Business Department Signs an Articulation Agreement with Lake Superior College, Duluth, Minn.

By Itolfe on Wednesday, March 13, 2013 The Business Department at the University of Minnesota, Crookston recently signed an articulation agreement with Lake Superior College in Duluth, Minn. The bachelor of manufacturing management degree option at the U of M, Crookston is available to students both online and on-site.

For graduates earning an associate of applied science degree in civil engineering technology from Lake Superior College, the option to pursue a bachelor of manufacturing management at the U of M, Crookston would be an option.

Articulation agreements are formal arrangements transferring a defined set of academic credits between an academic program of one institution, usually a two-year post-secondary institution, to a program within a college or campus of the University of Minnesota system in order to fulfill general education or program requirements. Benefits of an articulation agreement include a reduced chance of retaking the same coursework; and the opportunity to move from an associate degree to a bachelor's degree at the U of M, Crookston.
