

Prelude to Osculation

"PLEASE let me kiss you," begs Richard, the young hero of Eugene O'Neill's "Ah, Wilderness!" Chris Ringham Jr., Arts sophomore, is Richard and Claire Benson, unclassified, is Muriel, the object of his begging. The University Theater play opens at 8:30 p.m. today in the Music auditorium and is scheduled to run through Saturday.

'Ah, Wilderness!' To Open Today

"Ah, Wilderness!" the University Theater's last major production of the season, will open a five-day run at 8:30 p.m. today in the Music auditorium.

Eugene O'Neill's play concerns a day in the life of an adolescent at the turn of the century. Chris Ringham Jr., Arts sophomore, plays Richard Miller, the young boy who takes a few steps down the road to ruin and turns right around again.

Pam McCarthy, Arts senior, will be Belle, the bad influence in Richard's life. Muriel, Richard's true love, will be played by Claire Benson, unclassified. Dick Nelson, Arts senior, will play Nat Miller, his father, who hates bluefish almost as much as he does Muriel's father.

Others in the cast are Paul Hagen, playing Uncle Sid; Jean Walmsley, Lily Miller; Esther Olson, Essie; Marilyn Asplin, Mildred; Bob Ryan, Arthur; Don Mayer, Tommy; Allan Livers, David McComber; Richard D. Spear, Wint Selby; Marilyn Dean, Nora; Otto Stohr, bartender; Warren Gustaphson, salesman.

Joseph Catmull, instructor in speech, is directing the play. Catmull played the title role in the Theater's presentation of "King Lear" and was the Sheriff of Nottingham in "Robin Hood." Assisting him in the present production are Rosemary Harding, Education senior, and Miss McCarthy.

16 Receive Noyes Scholarships for Spring Quarter

Sixteen spring quarter recipients of LaVerne Noyes scholarships were announced yesterday by G. B. Risty, director of the bureau of student loans and scholarships.

The awards cover payment of tuition and incidental fees. Scholarships are awarded to World War I veterans or direct blood descendants on the basis of academic achievement, financial need, character and vocational promise in chosen fields.

Ted Weems to Play for Vets' Princess Dance

Ted Weems and his orchestra will play at the second annual Veterans club Princess ball, May 3, in the Minneapolis armory, club officials announced last night.

During the dance a Princess will be chosen from the Rooming House council, sororities, Comstock hall and Sanford hall by a board of judges.

Although it will be sponsored by the Veterans club, veterans from Hamline and Macalester will be invited. Admission will be $2 for Veterans club members and $2.50 for non-club members. The dance will be open to veterans only, however.

The dance is meant to coincide with the club's membership drive starting Thursday. Aim of the drive will be to enlist 100 per cent of the veterans on campus. Dues will be 50 cents until October.

Tech Party Attacks 'Rights' Measure

By George M. Kremer

The charter of the students bill of rights was attacked yesterday in a Tech party statement, issued by Jerry Busch, Tech candidate for All-University council, "because it is written in vague generalities, is filled with ambiguities and applies not to individual students but to organizations."

The Techs recommend that the bill be discussed at an open forum and that a joint student-faculty board draw up a new bill which should include a clear-cut definition of individual rights and privileges, definite placing of responsibility for interpretation of bill in event of controversy and an actual guarantee of student's right to appeal to the highest authority.

The bill will be submitted to the students for a vote at the campus general elections Friday with three alternatives instead of two as originally planned, Ruth Koplitz, Council elections chairman, announced yesterday.

Students will be asked to vote yes or no on these three points: 1. ARE YOU in favor of a charter of freedom for students and student organizations? 2. DO YOU APPROVE of the bill as printed in The Daily on April 10? 3. DO YOU approve the bill with certain changes?

In connection with the third question, the voter is asked to write on the reverse side whatever changes he feels desirable.

Forum to Discuss Bill

The students' bill will be discussed for the benefit of new students and all others interested by the Students Forum at 3:30 p.m. Thursday in 321 Union. Jeanne Allen, All-University council student activities chairman, will be in charge.

Campaigning for the 40 openings on the six main campus boards began in earnest yesterday with a barrage of tricky campaign posters and tags descending on the campus. Seventy-two candidates are still in the race.

Only one student, a candidate for Business School board, was declared ineligible by the student activities bureau. Another student, candidate for a coed position on Business board, did not return to school this quarter. That leaves two coeds running unopposed for the two coed positions on that board.

