Campus Events

TWEED MUSEUM EVENTS

The exhibition, "post-hypnotic," runs through March 8. Curated by Barry Blinderman, this exhibition examined the resurgence of optical effects in the work of twenty-eight painters from the United States, Europe and Japan.

Upcoming events held in conjunction with the "post-hypnotic" exhibition include a lecture by exhibition curator Barry Blinderman at 6 p.m. on Tuesday, January 23, in the Lecture Gallery.

A "post-hypnotic" party will be held at 7 p.m. on Friday, February 9 with live music and refreshments. Dress retro.

The Tweed Museum of Art will be hosting Family Day at the Tweed from 1 - 4 p.m. on Saturday, January 27.

For more information, call Mary Rhodes at 726-7823.

GLENSHEEN NEWS

Glensheen is offering tours this winter each Friday, Saturday and Sunday from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m.

For more information, call Glensheen at 726-8910 or e-mail glen@d.umn.edu.

OUTDOOR PROGRAM EVENTS

A Canoeing and Canyon Hiking Trip on the San Juan River in Utah will be held from March 9 - 18. Over 80 miles of river between Sand Island and Lake Powell provide access to spectacular canyons, Anasazi Indian ruins, petroglyphs, and the beauty of the desert country in spring. The itinerary allows time for hiking, exploration of geology, flora, fauna, and historical points of interest. The river has class I-II rapids with long stretches of flat moving water.

For more information and registration call Beth at 726-6533.

A backpacking trip through Zion National Park is planned for March 9-18. Join the UMD Outdoor Program on a trip to Southwest Utah's Zion National Park. Elevations in the park range from 3,800 to 9,000 feet. Because of this change, participants will experience several "microenvironments" while traveling, including colorful mesas bordered by rocky canyons and washes. The itinerary is designed to allow for time to learn about the cultural history of the park, as well as explore the geology, flora, and fauna.

A Zion Slide Show will be presented from 7 - 8:30 p.m. on Wednesday, January 24. Explore the semi-arid to mountainous terrain of Zion National Park in Utah. Travel through the coalspit wash, petrified forest, and to the top of Mount Cougar. The cost is free. Meet in Kirby 311.

Knot Tying Basics will be presented from 7 - 9 p.m. on Wednesday, January 24. Knots got you all tied up? Did you forget which way the rabbit is supposed to go around the tree? Whether you are staking a tent or tying a boat to your car, there's always a better knot. The cost is $2 for students and $5 for others. Meet in the Sports and Health Center Lobby.

Interested in learning basic climbing skills? Come down to the wall from 6 - 9 p.m. on Thursday, January 25 for an in-depth lesson in climbing techniques, belaying and knots. This workshop will help you climb harder, longer, and move you from beginner to intermediate climber. The cost is $9 for students and $15 for others. Meet at the Indoor Climbing Center.

For information or registration call Beth at 726.6533

BIOLOGY SEMINARS

Biology seminars begin at 3:30 p.m. in 175 Life Science, unless otherwise noted.

There will also be two free "Try Scuba" classes from 7:30 - 9 p.m. on January 26 and February 16. For more information and registration call 726-7128.

FIRST READING XXI

There will be a conference on research-in-progress, "First Reading XXI," beginning at 8 a.m. on Friday, April 27 at UMD and Glensheen. This is the twenty-first annual conference at UMD on any aspects of social history, current popular culture, culture of the Americas and relevant comparative studies.

Campus News

FACULTY CAMPAIGN

The faculty and staff campaign runs through January 31. All gifts from faculty and staff count in this campaign.

Last year faculty and staff contributed a total of $163,000. For an example of the talented students your gifts help, look for Michelle and Bev Kiheri on the campaign poster. Check your campus mail for the campaign letter complete with pledge cards, funds list, and payroll deduction form. To make a gift, or for more information please call Maria at 726 6994.

TECHFEST 2001 CALL FOR PROPOSALS

The TechFest 2001 committee seeks proposals for booth demonstrations to be presented at the upcoming TechFest scheduled for March 23. This annual event is a wonderful opportunity to showcase the myriad ways technology is being used on our campus to enhance or change the way we learn, teach and share information. All students, staff, and faculty are eligible and are strongly encouraged to participate. The deadline for proposals is February 27.

For information on submitting a proposal or other questions about TechFest 2001, contact Sheri Pihlaja at 726-6975 or spihlaja@d.umn.edu.

PROFESSIONAL STAFF

COUNCIL SPRING 2001

UMD's Professional Staff Council (PSC) holds open meetings on a monthly basis. PSC, comprised of 12 elected representatives serving two-year terms, facilitates productive discussions of issues confronting UMD's professional staff, hosts two forums each academic year, and cosponsors Staff Appreciation

Day. PSC serves as liaison for professional staff to the Campus Assembly and the Student Association, promotes the interests of higher education and research, advances the interests, stature, and welfare of professional staff, and serves as an advisory body to UMD administration. All professional staff are welcome to attend PSC meetings, from 10:30 - 11:30 a.m., on the following dates: February 9, March 9, April 6, May 4, and June 1. To submit an agenda item, reserve a chair at an upcoming meeting, or to contact the PSC chair, e-mail Dale Race at drace@d.umn.edu . Or visit the PSC web site at www/d.umn.edu/psc.

