CALENDAR FOR THE WEEK

Unique Numbers On Salvi Program Tomorrow Night

Alberto Salvi, concert harpist, and his instrumental ensemble, will replace the Twin Cities Civic orchestra on this week's musical program, playing a special concert tomorrow at 8 p.m. in Northrop auditorium.

Recognized as one of the outstanding concert harpists appearing before American audiences, Salvi will present an ensemble composed of Ernest Guntermann, flute; Erich Sorantin, violin; Robert Alexa, viola, and Goffredo Mazzari, cello. Sorantin will play his Stradivarius violin in tomorrow's concert.

The program is as follows:

- I. Sonata a Quatre..... J. B. Loeillet
(Violin, viola, cello, and harp)
Allegretto
Allegro Agitate
Largo
Allegro con Spirito
- II. Trio Serenade in D Major, Opus 8.....
Ludwig von Beethoven
(Violin, viola, and violincello)
Marcia
Menuetto
Adagio, Scherzo, Adagio
Allegretto alla pollacca
Andante con variazioni, Marcia
- III. Variations Libres et Finale, Opus 51.....
Gabriel Pierne
(Flute, violin, viola, violincello, and harp)
- IV. Prelude..... Claude Debussy
Fughettina in Re Maggiore..... G. F. Handel
Rondo..... Dini
Harp Solos—Alberto Salvi
- V. Cinq Hai Kai (Epigrammes lyriques du Japon)..... Jacques Pillois
Priere d'orphelin
Jour de l'an japonais
Solitude (Aubade a la lune)
Reves de guerriers morts

Salvi won early distinction in Italy with his ability to play the harp, winning an eight year scholarship in the Naples Royal Conservatory. The scholarship, won in competition with musicians throughout Italy, gave him his musical education at the expense of the government.

After concluding the eight-year course in five years, Salvi was determined to try his talents in America since there were not enough cities in Italy where people could afford to hear music. His Hunter, professorial lecturer in psychology during the present summer session and a member of the staff of Clark University.

Kenneth Meyers Is U. Convocation Speaker Thursday

Kenneth Meyers, world traveler and lecturer, will give his impressions of one of the countries he has studied first hand tomorrow during the weekly convocation hour. Mr. Meyers, whose journeys have taken him more than a million miles in going around the world five times, will give an illustrated lecture in Northrop Auditorium at 10 a.m.

In discussing "The New Palestine—a Miracle in Nation Building," Mr. Meyers will take up the question of the cause of conflicts in the land and the current situation there. He has recently returned to America from a trip of more than 10,000 miles in various parts of the world.

Although spending only a brief period each year in this country, for the last 15 years Mr. Meyers has been a resident of the United States. During that time, he has traveled extensively visiting Europe 20 times, Asia five times, during which visits he covered the territory from the Bosphorus to the Sea of Japan, and two extensive trips to South America covering nearly all the republics.

Born in Calcutta, India, much of Meyer's boyhood was spent in that country and Burma. He went to private schools and later to college in London. On his graduation he decided to come to America and accordingly purchased passage for New York. Before the ship sailed, however, he changed his plans and took a ship to Australia where, shortly after his arrival, he became a salesman for a publishing concern.

After four years in Australia, Meyers moved to New Zealand where, at the age of 24, he organized a national protest against a bill before Parliament. This organization later became known as the National Schools Defense League, with Sir Robert Stout as president.

A few years later he came to America and became the general secretary of the International Medical Service Foundation.

EXCURSIONS FOR FRIDAY AND WEDNESDAY, JULY 3rd AND 8th

Northwestern Bell Telephone Co.
On Friday, the excursion will tour the

New Telephone Building at 5th st. and 3rd av. s. Go directly to the building and meet the group at 10:20 a.m. or meet at the Seventeenth av. entrance to the Administration Building at 10:00 a.m. Interesting things to be seen on the excursion are the exchanges, the plan of long distance communication, the radio circuit, interceptors, teletype and welfare features of employees in public utilities.

Pillsbury Flour Mills

The excursion on Wednesday is to the Pillsbury Flour Mills. The group will leave the Seventeenth av. entrance to the Administration Building at 1:30 p.m., or go directly to Pillsbury Mills at 3rd av. s.e. and Main. The party will be taken through the mill in groups by guides who will explain the complete process of converting the grain into flour. The manufacture of flour is one of the oldest industries in Minneapolis.

CHANGE IN EXCURSION

The tour scheduled for July 6 to the Brown & Bigelow Co. has been cancelled and the trip to the Pillsbury Flour Mills on Wednesday, July 8, has been substituted.

NON-PARKING ZONES

All streets having curbs painted yellow are non-parking zones. City ordinances apply on Fifteenth, Seventeenth, Washington, and University avenues. (No parking between 8 a.m. and 6 p.m.) The Minneapolis police patrol these streets. Students are cautioned to observe all non-parking zones and to respect rented spaces.

