

Conference on Science and Conservation

Today the Department of Elementary Education is sponsoring its annual conference for area elementary teachers. The theme this year is science and conservation, with a special emphasis on the new State Guide for Teaching in Elementary Science. Gordon M. Mork, lecturer in education at the College of Education, Minneapolis Campus, is the principal speaker. The afternoon sessions, held in the Science Building Auditorium, will be addressed by Mr. Mork, Olga Lakela, and Julius Wolff. At the end of the day there will be a panel discussion under the direction of John Verrill, general conference chairman.
