The group will play Haydn's "Divertimento in B flat," Beethoven's "Quintet in E flat, Opus 71" and other selections by Rossini, Bartok, Piere, Moussorgsky, Debussy and Ibert. Members of the quintet, who organized in 1946 as alumni of Serge Koussevitzky's Tanglewood sessions, are, left to right, Ralph Gromberg, oboe; Samuel Baron, flute; Raymond Alonge, horn; Wallace Shapiro, clarinet; Bernard Garfield, bassoon. This will be the first of the second summer session series of free public concerts, sponsored by the department of concerts and lectures.

Vets in Service Keep Eligibility

Veterans who are called to active duty with the armed forces will not forfeit their remaining GI bill eligibility time, a bureau of veterans' affairs official announced yesterday.

They may re-enter school under the GI bill even though they do so after the terminal date—July 25, 1951. K. O. Almos, assistant to the director, said. One provision states that they must have initiated training and have been in good standing at the time they entered the service.

The veterans administration ruling also states that the veteran must return to school "within a reasonable period" after being released from active duty.

At this time it is assumed, said Almos, that the veteran will complete training by July 25, 1956, even though he has had a tour of active duty.

The ruling on the maintenance of eligibility status applies to all veterans. It makes no difference whether they volunteer, are called up by a reserve component or the national guard or are drafted, Almos said.

KUOM Increases News Broadcasts To 5 Every Day

KUOM radio station now broadcasts world news five times daily instead of the former three.

The Far-Eastern situation is responsible for this increased emphasis on keeping its listeners abreast of developments, according to Audrey June Booth, KUOM traffic and continuity supervisor.

Via a telephone connection with WLOL, Cecil Brown begins daily coverage at 10:30 a.m. Monday through Friday.

Similarly, through the courtesy of WTCN, Hilmar Robert Bauhage delivers the noon news Tuesday through Friday. Ray Christensen follows at 12:15 p.m. with Mid-day News Monday through Saturday.

Ralph Mauseth gives the news at 3:15 p.m. Monday through Friday, and the news day ends at 5 p.m. with Background of the News.

All Path, No Grath Shortcuts Obvious

You don't have to take a course in math to find out that the shortest distance between two points is a straight line—all you have to do is observe the lawn behind the physics building, the Mall, the Knoll and other areas on campus.

Shrubs, fences and "No Walking on the Grass" signs are ignored as good naturedly as summer issues of the Daily.

Wallace Blomquist, assistant supervising engineer, has several ideas for improving the situation. Fencing the area off with either rails or shrubbery, he believes, is the only way to keep students from walking across the lawn.

Another plan would be for engineers to construct the buildings, wait and see where the students walk and then build the sidewalks.

IT Graduates Reach 85% Employment

Minnesota engineers of the June graduating class, by setting a year record for finding jobs, have pulled a "quarterback sneak" on the United States bureau of labor statistics.

The bureau predicted that the 1950 national crop of engineer graduates, the largest in the country's history, would be confronted with fewer jobs and more men seeking them.

Since June, 85 per cent of spring technology graduates have been hired, Athelstan F. Spilhaus, dean of the institute of technology, said yesterday.

This placement is better than the prewar averages and has not been equaled except for the brief period following the close of the war.

"Near full employment can be expected soon," Spilhaus said.

Last year, only 60 per cent found jobs, he said.

On the national level, the manpower committee of the American Society for Engineering Education reported nearly the same figures for both this year and last.

It is expected, Dean Spilhaus said, that enrolment in the institute of technology will continue to decline while the demand for engineers will increase.

Now and in the future, he said, most products are and will be more complicated and will require more engineers in design and production.

California Professor To Talk on Loyalty Oath

Dr. Arthur H. Brayfield, assistant professor of psychology at the University of California, will speak at a luncheon meeting of Psi Chi, honorary psychology fraternity, at 12:30 p.m. Thursday in 351 Union.

He will discuss the significance of loyalty oaths.

Students Use Atom To Trace Tumors

Working with funds from the atomic energy commission, three University students are devising new methods for discovering and localizing brain tumors.

Wesley A. Brown, technology senior, and Vernon R. Withans and Douglas Kohl, graduate students, are working on the projects.

Kohl and Withans have perfected a multiple geiger counter which will detect brain tumors.