Parking Spaces Available

Ramona Gerhard, Minneapolis pianist who is well known for her radio work, will give a recital in the Music Auditorium on Wednesday, July 8, at 3:00 p.m., while Fritz Smith, baritone, will present a recital on Wednesday, July 15, at 3:00 p.m.

MEN IN EDUCATION PLAN ANNUAL FIELD DAY TOMORROW

Men in the College of Education will hold their sixth annual student-faculty stag field day tomorrow, July 2, at the University recreation field with a variety of sports events and a barbeque supper on the day's program.

A blind-bogey golf tournament, an inter-territorial diamond ball tournament, horseshoes and volley ball are all on the afternoon's program. The golf tournament will open at 1 p.m. and will continue throughout the afternoon with prizes being offered for the blind bogey, low gross and low net scores.

Educators from the state of Minnesota will be out to prove their proficiency at diamond ball during the afternoon when teams from four different sections of the country are scheduled to fight it out for the college championship. The Northern Minnesota team is scheduled to meet a team composed of men from Iowa, Wisconsin, and points east, while the Southern Minnesotans face the team from North Dakota, South Dakota and points west. Both games will be played at 3:15 p.m., with the finals coming immediately afterwards between the two winners.

A barbeque supper will be served at 6 p.m. to climax the day's activities. Tickets are now on sale and may be secured from instructors in the College of Education, Mr. Dale Harris, 302 Psychology building or Miss Young in room 204 Burton hall. The University Recreation field is located at Larpenteur avenue and Fulham in St. Paul and may be reached by auto or by taking the inter-campus streetcar.

Will Play Thursday

first position in America was that of an orchestra harpist in a motion picture house on Chicago's South side. There, his ability was also evident and he was made a harp soloist with the orchestra.

The late Frank A. Morgan, then president of a lyceum bureau, heard Salvi play one of his solos at the theater and an Orchestra Hall public concert resulted. He has been in concert work ever since. The Salvi instrumental ensemble was formed in 1930 and has been playing together since that time, having given approximately 200 concerts thus far this year. They will come to the university from Peru, Nebraska where they are scheduled to appear on Wednesday.

The Twin Cities Civic orchestra will resume its weekly series of concerts on Wednesday, July 8, in Northrop auditorium with Agnes Rast Synder, contralto, as the soloist. Tomorrow's concert by the ensemble will be open to summer session students and the general public without admission charge.

International Relations Conference Next Week

Plans are going forward this week for the Conference on Current International Relations which will be held on the campus Thursday and Friday of next week, July 9 and 10. Educators and students of international relations from all parts of the country will participate in the round table discussions and public lectures scheduled for the two days, including Charles F. Remer, professor of economics at the University of Michigan; Warren S. Thompson, director of Scripps Foundation for Study of Population Problems, Miami University; Graham Stuart, professor of political science at Stanford University; John T. Madden, dean of the School of Commerce, Accounts and Finance at New York University and Eugene Staley, assistant professor of economics at the University of Chicago. Russell A. Stevenson, dean of the School of Business Administration at the University of Minnesota, will be director of the conference.

Graduate Course In Education Held During Summer

Approximately 80 graduate students have enrolled in a Colloquium in Education course being offered for the first time this summer, which is especially designed to meet the needs of students who desire to secure the degree of master of arts under a new plan set up by the graduate school.

The colloquium, which is intended to combine independent study with group conferences, meets five days each week during the present term. Meetings are conducted for the colloquium as a whole on Monday and Tuesday during the fifth hour with the remaining three days devoted to the meetings of groups having special related interests.

Differing from the usual method of obtaining a masters degree by means of 27 advanced credits and a thesis, the plan under which the colloquium operates requires no thesis but instead a heavier course requirement. While it does not permit an indiscriminate scattering of courses over unrelated departments, it does not stress so definitely the concentration on one major and one minor field. This new plan is known as Plan B.

Nine credits toward the advanced degree are earned by those taking the colloquium. Each student in the classes pursues a special topic. The problem selected by the student must have the approval of a member of the graduate faculty and a complete report must be submitted to the instructor for approval.

All graduate students working for the master's degree under Plan B are expected to enroll in the colloquium. The normal term of enrollment in the course is one academic year during which the student will earn a maximum of nine credits. As a part of the general colloquium, conference groups are conducted in which students interested in related problems meet under the direction of advisors concerned with the field being studied. Credit in the course is based to some extent upon the presentation of a written paper giving evidence of independent work.

Kenneth Meyers Will be U. Convocation Speaker

In this capacity he once more resumed his travels to all parts of the world where his work brought him into contact with emperors, presidents and other governmental officials with a view to surveying their country's needs for medical services.

While in Ethiopia, Meyers had an audience with Haile Selassie previous to the Italo-Ethiopian war and the then-emperor authorized him to make two trips into the far interior from Addis Ababa. He reported his findings to the Ethiopian government and Haile Selassie commissioned him to recruit nurses and doctors in America to man the staff of a large hospital in Addis Ababa named in honor of the late Empress Zaidutu.

In Asia, Meyers traveled over that portion of China involved in the Japanese expansion program and studied Japan's method as a colonizing power in Korea.