MORRIS K. UDALL

FOUNDATION SCHOLARSHIP

UMD students in fields relating to the environment, and Native American and Alaska Native

students in fields related to health care or tribal public policy, are invited to apply for Morris K. Udall $5000 Scholarships. Because environmental issues can be approached in a multi-disciplinary way, the scholarship is offered to students from a broad range of disciplines. Majors include: environmental engineering, agriculture, biology and other natural sciences, natural resource management, political science, sociology, anthropology, geography, cultural studies, history, public policy, and pre-law.

To be considered, students must be nominated by their institution. The UMD Institutional deadline for receipt of completed applications is 4:30 p.m. on February 1. The scholarships, which are to be used for the 2001-2002 academic year, will be awarded in April. Contact Rick J. Smith at 726-6293 or 726-6370 with questions.

PIERCE CLINIC SERVES 104 OVER COURSE OF SEMESTER

During Fall Semester 2000, the Robert F. Pierce Speech-Language-Hearing Clinic in the Department of Communication Sciences and Disorders provided therapy services to 70 individuals with speech, language, or hearing disorders. An additional 34 diagnostic evaluations were also completed. The Clinic, established in 1954, provides treatment and evaluation services to people of all ages in the community in need of assistance.

SIGMA XI AWARDED CERTIFICATE OF EXCELLENCE

VCAA Vince Magnuson is pleased to announce that the Sigma Xi-Duluth chapter has been awarded a Certificate of Excellence for exceptional chapter activity during the year ending June 30, 2000. This award is only given to ten chapters nationwide, making this a notable achievement. One of Sigma Xi's major activities is its scientific poster presentation, which will be held February 19-23.

FUNDS PROVIDED FOR NEW AMERICAN INDIAN CHILD WELFARE PROGRAM

On November 3, 2000 the American Indian Projects received notice that the Bush Foundation funded UMD to develop an American Indian Child Welfare Certificate program. This second year of funding is for $224,616. The program is housed in the Department of Social Work and is an interdisciplinary outreach effort building partnerships among the American Indian Studies Department, UMD, Ojibwe tribes in Minnesota and Wisconsin, and the National Indian Child Welfare Association. Funding allows further work on a certificate program that bridges training in professional skills with scholarly aspects of university liberal arts education.

Faculty and Staff News

Gloria DeFilipps Brush, professor and head, Art Department, has digital photographic work in the exhibition Word, Text, Language running from January 24 - March 3, 2001 in the Gallery at Morehead State University, Morehead, Kentucky. Her work also was selected by photographer Evon Streetman for the Photography and Digital Image Biennial at the Wellington B. Gray Gallery at East Carolina State University, Greenville, S.C.. In October, 2000, her work in Tweed's Botanica exhibition was at the Chicago Cultural Center, and in January 2001, it travelsthen to the University Gallery, University of Delaware.

Leif Brush, professor, Art Department, had his program "Terrain Instruments are Activated" broadcast in October, 2000, on the ABC National Radio Show Australian Other Worlds. The program was presented by Brent Clough, and programmed by Warren Burt. Annea Lockwood, Hildegard

Westerkamp and David Dunn were among the other artists presented in the program. Professor Brush's "Terrain Instruments" work on Collin Fallow's CD Zero was cited in Alice Angus' "Liverpool Roundup", a review of video and net projects published on-line by physicsroom's Log Illustrated Magazine, Christchurch, New Zealand, Issue Ten, winter 2000.

On Dec. 19, 2000, Ron Caple, professor, Chemistry Department, participated in the successful Ph.D. thesis defense of Uvaldo Orea Igarza at the Universidad de Pinar del Rio, Cuba. The title of Dr. Igarza's thesis is, "Caracterización Química de la Madera y la Corteza de Tres Especies de Eucalyptus, de la Provincia de Pinar del Río con Fines Industriales. (Eucalyptus Saligna Smith, Eucalyptus Citriodora Hook y Eucalyptus Pellita F. Muell)."