Radioactive dyes are injected into the patient in this process. The geiger counter picks up rays from the dyes which adhere to the brain tumor. The dyes cling more to brain tumors than to other parts of the brain.

Kohl is trying to improve on their original invention by seeking to quicken the geiger counter's detecting process.

Brown is working on a method by which ultra-sonic waves are injected into the brain, where they will rebound from the tumor. This process, which sometimes is used for detecting flaws in metals, is similar to radar.

The three technology majors are working with the medical school in their experiments.

'Dark Journey' To Show Wartime Spy Operations

Spy operations in wartime Stockholm provide the theme for the film, "Dark Journey," to be shown at 8:30 p.m. Monday in Northrop auditorium.

The film is a British production starring Vivian Leigh and produced by Victor Saville. Miss Leigh is cast as the proprietor of a dress shop who acts as an informant for the German secret service.

Authentic methods used by European spies were employed in the movie through the cooperation of the chief of Swedish police.

Students will be admitted for 10 cents upon presentation of their second summer session fee statements. General admission is 60 cents.

Three Austrian Students 'Missing'

Three Austrian students scheduled to study at the University during the second summer session, have "disappeared" enroute from their home country.

The three are what remain of an original group of 18. Visa difficulties in Austria have cancelled out the others, Elliot Baron, director of the local program for the students, said yesterday.

The three were scheduled to cable Baron by Wednesday from Montreal, Canada, as to their estimated time of arrival on campus. With the first week of the session nearly past, no word has been received.

Baron's committee, working under the International Research fund, Oxford, England, is responsible for accommodation and direction of the students while on campus. They had found volunteered food and lodgings for the 18 before word of the group's return was received.

The entire program is directed by Robert Johnston, University graduate and Rhodes scholar.

Six U Coeds Are in Aqua Queen Contest

Six University coeds are candidates in the 1950 Minneapolis Aquatennial queen contest.

But none of the girls are "University" candidates.

The contestants and their sponsors are Joann Houle, arts junior, Forest Lake; Mary Phillips, education junior, Navy recruiting office; Betsy D. Rand, general college senior, Minneapolis police department; Gloria Weir, dental hygiene senior, Hibbing; Sue Woodward, education sophomore, Edina Commercial club; Nancy Lou Peterson, arts sophomore, University institute of technology.

Miss Peterson was identified incorrectly yesterday by the Minneapolis Star as the University's entry in the contest. The University, as a whole, has no entry.

As 1950 E-day queen, she was entered by the E-day committee as the institute of technology's candidate, committee chairman Dick Wood explained yesterday.

The winner, to reign over the 1951 Aquatennial, will be chosen tonight from the total group of 38 candidates.

Admiral Scans Campus

Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz passed through campus at 3:16 p.m. yesterday on his tour of Minneapolis.

IMPROVEMENT IN SPEECH control is indicated by a voice recording made at the end of a seven-week speech therapy clinic for stutterers. Speaking into the mike is Kathy Younghusband, St. Mary's hall, Faribault, while Kenneth Iverson, Hampden, N.D., a University of North Dakota freshman, operates the recording machine. The clinic ended Wednesday with a demonstration where each participant gave a farewell speech stating what the clinic had done for him and how he felt on leaving.

13 Stutterers Record Speech Improvements

Comparisons of farewell speeches with "before" voice recordings were used to indicate the improvements in speech control of 13 stutterers at a demonstration Wednesday in 21 Shevlin hall.

The demonstration marked the end of a seven-week speech therapy clinic session. During that period the members of the group attended special classes six hours a day.

On the first day of the clinic each participant made a recording on which he gave his name, age and home town and recited a reading passage. This same procedure was repeated during one of the last sessions.

The latter recordings showed a marked reduction in the number and duration of speech interruptions, Dale Lundeen, senior speech clinician, said.

About 50 persons attended the demonstration yesterday and heard the records which were made at the beginning of the clinic. The stutterers accompanied their own recording, mimicking the facial contortions and other bodily movements which they remembered making when the records were cut.

Then, to show the improvement, the stutterers gave a farewell talk. They summarized what the clinic had done for them and their impressions on leaving.

After the demonstration, conferences were held with parents of the stutterers who attended to give them a better understanding of stuttering and the problems it involves.

