COLONEL E. T. LEE GOPHER ROOTER AT FOOTBALL GAMES

Has Presented Sweaters to Football Players for Extraordinary Playing.

CARRIES HIS BATTLE FLAG AT ALL GAMES

Has Descended From Family of Patriots—Served in Civil War.

Unable to journey to Ann Arbor to attend the Minnesota-Michigan game Saturday, Col. E. T. Lee, 3125 Nicollet ave. s. e., Minneapolis, stayed with us till the end of another season by watching the progress of the game, play by play, in the armory.

The Colonel a Staunch Friend. Colonel Lee has been the faithful friend of the students of the University of Minnesota for the past 25 years, and there is hardly a person who has attended the institution in that time who does not know him. His appearance at every football contest in which Minnesota has played on Northrop field, carrying a large silk battle flag adorned with maroon and gold ribbons, always brings forth enthusiastic greetings from the grandstands, and spirited cheers from the entire student body.

Intensely Interested in Athletics. Colonel Lee's undying interest in college athletics has placed him among the university's respected traditions. He has given football players $162 worth of sweaters for making touchdowns against the strongest teams in the conference, and has given university baseball players souvenir baseballs for making the most hits in a season. Not only has his interest in athletics been centered on the university teams, but he also (loosely follows the activities of Minneapolis high school sports, and is well known and deeply respected among all high school students of the city.

Colonel Lee is primarily an old soldier. He was active in the Civil War, in which he served from its very beginning. He loves to speak of Lincoln, with whom he lived as neighbor for seven years. He has always looked to the great emancipator as his ideal man, and is entirely familiar with all in the details of his life and deeds.

Colonel Lee has descended from a family of American patriots. His grandfather, Elliot T. Lee, enlisted in the army of the Revolution just after the battle of Bunker Hill. His father, Elliot Lee, was in the War of 1812, and was with Commodore Perry in the naval battles of Lake Erie and Lake Champlain.

History His Hobby. When he was eight years old, his mother died. The family was broken up and Colonel Lee lived among strangers. The history of his country has been one of his chief delights from childhood, and in spite of this

Swim Trials Today

Upperclassmen Swimmers to Meet at 5:20 This Afternoon in Armory Pool.

Every upperclassman in the university who can propel himself along the surface of the armory ocean the least bit is urged to show himself this afternoon at 5:20 p. m. in the pool for swimming team try outs. While speed men are especially desired, all men who can swim or dive are wanted, according to P. H. Didriksen, who is leading the movement to organize a strong team of swimmers at Minnesota.

"Any men who feel that they would like to try out for the team but who are not able to be out this afternoon may put their name and post office box number in box 4843, and I will make arrangements to see them at some time convenient to them," said Mr. Didriksen yesterday. "Unfortunately the edict has come out that Freshmen cannot compete, so only upperclassmen are eligible for the swimming team. I would like to see the pool so crowded this afternoon that we would have to adjourn to some larger room."

Y. W. C. A. RECOGNITION SERVICE

The Y. W. C. A. at the "Ag" campus will hold their recognition service this afternoon at 4:30 in the fireplace room. All new members should report to the Y. W. C. A. room. Both old and new members are urged to be present.

Freshman Wins The Gopher Score Prize

Harold Bennett, Dent, Comes Nearest to Game Results Out of Five Hundred Guesses.

Harold Bennett, a freshman dental student hailing from Duluth, was the lucky guesser in the "1921 Gopher" contest at the W. S. G. A. and Minnesota Union sunlight last Saturday and was awarded a free copy of "The Annual with Reason." His guess of 33 to 7 in Minnesota's favor for the final score of the Minnesota-Michigan game was the closest received by the Gopher publicity staff.

A guess of 35 to 3 was made, this being the next closest to the final. The highest score allowed Minnesota was 55 while the lowest was six. Nearly all the enthusiasts allowed Michigan seven points, but one decided that he would make two touchdowns and kick both goals. The most popular figures were 20 to 7 and 27 to 7, both favoring Minnesota. Little doubt was expressed as to the ability of the Gophers to win. Much interest was shown in the contest, over five hundred guesses being placed in the ballot box.

GLEE CLUB GIVES OPENING CONCERT OF YEAR TONIGHT

Concert Will Begin at 8:00 P. M. at Calvary Methodist Church.

CLUB WILL TOUR THRU SOUTHERN MINNESOTA

Jazz Band and Bolshevik Quartette Are Organized By Members.

