that time.

An attractive program has been planned by the program committee, and the evening's entertainment will include dancing and refreshments. A mock oratorical contest, original stories, a short skit and other numbers will make up the program to be presented by members of the society.

All the other literary societies on the main and agricultural campuses and all other persons interested in the activities of the organization have been invited to attend the meeting.

HOCKEY CHAMPIONSHIP.

The hockey team of the college of engineering will meet the seven of the dental college at 4:30 P. M. in play for the intramural championship of the university.

Siberian To Speak On Russian Politics

Boris F. Balmakov to Address Y. M. C. A. on "Political Situation in Russia."

Boris F. Balmakov, former Russian officer and banker, has been secured to speak on the "Political Situation in Russia," tonight at the Minnesota Union. Mr. Balmakov, after his study in Russia, was at work in England when the war broke out. He returned and fought in the First Siberian division throughout Russia's active participation and after the revolution engaged in Y. M. C. A. work in Armenia and Archangel until coming to America a few months ago.

He is now studying American conditions preparatory to returning to his home land. Since landing in New York, Mr. Balmakov has spent most of his time in Minneapolis at the various branches of the Y. M. C. A. and is now connected for two weeks with the university association, expecting to see a typical American university in operation.

Mr. Balmakov speaks tonight at the regular monthly open meeting of the Y. M. C. A. In addition Miles McNally, a Minnesota alumnus, is going to lead in singing. Other entertainment has been provided.

The university association through its executive secretary, Cyrus P. Barnum, issues an invitation to all men to attend this meeting.

The meeting will be in the West room of the Minnesota Union, promptly at eight o'clock.

Forensic League Holds Semi-Finals

Blanket Tax to be Discussed by Forum and Philomatheans on March 10.

Resolved, That the University of Minnesota should adopt a blanket tax to include intercollegiate athletics, the Daily, the Gopher, the all-university council, forensics, and any other activity which shall be added at the discretion of the board of regents," will be the proposition for debate in the semi-finals of the annual Forensic League debate, when the Forum literary society meets the Philomatheans Wednesday, March 8, in the Administration building at the agricultural campus. The winning team will meet the Shakopeans in the finals on March 10.

Sophomores Issue Vaudeville Call

Will Conduct Tryouts Today for Second Year Co-ed Singers and Dancers.

Sophomore girls of the academic college will try out for parts in the miniature musical comedy which is the academics' contribution to the annual sophomore vaudeville, at 4 p. m. today, in the ball room of the Minnesota Union. Each girl will be required to do a little dancing as well as some singing.

Carlyle Scott, university music department, and Ray Davidson, will be judges of the singing and Leslie Irvin will judge the dancing. Previous experience will count very little in the judging, present ability being most desired. Including the chorus, there are 30 parts open to women. All girls who can dance or sing, and want to compete for parts should be on hand promptly at 4 p. m.

Students Write Play.

The musical comedy is two acts in length and was written by Thomas Gallagher and Francis Kitzman, of the law school. Since many types of character are represented there is an opportunity for the expression of a wide range of talent.

GREEK ORGANIZATIONS REACH FINALS IN BASKETBALL PLAY.

The first game of the finals in the interfraternity basketball schedule will be played Friday night in the armory, when the Phi Gam quint will tackle the Sigma Phi Epsilon five. Both teams are holders of first honors in their sections. The Sigma Phi stars are Bailor, holding a record of 23 baskets out of 27 free throws; Partidge and Junke. The Phi Gams will be represented by "Doc" Platou, Dart, McClintock, Coulter, Tomasek and Johnston.

State Editors Favor School Of Journalism

Pass Resolutions and Point Out Need of New Department at the University.

Resolutions favoring the establishment of school of journalism at the University of Minnesota were passed by a unanimous vote at the closing session of the annual convention of the State Editorial association at the West hotel. The association will ask the board of regents to take action as soon as possible.

H. C. Hotelling, editor of the Blue Earth County Enterprise, chairman of the standing committee on journalism, pointed out the necessity for a school of journalism. He declared that ultimately the university must establish such a school in order to take advantage of a large bequest provided for in the will of the late W. J. Murphy, former owner of the Minneapolis Tribune.

