DULUTH -- UMD Librarian Rudolph Johnson and James Murphy, associate professor of music, will spend the summer in residence on campuses in Wisconsin and South America.

Johnson, an assistant professor, will become acting librarian at the University of Concepcion in Concepcion, Chile under the auspices of the Ford Foundation grant through the University of Minnesota.

Johnson will assume his summer position on June 5 and remain until September 25. He will join a University contingent headed by Dr. William Rosendahl, former head of English at UMD who is now professor of English and rhetoric on the Minneapolis campus.

Murphy will spend a part of his summer on the University of Wisconsin campus at Madison as director of the Summer Session Band program. He will conduct the Band in a series of concerts on the Union Terrace.