The University Glee Club will give its first concert of the 1919-1920 season at the Calvary Methodist church, 16th avenue north and Penn. at 8:00 o'clock tonight. The concert is one of several to be given by the organization during the year as part of the community service work outlined for various Minneapolis centers. The club has been practicing regularly during the past few weeks, and, according to Prof. Carlyle Scott who is directing it, Minnesota will have, this year, one of the finest glee clubs in its history.

Tour Promised. Since its unsuccessful trip to the Pacific coast in 1913, due in a large measure to a lack of financial support, the university glee club has not made extensive concert tours. Interest this year, however, seems revived, and the promise of financial and moral support from the school and alumni, in the opinion of Harold Finkelstein, business manager, indicates an active season. Arrangements have already been made for the club to sing at Shattuck Military Academy, Faribault, on December 2d. Several other trips are also promised, including a tour through the southern part of the state during the spring vacation.

Jazz Band Organized. The organization this year has planned a novel program of feature numbers to supplement its singing. The abundance of versatile talent in the club has led to the organization of a jazz band composed of M. F. Johnson, O. G. Johnson, A. P. Stucky, Carlyle Reck, J. Junke, Theodore Finney, and Gerald Greeley.

A Bolshevik Quartette has also sprung up within the ranks of the glee club. It is composed of the following "reds": Harry Arp, first tenor; McMillan, second tenor; L. R. Davidson, baritone; and Ralph Triem, bass.

The personnel of the glee club is as follows:

Tenors.
Earl Fischer, Harry Arp, Fred Becker, Harold Janecy, Arthur Schoenlben, Merlin Carlock, J. L. McLaury, J. Yaekel, William Aldrich, Roger Hasset, A. P. Stucky.

Baritones.
E. F. Johnson, O. G. Johnson, M. L. Johnson, Carlyle Beck, L. E. Davidson, Paul Palmer, Theodore Finney, C. O. Rice, Gordon Kammon.

Basses.
Ralph Triem, J. Junke, L. O. Borg, O. G. Johnson, S. Peterson, and O. Nelson.

Piano.
Gerald Greeley.
The officers of the club are, Gordon Kammon, president; Carlyle Reck, secretary; I. R. Davidson, treasurer; Merlin Carlock, librarian.

FIRST DEBATE WILL BE HELD HERE DEC. 12

Affirmative Team Will Debate Iowa on Cummins Railway Bill.

WISCONSIN DEBATE BEING ARRANGED

Negative Team to Journey to Urbana to Meet Illinois on Same Night.

"Resolved, that congress should enact the Cummins plan for railway management," is the question to be debated by the Inter-Collegiate league, Friday, December 12. The question originally selected was the same as the above with the exception that the Plumb plan was to be discussed. Iowa, however, objected to the Plumb plan on the grounds that the arguments were not balanced. After considerable correspondence among the three universities in the league, it was decided to replace the Plumb plan by the Cummins plan.

Negative Team to Travel. The affirmative team, composed of B. A. Gilkinson, Max Shapiro, and Fred Osanna, will oppose the negative team from Iowa here, while the negative team, composed of C. L. Weikert, R. R. Gibson, and David Lundeen, will journey to Urbana to argue against the affirmative of Illinois. Frank Hanft is working on the negative as alternate, and J. D. Holtzman is affirmative alternate.

Two Good Gopher Teams. "Minnesota has two good debating teams this year," said Mr. Charles F. Lindsley, of the public speaking department, who is coaching the men. "Weikert, Lundeen and Osanna are former members of Minnesota varsity debating teams, and have had extensive debating practice. Shapiro showed up well in the fresh-sophomore debate last year. Gilkinson comes from Carlton with first prizes from several state oratorical contests, and Gibson comes from Ohio State university with considerable public speaking experience back of him."

"The teams are working hard," continued Mr. Lindsley, "and the debate on December 12, deserves the support of a large audience. All the literary societies on the campus, Delta Sigma Rho, honorary debating fraternity, and the Forum, have manifested interest and support." The teams practice four times each week, and have been receiving help from heads of the departments of political science and economics.

Forum Plan May Be Used. It is possible that the Forum plan of open discussion by the audience may be tried this year. If this is done the listeners will be given a chance to express their opinions on the question after the judges have voted, but before the decision is announced. Whether or not this plan should be adopted is now being taken up by Mr. Lindsley with the other schools in the league.