Journalism Students Guests. "I predict that there will be a school of journalism at the university in four years," said Mr. Hotelling.

Journalism students of the university were guests of the Minneapolis Tribune at the annual banquet of the State Editorial association Friday night. About 500 editors and their wives from all parts of the state were there. Features of the evening were vaudeville acts during the banquet, and inspiring speeches on Americanism by Rome G. Brown, president of the Minneapolis Tribune company; J. S. McLain, editor of the Tribune; A. Wallace, president of the editorial association; and J. R. Landy, of the Olivia Times. A dance was given after the banquet.

Masquers Begin Work On Play; Plan Trip

Fred Smith to Have Charge of Staging—Mary Holton Handling Publicity.

Committees for the coming Masquer production of Percy McKay's eastern romance, "A Thousand Years Ago," which will be given March 12 and 13, have been appointed and are to begin work at once. Fred Smith, whose work in staging and costuming has created much favorable comment, is chairman of the costuming and designing committee. Working with him are Francis Donnelly, Gertrude Herman, Harold King, and Bernice Langtry. They are preparing a new draped stage setting for the play similar to the most modern sets.

Mary Holton is in charge of publicity for the play and is assisted by Mildred Gray, Robert Ahern, George Hollenbeck, Richard Gilliland, and Francis Hollenbeck. They are designing posters and preparing press notices which will be used for the road trip. A system of organized publicity will be used in the various towns in the itinerary and will provide a much better chance for advertising the play in the state, members of the organization believe.

Programs Prepared.

Two programs, one for the trip and one for local use are being prepared by Henry Fossen, program committee chairman. This is another innovation in campus dramatic activities. By them the public in the towns where the play is staged will be informed as to the achievements of the club in the staging of dramatic successes. The idea is similar to that used by the extension departments in times past, but will be enlarged upon according to Mr. Fossen, who is being assisted by Max Freitag, Helen Rupert, Marie Callahan and Reine Pino.

"U" HAMLINITES TO HAVE LUNCHEON IN UNION.

The association of former Hamlinites will hold its quarterly get-together and luncheon at the Men's Union next Thursday evening, March 4. It is the purpose of this organization which is composed of former students of the Midway college, to give assistance to students coming from Hamline, and provide some social activity. At the present time there are over 100 former students of Hamline at Minnesota.

Mr. E. B. Pierce, registrar, will address the association on the subject of the relations of a small college to the university, which will be followed by a short program.

It is especially desired that all former Hamlinites and friends be present as a matter of important business will be presented. Plates 75 cents. Reserve through Victor Alberg, box 6739.

Juniors Seek Offices

All-University Council to Receive Petitions of Candidates to Social Honors.

Nominations for officers for the junior ball, the leading social event of the university year, must be in the hands of the All-University council by Friday, March 5. Officers to be elected are the president, vice president, secretary and treasurer. In order for a candidate for any of these offices to have his name placed upon the ballot, it is necessary that a petition signed by 25 members of the junior class and accompanied by 50 cents for defraying election expenses be placed in the hands of the All-University council by Friday. Only juniors may vote for or hold these offices.

Among those who are expected to have their names on the ballot March 10 are: Arnold Oss, Harold Nesbit, Harold King, George Schurr, and Kenneth Owen.

Petitions are being circulated for others, and a lengthy ballot will undoubtedly be in evidence when the vote is cast a week from tomorrow.

Y.W.C.A. Hears Talk On Minimum Wage

Miss Eliza Evans, Explains Law Providing for Living Wage on 48-Hour Week Basis.

"The theory back of the minimum wage law is that every person who works is worth a living wage," declared Miss Eliza Evans, at the Y. W. C. A. meeting yesterday afternoon. "By a minimum wage we mean an amount adequate to cover all the essentials of life—food, clothing, shelter, and recreation."

Miss Evans, who is secretary of the state minimum wage commission, explained that, under the law, power is given to a commission to set this living wage on the basis of a 48-hour week. In addition, a girl must be paid for all over time work which she does. Employers throughout the state have bitterly fought this latter clause, and the question of its legality is now in the courts.

"According to Miss Evans there are only 18 states in the country which have minimum wage laws to protect their workers.