The Progressive candidates staged a parade on University avenue and across campus last evening and will hold a rally at 3:30 p.m. today in the YMCA Great hall to introduce the candidates on the party slate. All candidates will present skits or stunts.

On Ag campus filing closed Saturday with 39 persons filing for the 24 openings on the Ag Student council, Ag Union board and Ag Intermediary board. Though there is no official campaigning for these positions except by word of mouth

With Graduate school enrollment continuing for another week, total enrollment figures have reached 17,551, the office of admissions and records announced yesterday.

True E. Pettingill, recorder, estimated yesterday that enrollment totals should fulfill the advance expectation of 18,000 students when Graduate registration closes April 13.

Veterans have raised their number to 8,403, comprising almost half of the total University enrollment.

The College of Science, Literature and the Arts still leads the field with 6,285 students—twice as many as in any other college on the campus.

The Institute of Technology has 3,003 students enrolled, and the College of Agriculture, Forestry and Home Economics places third with 1,183 enrollees.

After completion of Graduate registration, the Graduate school probably will replace the latter college in third place. Present enrollment of the Graduate school is 1,331.

New Office to Help Vets Buy Properties

The newly opened Minneapolis office of war assets administration will effectively aid the campus veterans in obtaining surplus government properties if they are planning to go into business, Robert McArthur, chairman of the Veterans club publications committee, said yesterday.

Previously, applications to the war assets administration for surplus properties had to be sent to the Chicago office, McArthur said.

Veterans, at present, are placed fourth in priority for the surplus properties. Federal agencies are given first priority, state agencies, second priority, other tax supported agencies, third.

A bill is now before congress, however, to give veterans a higher priority.

At present, the veteran must fill out a form for the properties he wants. The Chicago office of the war assets administration then will send back a notice of the quantities in which the properties may be ordered.

"The outlook for a veteran's obtaining the surplus government properties is not very bright right now," McArthur said, "but the situation may ease up if congress passes the bill giving veterans higher priority."

Further information on obtaining government surplus may be obtained in the Veterans club office, 227 Union.

Dr. Boyden Named Vice President of Anatomy Group

The first vice presidency of the American Anatomy association went to Dr. Edward A. Boyden, chairman of the department of anatomy, before he and five other members of the department returned yesterday from a three-day meeting of the association in Cleveland.

In addition, Dr. Boyden was named an American member of the editorial board of the newly organized Acta Anatomica, international anatomy journal to be published in Switzerland. He has been managing editor of its American equivalent, the Anatomical Record, for 18 years.

Other department members who presented papers were Dr. L. J. Wells and Dr. Berry Campbell, associate professors; Dr. W. L. Williams, assistant professor; D. J. F. Hartmann, instructor of anatomy; Dr. C. J. Hamre, head of the zoology department of Hawaii university.

Dr. Hamre is doing research work at the University during spring quarter in collaboration with Dr. Hal Downey, professor of anatomy.

The University abstracted 12 per cent of all papers presented at the meeting of 400 of the nation's anatomists, Dr. Boyden said. Staff members presented 11 and University anatomy graduates another 12—half of these by former students of A. T. Rasmussen, professor of anatomy.

Preliminary plans for the first annual Stardust dance, May 18 include Stan Kenton and his band and dancing on the Union terrace as well as both ballrooms, Beverly Erickson, chairman, announced yesterday.

Tickets will go on sale about May 1 at $1.20 a person and sales will be limited to 3,000. Filing is open for committee members in 131 Union.

Doughnuts Over Detroit

Ballooning Like Skiing— Mrs. Piccard

"Ballooning is just a lot of fun—and a great sport," Mrs. Jean Piccard, wife of the professor of aeronautical engineering, told members and guests of the Cosmopolitan club Saturday.

Ballooning is more like skiing than airplane riding. Mrs. Piccard said. "Once you're in the air, you belong there. Your sense of earth and reality is lost."

The first historically recorded flight of man occurred in France in 1783, she said. The first passengers were a chicken, a goose and a goat. It was significant, she said, that two of the three animals had wings.

Six two-hour flights are required for a balloon pilot's license: two flights with an instructor in charge; two flights with the pilot in charge, but accompanied by the instructor; two solo flights, one of which must be at night.