Hope to Meet Wisconsin. Arrangements are now being made for a debate with the University of Wisconsin to be held in the spring or at some time during the coming second quarter. A suitable topic for this discussion is now being considered.

After the dinner, the girls will be taken to a downtown movie at the expense of W. S. G. A.

All women who wish to come must make reservations by noon today. Positively no reservations will be accepted after 12:30 today. Arrangements may be made either by handing in the money to W. S. G. TODAY THE LAST CHANCE TO JUDGE GOPHER POSTERS

Ballots Must Be in Boxes in Post Office Before 3:00 O'clock.

Large Number of Ballots Are Already in—Heavy Count Expected.

All ballots for the winning "1921 Gopher" posters must be placed in the ballot boxes in the post office by 3:00 p. m. this afternoon instead of Saturday as announced on the ballots, according to Grace Gleason, in charge of the balloting.

Collections from the boxes will be made hourly during the day beginning at 9:30 so that the earlier ballots can be differentiated from those coming in late in the day. Much interest has been shown in the contest, as evinced by the large number of ballots already in the hands of the committee. These will be counted with those in the first collection today.

Amateur judges have been wearing out the sidewalk from the main campus to the Biology building, all spurred on by the hope that the famous poster of the Grecian Goddess in flowing robes is the one for which they have been looking.

The guessing contest is being duplicated on the Ag. campus, the first successful judge will be awarded a free copy of the Gopher.

The following is a sample ballot. Fill it out and put it in the box the first thing this morning.

TEARING, PLUNGING GOPHERS WIN FROM MICHIGAN FOR FIRST TIME IN 26 YEARS; OSS, LAMPI STAR

The Little Brown Jug, Long a Symbol of Supremacy, is Brought Back to Minnesota to Rest in Trophy Case in the Armory.

LAMPI PLAYS HIS LAST GAME FOR MINNE-SOTA; RUNS 42 YARDS FOR TOUCHDOWN

Great Run By Oss of 67 Yards for Touchdown in Final Quarter Declared by Critics to Be One of Greatest in Football History.

By RAB.
The little brown jug is back. After ten long years, the famous traditional Minnesota-Michigan football trophy was regained by the Gophers last Saturday and brought back to Minneapolis to rest in our own armory for as long, we hope, as it sojourned in Ann Arbor. Tearing up Yost's Wolverines from the very outset of the contest and continuing to batter them to a helpless mass until the sound of the final whistle, "Doc" Williams' fighting gridiron warriors triumphed over their oldest enemies, leaving them the small end of a 34-7 score. Since 1893, the Maize and the Blue had floated above the Maroon and Gold. Minnesota's complete victory on Ferry field last Saturday, however, exacted a merciless vengeance on their historic rivals.

First Vocational Conference, Dec. 4

Reorganization of Committee Effected at Meeting With Miss Ball Sunday.

Reorganization of the Students' Vocational committee of the University of Minnesota was effected at a meeting held at the home of Miss Katherine F. Ball, girls' vocational advisor, on Sunday afternoon. A constitution for the organization was discussed and adopted and the temporary committee holding over from last year authorized to continue in office until the election of permanent officers for the year. The temporary executive board includes Jessie Smithers, chairman; Jennie Wall, secretary; and Frances Adams, treasurer. Martha Zesbaugh was appointed a member of the temporary board.

Plans for the identification of the vocational committee with the W. S. G. A. were also discussed and the executive board instructed to meet with the W. S. G. A. board to confer on this question.

The first vocational conference of this school year, which is to be held on Thursday, December 4, was announced and the committee to take charge of the various departments of the meeting and dinner was appointed. Extensive plans are being made for the conference which is intended primarily for sophomore, junior, and senior girls of every college and department of the university. The conference will be held from 4 until 6 o'clock on the afternoon of December 4 at Shevlin hall. A dinner will be staged at Shevlin that same evening. Dr. Marion L. Burton, president of the university, will be the speaker. A number of prominent men and women have also been secured to speak before the girls of the university at the afternoon meeting. Among them will be George W. Dowrie, dean of the School of Business; A. E. Jenks or Miss Clark, of the Americanization department, and Miss Smith, of the bureau of occupational guidance.

Chow Mein Party In Shevlin Tonight

Cherry blossoms, Japanese parasols, and Japanese lanterns will predominate at the Ts-O-Sha chow mein party to be held at Shevlin hall at 5:30 p. m. today.