"The need for such legislation," concluded Miss Evans, "is evident, when we consider that right here in our own state there are employers who pay their girls only three or four dollars per week, in spite of the present high cost of living."

Next Monday will be the last of the industrial meetings conducted by the Y. W. C. A. At this meeting Mrs. W. F. Decker will talk on "The Student and the Industrial Problem."

Bishop McElwain To Speak At Chapel

Will Address Bi-Weekly Lenten Service in Little Theatre Tomorrow Noon.

Bishop McElwain will speak at chapel tomorrow noon at 12:30 in the Little Theatre. This is one of the regular Wednesday and Friday noon services, which will be conducted throughout the entire Lenten season. Bishop McElwain will also speak on Friday, March 5.

After the chapel on Wednesday, he will be the guest of the University Episcopalian club at a luncheon at 1 o'clock in the Coffee Shop, Fourteenth avenue southeast. The luncheon could not be held in either the Minnesota Union or Shevlin hall because there were no rooms that could be reserved.

At the first meeting of the club at the home of Reverend C. W. Read, rector of the Holy Trinity church, more than 75 students attended. Kenneth Hinks was elected president of the club and a social committee was appointed which is planning frequent social gatherings for the club.

All members who expect to be present for the 40c lunch at the Coffee Shop tomorrow should notify Warwick McClure, P. O. 2290.

BUSINESS BASKETBALL MEN.

All men registered in school of business or taking pre-business work in academic college interested in forming a basketball team, are asked to meet in room 202, mechanics arts, at 12:25 today.

WASHINGTON "U" HEAD SPEAKS ON TEACHING IDEALS

Dr. Henry Suzzallo Presents "Standards of Professional Life"

EDUCATION COURSE FIRST OF KIND AT MINNESOTA

Arranged by Dean Coffman, Second Lecture in Armory This Afternoon

"The teaching profession is pre-eminently a social service and we must not focus too much attention on how to get a living," Dr. Henry Suzzallo, president of the University of Washington, told students and faculty of the college of education at the first of a series of five lectures on teaching, in the Little Theatre yesterday afternoon. The other lectures of the series will be given one each day during the week and will constitute a short course in education offered by the college of education.

There are four standards for the teaching profession, social service, ethical co-operation, expert service and a dealing with fundamental human interests, according to Dr. Suzzallo.

"We are becoming too professionalized. We must not focus too much attention on how to get a living," Dr. Suzzallo said. "In every profession we are dealing with such fundamental human interests that no man has the right to enter the profession unless he is willing to count the chance of constant changes in that profession."

Demands Crushing Education. "New demands, social and economic, are crushing the profession of education in America," said Dr. Suzzallo, yesterday, on his arrival in Minneapolis. "Unless economic remuneration is provided in proportion to the recent demands—and at once—the institution of education will be wholly destroyed."

The recruiting of the right kind of people into educational work was characterized by Dr. Suzzallo as of fundamental importance to the nation. He stated that it could not be done unless salaries sufficient to meet the bare economic needs of instructors are furnished.

Salary, according to Dr. Suzzallo, is the most pressing need of the profession, for a professor must receive enough pay to eliminate financial worries, which are distracting and weakening to the entire institution of education.

First Course Conducted. Dr. Suzzallo was chairman of the National Metal Trades board of arbitration in Washington during the latter period of the war and during the general strike in Washington a year ago. He was selected as personal advisor to the governor.

The short course in education being conducted this week was arranged last fall with Dr. Suzzallo by Dean Lotus D. Coffman, of the college of education. It is the first experiment of this kind in the college, according to Dr. Coffman. The course is given for the students and faculty of the college of education and Twin City teachers have been invited to attend the lectures. The lecture this afternoon will be given in the armory.

"U" Foresters To Stage Minstrel Show

Vim, Vigor, and Vitality to Characterize Performance to Be Given Next Friday.

Small, but oh my! That is what you'll say of the foresters after you have seen their minstrel show. The college of forestry is small compared to other schools of the university, but it is the very essence of "vim, vigor and vitality." In their performance next Friday night they are going to prove that they are the liveliest group of students in the university.

If you can take Professor Cheney's word for it this is going to be no commonplace minstrel show; no ring of dark faced clowns is going to waste valuable time pulling old wheezes about the faculty and others. This is a modern, up-to-date production well worthy of the attention of a 1920 audience.