The 13 participants represented various sections of the Midwest, including Chicago, South Dakota, North Dakota and Iowa. One came from Florida.

Major Offensive Threatens Pusan; Russ Re-enter UN

Compiled from United Press Reports

By Al Doerr

As thousands of Korean communist troops opened their anticipated major offensive along all portions of the Korean line early today, diplomats in every world capital pondered the Russian announcement that its delegate would return to the United Nations security council Tuesday.

The Russian return to the security council after a 29-week boycott was announced by Chief Soviet Delegate Joseph Malik's office yesterday.

In a telephone statement to Secretary General Trygve Lie, Malik said he would assume the presidency of the council in Russia's regular term beginning Tuesday. A meeting was called for 3 p.m. that day on an agenda which Malik said, "would be communicated subsequently."

The major question, which received no light from Malik's statement, is whether the move means an end to debate on the question of ejecting Nationalist China's delegates, or whether this is the first step in a renewed fight for the Russian demand. When he walked out Jan. 13, Malik said he would not come back until the Chinese Nationalists had been expelled.

Yesterday's statement also repeated that Russia would consider illegal any action taken by the council with the Nationalists present. That stand would include the cease-fire order against the Koreans and the subsequent resolution calling for full military sanctions against the North Koreans.

On the Korean front . . .

. . . in a semi-circle from the east to the south coast, on a 75 to 100 mile radius centered in the American supply port of Pusan, the Red troops came in mobs with the dawn.

In the south, the attack drove American troops one-third of the way back along the 75 mile distance to the key coastal city.

At the same time, under cover of heavy artillery barrages and a driving rain which cut off nearly all of the United Nations air coverage, an estimated 40,000 shock troops stormed the center line in the Yong-dong area. The First Cavalry and Twenty-fifth divisions, which are holding the line there, are threatened now by pincer thrusts from the southern columns and from the northeast.

And an unconfirmed North Korean communique reported that communist guerrillas have infiltrated to the Pusan area.

In the meantime, U.N. air units from Britain, Australia and the United States continue their strategic attacks along North Korean supply lines and at concentration centers. A navy statement declared too that cruiser units are shelling communist positions along the east coast.

Elsewhere . . .

. . . in Washington, new and bigger casualty lists released by the department of defense, brought the total casualties—dead, wounded and missing—to over 900.

And Pres. Truman in a press conference said there was no present plan to use the atomic bomb in the Korean struggle. This follows with the thinking of strategists who believe the bomb would be useless in the type of war being waged in Korea.

In addition, the President confirmed an earlier report that he will wait until after the November elections before seeking congressional action on any sort of long-range war tax bill.

. . . in London, Winston Churchill said that Western Europe's defenses against Soviet "armored avalanches" are weaker than those of South Korea.

And his politically slanted attack was supported by the Labor government's defense minister, Emmanuel Shinwell, who conceded in the house of commons "that our present position falls short of our requirements."

Mobilization efforts . . .

. . . moved forward yesterday as the army issued a call for 100,000 draftees in September and October, and Pres. Truman ordered all enlistments which expire this year extended another 12 months.

At the same time, announcements revealed that the present air force goal is 69 groups or about one-third of wartime strength and that the navy is taking 48 ships, including three large aircraft carriers, out of its mothball fleet and increasing the manpower of its units.

The 100,000 men called will include the 20,000 summoned in July, the army said. On the basis of present figures and limitations, the army needs another 360,000 men to reach its authorized strength of 837,000. A bill lifting this limit is awaiting final house action now.

Riots in Belgium's . . .

. . . capital city Brussels carried right to the door of the palace yesterday as socialists protested against the return to the throne of King Leopold III.

The battle began with the throwing of a paving stone into the procession of royalist visitors to the palace and spread rapidly along a two-mile roadway toward the royal chateau.

More than 50 people were treated for injuries and scores of vehicles were damaged as the rock-throwing, club-swinging socialists retreated slowly before a growing tide of armed police.

Led by former premier Joseph Spaak, the socialists gathered at the palace originally after a four-mile protest march from the parliament. The violence began after they were ejected by police from the palace-grounds.

An emergency powers bill . . .

. . . which would give Pres. Truman control over credit and the flow of scarce materials was passed by the house banking committee yesterday by a vote of 20-1.