A special program of oriental entertainment has been provided by the committee in charge. Helen Green has prepared a toast which she will render in Chinese, to the edification and amusement of the guests. The chop stick contest is open to all. A suitable reward will be given the winner. Ada M. Eschby is scheduled for an "Incense dance," while Edith Miller and Alice Johnston promise amusing 5 or 10 minutes with their side-splitting dialogue.

After the chow mein has been enveloped and the program dispensed with the meeting will adjourn for dancing. "Men" will be supplied by girls tying a handkerchief around their arms.

A very few tickets are yet available for junior girls, according to Gertrude Wilham, in charge. These will be on sale today at the postoffice between 11:30 and 1:30.

The greatest of Minnesota's football days was glorious from the very first minute of play when Captain Ernest Lampi, fighting and squirming his way through the entire Michigan host, broke away for a 50 yard run and planted the ball behind the goal posts for the first touchdown. THE END OF THE SEASON.

The last Minnesota down has been made, the last game gloriously won, the last football yell has sent its rhythmic echo into the air, and the old shoe has been tossed into the blazing bonfire. The 1919 football season is over! Minnesota is not the conference champion, but we are mighty proud of our record. The two defeats we suffered—after out-playing our opponents in three-quarters of each game—only made our conquests seem brighter. A Gopher eleven which can decisively down a Wisconsin team, and then do the unbelievable—humble a Yost-coached squad by a brilliantly large score—is a team unusually worthy to wear the Maroon and Gold.

Minnesota besides defeating her ancient rivals—the Badgers and the Wolverines, has some other things to her credit. Our reputation for clean and hard playing is as spotless and as enviable as ever; our good sportsmanship has won us fame and applause wherever we have played; and the student body of Minnesota has stayed with the team to the end of every game—won or lost—to cheer the gridiron heroes knowing that each man of them had done his very best. It would be impossible to compare the merits of the individual players because the whole team was composed of stars. The Gophers maintained their reputation as an eleven to be respected and feared, and Dr. Williams, whose name is dear to every person ever connected with our university, has not only again demonstrated his great ability as a gridiron mentor, but has shown himself to be a coach without a peer. We must mention the rooter kings and the Rooter's club whose splendid work inspired the spectators to fight with the team to "the last ditch"; and that praiseworthy organization, the band whose snappy melodies put fight and determination into the Gopher carriers of the oval. All in all, it was a mighty gratifying season and Dr. Williams, Captain Lampi, and all the squad, including the freshmen who loyally furnished the opposition for scrimmaging, deserve unstinted praise and commendation. We cannot help but speculate upon the big possibilities for a championship eleven next fall when practically a full team of veterans will dig its cleats into the turf on Northrup field and fight as only a Gopher eleven can. Until then we can rest on our laurels of this fall and feel justly proud that this year, as always, Minnesota backed by unlimited enthusiasm, and fired with a fierce determination to "never say die" until the last whistle had blown, added inestimable honor and prestige to the already proud and famous Maroon and Gold.

THE MINNESOTA LAW REVIEW.

The Minnesota Law Review will make its first appearance of the season on the first of December, and it seems entirely fitting at this time to call to the attention of the university students who are not already familiar with this publication, something of its history, its work, its future, and its place in the university. This will be the fourth year of the publication of the Review which was started in order to make a publication which would fill the place in the northwest that has already been gained by similar magazines published by Columbia, Harvard, and other schools. In this brief time the Review has weathered the storm of the war, which it seemed would kill it in its infancy, and enters its fourth season with every prospect that it will go ahead and become better and stronger every year. Members of the bar and others interested in legal questions are already testifying to the high quality of the publication and predicting a bright future ahead of it.

While not attempting to give any one any credit, it must be recognized that without the whole hearted co-operation of the faculty and the students of the Law school of the university the success of the Review would have been impossible. Every member of the Law school seems to feel it a personal obligation to see that the Review is a success. With the continued support of such a character no one can doubt that the Review will soon be recognized as of great value to the profession.

To the university as a whole the significance of the Review is that it is a publication which has reflected credit on the university wherever it has gone and which promises to reflect even greater credit as it becomes stronger and better established.

"LIBRARY LIZARDS."