The hyperbolic art work of Douglas Dunham, associate professor, Department of Computer Science, was featured in the article "Visions of Infinity" by Ivars Peterson in Science News, Vol. 158, December 23 & 30, 2000, pages 408 - 410. The article can also be viewed online at: <http://www.sciencenews.org/20001223/bob1.asp>

Thomas Farrell, associate professor, Department of Composition, has had his book Walter Ong's Contributions to Cultural Studies published by Hampton Press in both hardcover and paperback editions. It surveys Ong's life and work, covering eleven of his books and selected articles in roughly chronological order. In addition, Farrell and Paul Soukup of Santa Clara University have signed a contract with Hampton Press to co-edit An Ong Reader. Hailed by Northrop Frye as a seminal thinker, Ong is most widely known for his 1982 book Orality and Literacy: The Technologizing of the Word, which has now been translated into twelve other languages. But his chief claim to scholarly fame is his massively researched Harvard doctoral dissertation about the history of rhetoric and dialectic, centering on the sixteenth-century French logician and educational reformer Peter Ramus (1515-1572). It was published in two volumes by Harvard University Press: Rasmus, Method, and the Decay of Dialogue: From the Art of Discourse to the Art of Reason and Rasmus and Talon Inventory.

Jim Klueg, professor, Art Department, currently has two vases in the Sixteenth Annual Greater Midwest International at Central Missouri University, from January 19 - February 16. Exhibition juror was Mark Spenser, Kansas City Arts Council.

Michael Linn, professor, Departments of Composition, Linguistics, English and Anthropology was awarded an Honorary Doctorate from Petrozavodsk State University, Petrozavodsk, Russia on November 23.

Ron Marchese, professor of humanities and classics, Department of Sociology and Anthropology, had a manuscript on his current research accepted for publication in The Journal of Interdisciplinary Studies. The theme of the journal, which is published once a year, is "Civil Society and Religion in the Third Millennium". The article accepted for publication is co-authored with Professor M. Breu of Western Michigan University and is entitled "Armenian Religious Textiles in Istanbul". The manuscript is part of their current research in Turkey from which they recently returned. Marchese also recently presented a paper at the 102nd annual meeting of the Archaeology Institute of America conference in San Diego. Marchese is currently co-directing excavations in Greece, which was the focus of his presentation. He was also asked to review a recent publication: Archaeology of the frontier in the Medieval Near East, The Excavations at Grittile, Turkey. Additionally, he has been asked to provide commentary and consultation on Islamic talismans for an exhibition at the Museum of International Folk Art in Arizona.

Janelle L. Wilson, assistant professor, Department of Sociology/Anthropology and David A. Pogue, instructor, Department of Political Science, wrote "Deviance in Sports", which was published in the Encyclopedia of Criminology & Deviant Behavior, edited by Clifton Bryant, published by Taylor & Francis, November 2000.

Alexandru Balaban, University of

Bucharest, Romania, Denise Mills, Ovidiu Ivanciuc, University of Bucharest, and Subhash Basak, assistant professor, School of Medicine, published the paper "Reverse Wiener Indices" in the international journal, Croatica Chemica Acta, vol. 73, pp. 923-941, 2000.

Subhash Basak and collaborators presented the following at Pacificchem 2000, a joint International Chemical Congress of the chemical societies of USA, Canada, Mexico and other Pacific Rim countries, held recently in Honolulu: "Use of Mathematical Structural Descriptors in Predicting Property/Activity of Chemicals: A Hierarchical Approach", authored jointly by Basak, Brian Gute, research assistant, NRRI, Denise Mills, David Opitz, University of Montana, and Krishnan Balasubramanian, University of California, Davis and Lawrence Livermore Laboratory, "A Study of the Intercorrelation of Topological Indices", authored jointly by Basak, Greg Grunwald, professor, NRRI-Administration, Gute, Mills, Gerald Niemi and Alexandru Balaban, Polytechnic University, Bucharest, Roumania, "A Comparison of Five Molecular Similarity Spaces" and "Comparing Structural Spaces for Similarity-Based Estimation of Properties", both authored jointly by Gute, Grunwald, Mills and Basak, "Hierarchical Use of Structural Invariants in the Clustering of a Virtual Psoralen Combinatorial Library", authored jointly by Mills, Basak, Gute, Grunwald, Balaban and Knaika Basak, St. Xaviers' Computer Center, Calcutta. "Use of Variable Molecular Descriptors for the Characterization of Biological Molecules", authored jointly by Mills, Milan Randic, Drake University, Basak and Lionello Pogliani, Universita' della Calabria, Italy. Donald Christian, JoAnn Hanowski, and Jerry Niemi recently published "Landscape Requirements of Prairie Sharp-Tailed Grouse Tympanuchus Phasianellus Campestris in Minnesota, USA" in Wildlife Biology, vol. 6, pp. 301-307, 2000.

Iwao (Pete) Iwasaki, Coleraine Minerals

Research Laboratory, organized a study tour of iron ore direct reduction activities in Japan, in December. The participants in the tour included Commissioner John Swift of IRRRB, Deputy Commissioner Gary Fields of DTED, Bill Brice of DNR, Don Fosnacht and Rod Bleifuss, senior research associate, Coleraine Minerals Research Lab. The group toured NKK's DIOS, Kobe Steel's ITmk3, and Nippon Steel's RHF facilities for potential application to Minnesota's taconite concentrates.