The Piccards plan their next flight for June, 1947, at which time they hope to reach a height of 100,000 feet—almost 20 miles. At such a height, one per cent of the air in the atmosphere would be above the balloon; 99 per cent below.

The experimental balloon, designed by Professor Piccard, will include 100 small helium- and hydrogen-filled balloons rather than one large balloon. This arrangement permits greater buoyancy of flight, an asset in reaching atmospheric height.

New Surgery Course For Veteran Doctors

A continuation course in surgery will be offered from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. today through July 1 in the Center for Continuation Study.

The course is designed to assist doctors who have been in service for from three to five years to brush up on new developments in surgery since they left practice, according to Dr. William A. O'Brien, director of postgraduate medical education. About 45 veteran physicians will be in attendance, he said.

This week diseases of the breast and thyroid will be considered.

Union Board Filing To Reopen Today

Filing for Union board will reopen today in the student activities bureau, Al Dreher, Union board nominating committee member, announced last night.

At least six more men and one more woman are needed to run to comply with Board constitution requirement that twice as many persons run as there are openings.

The nominating committee certified only four of the six candidates for the five positions for men and certified the seven women running for the four positions for women.

Women Vets to Meet

There will be a meeting of all women veterans at 3:30 to 5:30 p.m. tomorrow in 343 Union.

There will be a meeting of the student federalists at 3:30 p.m. today in 325 Union. Emmy Lou Lindgren, president of the group, will speak on "World Federalism."

Vet Doctors In Postwar Studies at U

One hundred graduates in medicine whose plans for continuation education were interrupted by military service began the second term of a series of courses designed for them at the Center for Continuation Study yesterday.

The program, sponsored by the W. K. Kellogg foundation of Battle Creek, Mich. will last for five years. The Kellogg fund will give $50,000 each year.

Three main courses are offered in this program. They include a course in basic sciences, lasting for six months; a course in internal medicine for three months; a course in surgery, lasting for three months.

The courses have been arranged primarily for physicians who plan to 1) accept an association with a specialist, 2) obtain a residency, 3) prepare for American Board examinations or 4) return to practice.

The classes are taught at the Center, General hospital in Minneapolis and at Ancker hospital in St. Paul.

The faculty consists of representatives of the Medical school, other University departments, the Mayo foundation and from other medical centers in the United States.

All of the students attending the courses are under the GI Bill of Rights. Thirty-six of them live at the Center.

Weekly Meetings To Be Held for Camp Counselors

The camp counseling group of the YWCA will hold weekly meetings at 3:30 p.m. every Wednesday beginning tomorrow. Coeds interested in camp work may attend.

The first meeting will be general and will include a talk on "What's Expected of a Camp Counselor and the Problems She Will Have to Deal With" by Mrs. V. L. Dyson, chairman of the Minneapolis Campfire Girls.

Included in the remaining meetings will be talks on campcraft, handcraft, naturecraft and the psychology of campers.

Coeds may sign up in the office of the YWCA.

Dr. Hastings to Speak To Psi Chis Tomorrow

Dr. Donald W. Hastings, professor and head of the department of neuropsychiatry, will speak at a dinner meeting of Psi Chi, honorary psychology society, at 6:15 p.m. tomorrow in 307-8-9 Union.

Dr. Hastings' topic will be "The Emotional Reactions of Combat Men."

Reservations for the dinner can be made by calling the dean of students office today.

'Liberal Humanism' to Be Club Discussion Topic

"Liberal Humanism" will be the subject of the discussion for members of the Northrop Congregational Commuters club at 11:30 a.m. today in the YMCA Northrop room.

Eleanor Wolford, Arts sophomore, is discussion leader. All members may attend the meeting and bring their lunches.

TO DEANS, ADMINISTRATIVE OFFICERS AND DEPARTMENT HEADS

Civil Service Summer Work Schedule
The Board of Regents at its meeting on March 15, 1946, took the following action:

Within the limitations imposed by their particular activities, departments are authorized during the period June 15, 1946, to Sept. 15, 1946, inclusive, to allow employees to accomplish the established weekly hours of service within a five-day consecutive period so that employees may have two consecutive days from duty, preferably Saturday and Sunday or Sunday and Monday. This redistribution of established weekly hours of service may be accomplished by lengthening the work day and/or shortening the lunch period.

The schedule for employees on a 41-hour week basis will be to begin the work day, Monday through Friday, at 8 o'clock with 45 minutes for lunch Monday through Thursday and a one-hour lunch period on Friday, with the office closing each day at 5 o'clock. Any deviation from this schedule should be cleared with this office.