Is there anything more thoroughly disgusting and undesirable on this campus of ours, than that almost common type of young man or woman, which we may call, as suggested by another similar, popular and modern expression, a "library lizard"? This person apparently overlooks the fact that reading-rooms are for reading, and not for oral dissertations. He usually gathers there with two or three fellow nuisances, and while he should be studying, succeeds by loudly whispered jokes and much insipid giggling, in keeping all nearby from doing what they should have come there for. It is difficult enough to study many of the subjects forced upon us, even under ideal conditions; but, with half a dozen of these thoughtless, pseudo, students scattered about the room, it is impossible to concentrate. If this person is looking for social companionship, may we suggest that some other place be selected wherein to find it. He is not only imposing on the good nature and politeness of his fellow students, but he is wasting time that he can ill afford to waste.

This condition in our reading-room is unexpected. A student at a university is supposed to have outgrown that desire to whisper and giggle, but if not, he should have learned, at least, to have some consideration that is not egoistic. It is not within the limits of human perfection for a person to possess all of the fine traits of character or personality, and, for the very reason of this limitation, it seems that the aim should be to gain, first those traits which are the most desirable. A student may not be attractive in feature, may not be able to dress in the most approved style, or may be burdened by some unavoidable deformity. These characteristics are excusable, but there is not a vestige of an excuse for the deplorable lack of plain, simple, decent manners that is so evident in some of the students. Without good manners, a person is working under a handicap; with them, he finds himself deriving a splendid dividend from their use.

This habit of whispering in the reading-room can be nothing else but a breach of manners, pure and simple. It is uncalled for and unwanted. It is detrimental and unfair to all concerned. It is a blotch on the smooth-running efficiency of a valuable institution, and can only be erased by prohibitive legislation, which we do not want, or by the help and co-operation of those students who should feel a poignant sense of shame at being able to class themselves as "library lizards."

Several of the future legal lights of our Law school have spent considerable time the last few days arguing over the recent case in which a certain individual bought rain water instead of whiskey. We understand that their final opinion was to the effect that Barnum was right.

The Sultan is reducing the size of his harem, and we understand that many Pashas have declared that it is too expensive to maintain more than one wife. The average American man will heartily agree. The question that is worrying him is how to support even one.

COLONEL E. T. LEE, GOPHER ROOTER, AT ALL FOOTBALL GAMES

difficulties, he has collected and maintained an extensive library dealing with the history of the American government. These books are still among his cherished possessions.

Enlisted in Civil War.
Colonel Lee was in school when news of the attack on Fort Sumter in Charleston harbor reached him. A mass meeting of the students was called at once and speaking on "The Crisis of the Union," our colonel so aroused his fellow students for the cause of Lincoln, that they enlisted in a body, and went into training at Decatur, Ill., as one of the first companies in the Illinois infantry.

An Adventurous Soldier.

His life during the four years of his military service was full of adventure. He was in every battle of the army of the west, having fought under Generals Grant, Sherman and Logan. He marched with Sherman to the sea, and was wounded three times in a charge made by Lauman's division at Jackson, Miss., on July 12, 1863. He served as aide-de-camp to General W. G. Veasey, Colonel James Sexton, Major William Warner, and Colonel Thomas Lawler. His service in the army ended after a review of the union troops in Washington at the close of the war.

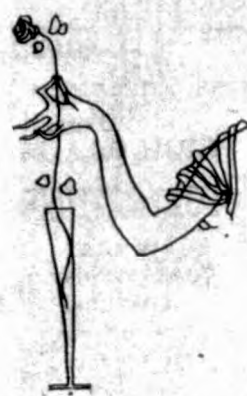

An Organizer of Veterans.

Colonel Lee's activities did not end here, however. He visited the historic battlefield of Shiloh with a number of comrades shortly after his release from service, and seeing the remains of the union and confederate soldiers being plowed up, he insisted that they be allowed to rest where they fell. He organized the Shiloh Battle Field association, composed of veterans of both the blue and the gray, and immediately brought the matter to the attention of congress. His efforts were not in vain. The government granted an appropriation of $174,000 for making the battle field a national park. Reunions are held each year in this beautiful park, on the anniversary of the great battle, April 6 and 7.