The place is the "Ag" auditorium, main building, "Ag" campus. The time is 8:00 p. m. next Friday.

LET'S PLAY POLITICS.

The university national nominating convention will be a great chance for playing politics. It will be then that the born politician whose machinations in class elections, Gopher elections, and such events, are so frowned upon, will come into his own. Not only that, but those who never have played politics will join in the game. We think that when the time of the convention rolls around the man or woman on the campus who isn't playing politics will be lost among the rest of us.

There are some who, upon hearing that a nominating convention would be held, expressed the fear that it would end up in the same old game of politics. Of course it will. That is the reason we are having the convention. It will teach students at the university how a national nominating convention is run, how a platform is adopted, how the rules are formulated, how a temporary chairman is selected, the importance of his position, and how the candidates are actually nominated. They will learn something of the working of practical politics at a convention by actually playing politics themselves. It is the one time on the campus that any trade, combination, secret alliance, or anything of the kind will be not only permissible, but laudable. If a fraternity, sorority or any organization, can manage to get one of their number in control of the delegation of a sufficient number of states, to swing the convention, let it go ahead. If the backers of candidate "A" can give some of the sorority delegates a spread down at the Oak Tree, it is all permissible. The way to stop the other fellow in his game of politics, is to get out and play the game yourself. If he pulls three aces out of his sleeve, maybe you can extract a royal flush from yours. It is all in the game, and the more that play the merrier.

DEAN WULLING REMAINS AT THE UNIVERSITY.

It is decidedly fortunate for the university that it numbers among its faculty men like Dean Wulling who put service above pecuniary reward. If it were not for that, our faculty would soon leave us for most of them can obtain much greater salaries in the commercial world. If there was anything needed to bring this fact home to the university community, the offer made Dean Wulling by an eastern corporation filled that need. Offered a salary double his present one, it would have been only human nature for the Dean to accept this offer. A member of the faculty, like other men, needs money on which to live, and if he has a family, he must support it just as other men must. The university was naturally anxious lest it lose the man who had served it for 28 years, but there was nothing that could be done. The regents held a meeting, but they could not vote him money they did not have. When informed of their decision, Dean Wulling remarked that he didn't see how they could have done otherwise under the circumstances.

After long consideration of the offer Dr. Wulling has now turned it down saying that his paramount interest next to his family was with the College of Pharmacy, and that, for money alone, he could not enter fields in which he felt his services would be less useful than here at the university. We hope that he will never have cause to regret this decision and that he may find in the satisfaction of service rendered, some little compensation for the sacrifice that he has made.

The incident will not be without its good results, if it increases our determination to see to it that a teacher gets a financial reward somewhat commensurate with the service he renders.

WOMEN ON THE ALL-U COUNCIL.

Section 2 under article 3 of the proposed constitution of the All-University council guarantees a place for women on the council. The section as revised reads:

"There shall be one representative from each college, provided that each college having a total of 400 students of which 30 per cent or more are women shall be entitled to two representatives, one woman and one man. The representative receiving the most votes shall sit as president of the student governing body of that college."

It is interesting to note in connection with the coming vote on the ratification of this new constitution the following editorial entitled "Women on the Council" which appeared in the December 16 issue of the Daily.

"The committee, which has drawn up the proposed constitution for the Student Council of the university met yesterday and voted that the women should have the right of representation on the council. In the first place no very good reason could be found why they should not have representation, and the only way to give it to them was to change the constitution and put them on an equal basis with the men.

A council pretending to represent all the students is only a pretense if it excludes any of the student body, and so fails in one of its essentials. It is undemocratic if it disqualifies any part of its membership from representation. The women believe they can represent themselves better than they can be represented by men.

"The only theory which might be advanced in favor of keeping the women from the council would be that women students are not as interested in university affairs as the men, or are not as competent to sit in deliberation over matters affecting these affairs. In the light shed by the history of student enterprises, this should have little weight.

"It is possible that Minnesota is the only university which will have women on its student council. But it should be a matter of pride to the University of Minnesota that its students are courteous enough and broad-minded enough to recognize that everyone in college is on the same plane. It should be a matter of pride that the ridiculous and childish distinction between men and women which is said to be increasing in other co-educational institutions, has no place at Minnesota."