The bill, which gives the President nearly all of the home front controls which he requested, was passed after the committee rejected by one vote the Baruch plan for immediate and sweeping wage, price and rationing controls.

Such controls, Pres. Truman said in an earlier statement, are features of total mobilization and this country has not yet embarked on that. If price control becomes necessary, he added, wage ceilings and rationing will be applied at the same time.

The bill, which faces floor action in the house Tuesday and in the senate Wednesday, gives the President authority to revive credit controls, establish priority and allocation systems, requisition stockpiles and guarantee loans to "expedite production" of needed goods.

Fire Proof Grad Students Developing New Concrete Stock Pen

Termites and fire fighters can relax at the St. Paul Union stockyards if tests conducted by the civil engineering department prove effective.

A new kind of concrete stock pen is being developed for the stockyards by graduate students in the class of Joseph A. Wise, professor of civil engineering.

The problem, Prof. Wise said, has been to find a fireproof material stronger than wood. Ordinary concrete is too brittle, he said, so a pre-stressed concrete has been developed.

The concrete is poured around stretched steel wires which make a one-inch-thick plank of the new material strong enough to support 500 pounds, he said.

Pre-stressing the concrete, he said, makes it so elastic that it behaves almost like rubber.

"Before the plank reaches its full load," Prof. Wise said, "it has deflected 12 inches, while ordinary concrete can sag only about one-half inch without cracking."

If the pre-stressed concrete is used for the pens, he said, the whole structure, including posts, can be prefabricated and held together with bolts.

Prof. Wise said that the pre-stressed concrete is not new, but it is more commonly used in Europe where labor is more plentiful and lumber more scarce.

600 Letters

Indian Students Express Desire To Correspond

The Minnesota World Affairs center has 600 letters from India in its hands.

A small notice appeared in the Illustrated India Weekly asking for pen pals. Shortly afterwards a flood of mail came to the India Information office in Washington, D.C., which then relayed part of the mail to the University.

Net result: 600 letters from Indians, ages nine through 30.

The letters, all 600, now are sorted according to age and are available in 150 Nicholson hall. Many of the writers are students studying everything from seamanship to agriculture.

The letters have been sorted so that only those who really want to correspond are left, and not those who are collecting old dollar bills.

Professor to Talk At Michigan Meet

Although Minnesotans have no southern draws, they do use many southern terms, Harold B. Allen, assistant professor of English, will tell a meeting of the Linguistic Society of America today in Ann Arbor, Mich.

Midland migration to Minnesota in the 1850s is responsible for the state use of "baby-buggy" instead of the northern "baby-carriage," according to a state survey conducted by Prof. Allen.

Director of the Linguistic Atlas of the Upper Midwest, Prof. Allen will spend the next six weeks doing field work on the language used in North Dakota.

Hillel Will Hold Dance

A square dance will be at the Hillel foundation, 1521 University avenue S.E. at 8 p.m. Sunday. Sponsored by the Hillel Graduate club, the dance is open to all summer session students.

Sunday is not a day of rest for campus religious foundations. "The Definition of a Christian" will be debated by Dr. Paul Holmer, assistant professor of philosophy, and Neil Swanson, instructor of general studies, at the Lutheran Student association picnic in Como park, St. Paul.

Students will meet at 4 p.m. at the LSA house, 1813 University avenue S.E.

Former Spanner Janet Hohmann, graduate student, will speak on "Protestant Christianity in Colombia" at a joint meeting of Pilgrim and Westminster foundations.

Supper will be at 5:30 p.m. at the Westminster house, 1628 Fourth street S.E.

Treasure hunting is in store for the Roger Williams fellowship. The hunt will start at 4 p.m. at the University Baptist church, 1219 University avenue S.E. After supper the group will attend the evening service at Plymouth Congregational church to hear the "Wings Over Jordan" quartet.

Dr. Archer Will Leave To Take Bolivian Post

Dr. Clifford P. Archer, director of the bureau of recommendations, will leave for La Paz, Bolivia, Aug. 8 to become field director with the institute of inter-American affairs.

Granted a year's leave of absence, Dr. Archer, with his committee on education, will work with normal schools and teachers' institutes in order to improve the quality of teaching in Bolivia.