Colonel Lee is a member of the Society of the American Revolution, the Knights of Pythias, Grand Army of the Republic, the Ohio Society of Minneapolis, and the Methodist church. He is now 73 years old, and still walks as erect as a soldier. He is one of the best known characters in Minneapolis and has had the honor of knowing every president of the United States since Lincoln. In his favorite albums he has autographed pictures of these distinguished acquaintances. In 1876 he attended the Centennial at Philadelphia, and saw all of the nation's original revolutionary documents. He gathered copies of these and still has them in his many scrap-books.

As a lasting memory of his faithful interest in the university, Colonel Lee gave to the students one of his beautiful flags decorated with maroon and gold streamers, which he carried from 1896 to 1903. The flag is now on display in the Minnesota union.

AMERICA is fast becoming a pipe smoking country. Every year more and more men are realizing the comfort, the satisfaction, and the economy of the pipe. And by natural selection, more and more men are smoking WDC Pipes. This is not chance. It is because WDC Pipes offer the utmost in pipe value. Honest French briar, seasoned by our own special process make WDC Pipes break in sweet and mellow. Coupled with that is a self-governed body of pipe makers whose sole object is to fashion pipes which are without peers in all the world. And it has been accomplished. Ask any good dealer.

FIGHTING GOPHERS WALLOP

more brilliant than this marked the climax of the contest when "Arnie" Oss, shadowing by far anything he had ever done before, startled spectators and experts by his sensational sprint of 67 yards, skirting around Michigan's right end, and by sheer speed and clever dodging, which approached the phenomenal, left his nearest pursuers far in the background and boosted Minnesota's score six points. It was by far the greatest bit of individual work displayed in Minnesota football this year.

The game was saturated with spectacular moments; Oss tearing away every now and then for 20 to 30 yards around the ends, Lampi whirling and zigzagging around the dazed disciples of Yost, and Ruben and Arntson incessantly breaking through for substantial yardage. The Gopher line-men as well as the back field stars, were fired with that same fighting spirit that made Minnesota's advance down the field steady and consistent. Butler and Tierney as guards, stood forth as two of the best athletes on the field. Vern Williams did his finest work of the season, both on defense and offense, and passed the ball with flawless accuracy. Hanke and Gruye at the ends refused to fall for the fake formations of their sturdy opponents, while Johnson was the same old "Trig," and Hawkinson performed like a Hauser.

Had it not been for fluke, Michigan would have been without the lone touchdown to its credit. Little credit does that single score give the Wolverines, however, for only one first down was gained by them during the afternoon and only on one or two occasions did they carry the ball beyond mid-field. Yost's men, backed by the cheers of more than 30,000 followers, fought hard, but it was a fighting machine of terrible prowess against which they were pitted.

Although our conference hopes were blasted by defeat at the hands of Illinois, nothing could have crowned the success of Minnesota's 1919 football season more gloriously than the decisive victory over her most ancient and formidable rival. The game was a fitting ending of the Maroon and Gold football careers of Captain Lampi, Hawkinson, Vern Williams and Hanke. In Dr. Williams' own words: "The victory over Michigan tied Minnesota for fourth place in the conference line-up. The standing of the leading teams at the close of the season is as follows:

	Won	Lost
Illinois	5	1
Ohio	3	1
Chicago	4	2
Minnesota	3	2
Wisconsin	3	2

"The boys' splendid victory over Michigan makes a fine ending for the season. The team was playing in the best form of the year and deserved every point made, in fact two more touchdowns were missed by a very narrow margin. Lampi, Arntson, Oss and Ruben each played brilliantly. Oss was the particular star, but the other men in the backfield were very close behind. The line played splendidly and opened up great holes for the backs to go through.

"It is a great satisfaction to Minnesota to have football relations with Michigan re-established on a permanent basis and we shall look forward to the game next year with great pleasure."

A CORRECTION.

In Saturday's issue of the Daily, it was stated that Mr. George Norton Northrop, of the English department was connected, while in the army, with the intelligence corps. The error in this statement was made by the Daily reporter who slightly misconstrued the facts. Mr. Northrop was a major in the infantry, and was in charge of military intelligence. To one who is familiar with the military organization, the mistake is quite evident, as an intelligence corps does not exist in the army.

Reasons

Undoubtedly you have been wondering about that queer legend: "An Annual With Reasons." Perhaps before you saw it you never realized the importance of the Gopher to you personally, the many reasons why it is your book and why you yourself should want it to be really representative of Minnesota.

For the few days now before the subscription campaign on the 3d, 4th, and 5th of next week this space will be devoted to the reasons why the 1921 Gopher of all Gophers is your book.