Most of us will agree with the English school boy who wrote in an examination paper that in the United States people were often killed by elocution.

The latest popular version of the old game of taking money out of one pocket and putting it in another will be furnished by the soldier who pays a tax so that he can get a bounty.

Communication

This column is conducted for the benefit of readers desiring to present their views on all subjects of interest to the University. All communications must be signed as evidence of sincerity, but names will be withheld if desired. While the Daily does not hold itself responsible for the contents of its communications, all such material must pass through the hands of the Managing Editor and should be so addressed.

To the Editor of the Daily:

The juniors and seniors of the academic college who were unable to attend the dinner of the Academic Underclassmen's association Wednesday night, missed a real treat in the discussion of a varsity crew. The presentation of the subject was so acceptable that there was not a single dissenting opinion expressed to the proposition that the association boost the crew to the limit, starting at once.

It is not the purpose of this communication to analyze the problem of the establishment of such a sport here at Minnesota. The aim is rather to ask every one who claims to be interested in an up-to-date and going U. of M. to think and act upon the suggestions he may read in the Minnesota Daily upon the subject, in the next few weeks. It is a fact that we students can get what we want here if we only want it strongly enough; that is, in large enough numbers. The blanket tax is one such want. Why should the establishment of a crew not be another?

Seniors, especially, will be pleased to think that a real commencement may mark their last year here, with such an event as an intercollegiate regatta on the river, with the finishing line in front of a grand stand on the "Flats." Juniors may be able to have their names passed on to college generations yet unborn, as members of the first crew, say the one to defeat Wisconsin. Underclassmen should be able to plan now for crew work in another year. Thus all of us may be able to get more and more out of our college lives. This includes the women, too, for without them frankly this campus would not be the attractive, inspiring wholesome place to live in that it is. Nothing worth while goes on, but what they are doing all of their share and then some. There is every reason to believe that they will help to put the crew on its feet, too.

But its up to the men to start things. There are dozens of worth while things lacking support because members of committees leave everything to the chairmen, who consequently either haven't time to do both their school and their committee work right or else lose interest because of the failure of others to stand by. Why may not each student, especially each man of the upper classes, select some one activity, outside of his lessons and his fraternity life, to do real, constructive work on?

Early Daily publications will contain the varsity crew "dope," first hand, from the man best qualified to direct our plans. Let's read, learn, and "boost" unreservedly this possibility for a bigger, better Minnesota!

TRACK PRIMER FOR TEA DANCES

Note—Since men of the university have overcome the handicaps put over them by tea dancers and will force their weaker-kneed brothers to stay away from the sorority dance and attend the meet today, we have compiled the following definitions: No longer need the tea hound say that he stays away from the meets because he does not know why the men are running around so much. Read this and be enlightened.

DASH—Something separating one word from another. What sprinters make for the hash house at the end of an eleven o'clock.

GOPHERS UPSET DOPE IN WIN OVER BADGERS

Minnesota Team Comes Back in Battle With Wisconsin Tossers

MAROON AND GOLD FIVE IN BEST FORM OF SEASON

Madison Men Dazed in First Half—Show Fight in Last Half

Minnesota's basketball quint provided the latest conference upset at the expense of the Wisconsin five last Saturday night to the tune of 32 to 26. When the Gophers started the game with Oss on the sidelines, another Gopher defeat looked likely, but after Wisconsin had scored the first point on a free throw by Taylor, Capt. Lawler's men got busy and proceeded to tear into the Cardinals. Minnesota scored seven points before the dazed Badgers recovered sufficiently to get another free throw. Then the home team got busy again and ran the score up to 16 before Taylor managed to make the first field basket for Wisconsin. During this time the Gophers were playing with great pep, dribbling well and generally managing to pull the Badger guards away from the basket. Wisconsin towards the end of the half managed to get their floor offense started, but had difficulty in locating the hoop.