Minnesota Union Is Campus Center During Summer

With its primary purpose to provide relief from the stringency of the classroom and to offer a varied service and recreational program to the students, the Minnesota Union has served hundreds of thousands of students since it was opened in 1913.

During the present summer session the Union will offer its facilities to the student body with but few deviations from the regular schedule of the college year. The entire building will remain open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. on week-days and from 7 a.m. to 12 midnight on party nights.

Lounge and reading rooms, a cafeteria, a billiard room and a barber shop will be maintained throughout the summer as a part of the Union services.

The main lounge, located in the west wing, serves as a general gathering place for between and after classes. A radio and a piano are provided for entertainment.

At the east end of the main corridor is the reading room. Thirty current magazines and six out-of-town newspapers are on file for reading or reference. Because of the character of this room certain stringent rules in regard to conduct have been set up similar to those enforced by the University library.

Recreation facilities are to be found in the newly equipped Billiard room, which contains eight pool tables, two snooker tables and two billiard tables, as well as a candy and cigar counter. The Billiard room is located in the basement of the building.

Adjoining the billiard room is the cafeteria, operated by the university. cafeteria has a capacity of 312 diners.

In addition to the cafeteria there are five newly furnished and decorated private dining rooms on the second floor. Only one of these, the Colonial room, is open during the summer session. Table service is available in this unit.

The soda fountain on the right of the main entrance adjacent to the lounge room is available for fountain orders including sandwiches, ice cream and hot and cold drinks.

A ballroom located on the second floor is used for the majority of University social functions, including the dances of the summer session Saturday Social evenings. On the main floor there is a barber shop.

Organization of the Minnesota Union began in 1908 with the adoption of a constitution and the election of a Board of Governors. From 1909 to 1913 a campaign was under way to raise funds for such a building. In 1913, the Board of Regents assigned the old chemistry building to the Union with an appropriation for remodeling. From this beginning the Union has constantly expanded to its present size. In October of 1922, a three-story wing was erected which doubled the capacity of the cafeteria, the main lounge and the ballroom. In 1925 another three-story wing was constructed and this space was leased to the Campus club, a faculty organization.

Improvements have been made in the surroundings almost yearly since that time. This summer plans are to install a public address system in the ballroom, enlarge the capacity of the Paul Bunyon room on the top floor to accommodate 50 more persons than in the past and to lay new carpets in several parts of the building.

'Ten-Minute Alibi' Opens 3-Day Run On Campus Today

The success of the proverbial perfect alibi provides the theme for the University Theatre's second offering of the summer season, Anthony Armstrong's "Ten-Minute Alibi," which will open tonight at 8:30 in the Music Auditorium for a three-day run.

Glenn Ransom of Caledonia and Jeanne Ewing of Minneapolis have been cast in the leading rôles by Clement Ramsland who is directing the play. Miss Ewing will have the only feminine part in the production, that of Betty Findon, the heroine. Her most recent appearance in a University Theatre production was as Sister Johanna of the Cross in "The Cradle Song."

Colin Derwent, the young lawyer who turns murderer in the mystery melodrama, is the leading male rôle and has been assigned to Ransom. Although this is Ransom's first rôle in a University Theatre production he has been active in radio dramatic work in the Twin Cities.

Other members of the cast include Joseph Cohen of St. Paul, who has been cast as the villain, Philip Sevilla; Richard Thoeny of Duluth, Robert Crawford of St. Paul, and William C. Nelson and Arthur H. Peterson, both of Minneapolis. Cohen will be playing his third rôle of the year. He took the part of Dr. Caius in "Merry Wives of Windsor."

The perfect alibi constructed before the audience in this current production is so perfect that the murderer is allowed to go free after it has been discovered that the murdered man deserved his fate.

As the action begins, Betty Findon, played by Miss Ewing, is infatuated with Philip Sevilla, a smooth, unscrupulous scoundrel. Colin Derwent, in love with Betty, knows all concerning Sevilla and is determined to do anything to prevent a union of the two, even if it involves shedding blood.

Believing Derwent is a weakling, Sevilla dares the lawyer to kill him. He gives Derwent a drugged cigarette and Derwent sinks into a dream in which he finds a way to kill Sevilla. The audience is permitted to see this dream and to see the murder done just as Derwent dreamed it, with the murder set to simulate suicide.

The lawyer then frames a perfect alibi by manipulating the clock. It is apparent to the detectives that he is the murderer even though they cannot figure out how the crime was committed. As the investigation proceeds they are convinced that Sevilla deserved his fate and the conclusion of the play ultimately upholds the dignity of crime detection by having a detective solve the mystery. The perfect alibi leaves Derwent free, however.

"Ten-Minute Alibi," the second in the group of three plays to be offered this summer, was outstanding in New York and London during the 1933 theater season. "Three Cornered Moon," a comedy by Gertrude Tonkonogy, will be offered by the theatre July 15-17.

Mark Markson, an extension student, is the stage manager for "Ten-Minute Alibi."