A completely uniform schedule for workers on a 44-hour week basis, particularly in those units where continuous operation throughout the week is required, is of course not possible to achieve. Departments are, therefore, requested to submit summer work schedules for classes working a 44-hour week to this office for approval.

Hedwin C. Anderson, Director, Civil Service Personnel.

Bierman Juggles Tackle Positions

By Don Olson

In an attempt to find a clicking eleven to put on the field, Coach Bernie Bierman juggled the "A" squad last night until virtually every man spent some time with the first team.

The tackle slots, formerly occupied by Ted Mauseksi and Milan Grevich have been taken over by two equally big and rugged men, Bill Carroll, an ex-sailor, and Red Maenhaut. In these four men Coach George Svendsen has the tackle position well loaded with size as well as ability.

Dick Luckemeyer is currently sharing the wingback duties with the freshman speedster, Glen Pullens. Luckemeyer has the edge on Pullens as far as experience is concerned, having played football for the Gophers in 1942.

While all positions are open in the first team race, the tailback spot is causing the biggest worry for the coaching staff. Bob Sandberg has the size and is a hard runner and Joe Silovich shines as a passer and is a fair kicker, but the problem is to find one player who combines the triple threat qualities.

The intra-squad scrimmage held last Saturday exposed many weaknesses, asserted Bierman, who attributed them to the unusual greenness of the squad as a whole. This fact also forces the coaching staff to slow down all phases of the practice schedule and work strictly on fundamentals.

Harvey Solon, ex-center and fullback, is back with the linemen again, this time as a guard.

Kundla Works Hoop Squad as 7 More Report

Assistant Coach John Kundla continued to send his basketballers through lengthy scrimmage sessions at the Field house yesterday with lettermen Jim McIntyre and Hal White pacing the drills.

Seven new men reported for the first time Monday, swelling the list of candidates to 23. Kundla expects more men out for the drills this week, with the possibility the total may reach 50 men. He intends to hold the drills for another two or three weeks and by that time may have some indication of the Gopher prospects for the 1946-47 cage season.

Among the new men reporting was 6 foot, 7 inch Ed Colosky from St. Louis Park and Buck DeLambert of St. Paul Central.

Boxing Squad Turnout Is Disappointing

Turnouts for the coming all-University boxing tourney have been extremely disappointing, boxing instructor Herb Kroeten said last night.

Only five men are working out at present and another 15 are expected. "Before the war we used to have huge turnouts for these meets," Kroeten complained, "but look at this showing."

Kroeten is especially interested in getting a large turnout of newcomers to the boxing game. These men, plus those who gained some pugilistic skill in the service, will comprise the backbone of the Gophers' first intercollegiate boxing team next fall.

First all-University mitt tourney on the schedule is the freshman and novice tourney to be held April 24, 25 and 26, followed in two weeks by the fraternity meet. Winding up the spring session will be the all-University tournament, open to all comers.

Additional entries can check in with Kroeten any afternoon in 204 Cooke hall or in the boxing room in the Stadium.

The possibility that the vaunted Minnesota hitting power will be put through a stiff test this weekend against Nebraska's Cornhuskers was indicated last weekend when the Nebraska pitching staff turned in two well-pitched games in defeating the University of Colorado, 5 to 0 and 5 to 3.

The exact status of the Nebraska batting at present is unknown, but whatever it may be, it is almost a certainty that Coach Dave MacMillan will throw his two top fingers into the games in an effort to start the season successfully.

Jack Verby, who twirled five of the 10 games that the Gophers won last year, has been nominated as the starting pitcher for the opening game on Friday.

Who MacMillan will nominate for the second tilt Saturday is a question, although he has shown some indication of starting Don Tepel, former St. Paul Johnson star. Tepel reported for practice a few pounds overweight, but has come around into condition fast and at present is the number two pitcher on the squad.

The only other Gophers assured of starting Friday are the keystone combination of Bob Johnson and Dick Rediske. As for the other six starting positions, MacMillan stated after the intra-squad game Saturday, "Your guess is as good as mine."

MacMillan and assistant coaches, Ed Burke and Bernie Wolcyn, sent their charges through infield and outfield drills yesterday because of the soggy condition of the playing field. He intends to send the squad through their last intra-squad game before the Nebraska series this afternoon.