The second half found the Badgers in a fighting mood. They played a good combination game on offense and slowly pulled up on the Gophers. Oss was rushed into the fray and immediately started a new offensive drive or Minnesota, which culminated in a basket after he had dribbled around most of the Wisconsin team. He tired quickly, however, and Wisconsin again began pulling up but whenever they came within striking distance, the Gophers put on a burst of speed and pulled away again. Hammer and McMillan were sent in to relieve Oss

GIRLS!! ATTENTION!
A big "pep" meeting for all university girls is being arranged by the W. A. A. for Friday noon, March 5, in the games room of the woman's gymnasium. As the main purpose of the meeting is to rehearse class yells and songs, and rouse spirit for the coming basketball tournament, each girl owes it to her class to come out and help boost.
Time: 12:30 Friday noon, March 5.
Place: Games room, woman's gym.

and McDonald and though both showed drive on the floor, they were unable to locate the basket, "Tack" missing two easy ones just after he was sent in.

The Minnesota five showed the best form of the season and until some of the men who were in poor condition slowed up, put up a fast article of ball. The team play was the best they have displayed this season. The dribble was well used, and generally it was sufficient to force a Cardinal guard out of position, so that an opening was presented for an easy shot. Arntson was the big scorer. The little forward seemed to be all over the floor at once, busting into Wisconsin plays, and following this with shifty dribbles that the Badgers found hard to solve. He entered the team play at all times. McDonald was also in the limelight until severely jolted by a hard spill. The work of the Gopher guards was a feature. Kearney displayed his usual fighting game. "Micky" Lawler ended his conference basketball at Minnesota with one of his best games. Assigned to cover Knapp, he kept the Wisconsin star practically out of the playing entirely and in addition got two baskets himself.

SOPHOMORE DEBATERS WIN.

The sophomores defeated the freshmen in a debate last Friday night on the government food control question. The winners are to receive the Frank H. Peavy prize of $100. There was an open forum discussion after the debate in which the debaters were called on to present arguments.

The judges were Professor Wright, department of political science; Professor Dickinson, school of business; Professor Rarig, of the rhetoric department. The winners are Sylvester Meyers, Jennie Wall and Frank Hant.

HOTEL RADISSON

SEVENTH ST. NEAR NICOLLET AVENUE

MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.

March 2, 1920.

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE STUDENTS OF THE UNIVERSITY

Upon the request of numerous students the Hotel Radisson Management has apportioned a section of the Assembly Room to the students of the University and their friends.

In all of the eastern college towns the students have a common after-the-theater meeting place and it is the purpose of the Hotel Radisson Company in reserving the Assembly Room to establish an overtown meeting place where University of Minnesota students may come together for a bite to eat and for a dance or two.

Announcements of special feature programs will appear in the Minnesota Daily.

Upon the presentation of introductory cards (obtainable at the Hotel office, at the University fraternities, and at the Minnesota Daily office) the head waiter will assign your party tables in the University section.

To reach the Assembly room take the elevator to the first floor. Let this be your after-the-theater slogan, "Let's go up to the Radisson".

Yours very truly,

THE HOTEL RADISSON COMPANY

POWERS Variety, Style, Newness In Our Spring Suits

A misses' suit through and through—with the short rippled peplum, the narrow belt—and the closely set loops that fasten the jacket way up to the neck. Navy tricotine. $59.50

You'll adore the way that gay bit of lining persists in showing through the loops of the peplum on this model—and think how becoming the extended hip effect will be to the slender miss. Blue tricotine. $89.50

The narrow tabs with buttons on the ends of each hanging over the flaring peplum lend to this suit a style all its own—and decidedly smart. Blue tricotine. $79.50

Several rows of braid on the flare peplum, which, by the way, is of splendid length for the average woman, button trimming and a long collar make this suit of navy tricotine a very smart model. $69.50

Spring, 1920, has been wonderfully liberal in its latitude of suit styles—in fact, there is no set style, but there is newness aplenty.

For the miss there's the very much rippled jacket with the rather short peplum, the Eton effects, the straight line box effect (a stunning model with inserts of cord tuckings you'll find hard to resist) and the jacket with extended hip lines.

And as widely different are the suits for matron—from the strictly tailored model, through the varying types of flaring peplums, some with braid and buttons and the narrow belt and others very plain.

Navy blue is decidedly the color and tricotine the material. A wonderful variety awaits you at $59.50, $69.50, $79.50, $89.50. Some at lower prices and others more give a wide selection.
