Nursing the Squash

V Garden Contest Ends

By Frances Ahern

The most jealously guarded secret of the summer exploded yesterday when P. J. Gohman, a serviceman in the zoology department, dragged from his victory garden a 47-pound Hubbard squash to the awe and amazement of the department victory gardeners.

Since Ole Olson, the janitor, started his victory garden and urged other faculty members to join in the patriotic venture, competition has been tense and wearing. Seedlings planted in mid-winter were carefully nurtured in the Zoology basement by Dwight E. Minnich, professor of zoology; Clarence P. Oliver and Adolph R. Ringoen, associate professors of zoology; Edith Slider, head technician; and Mr. Olson.

After the first tomato plants were set out in the spring, the contest revolved around the first ripe tomato, at last triumphantly displayed by Miss Slider. It was then a question of the biggest and the best in the victory gardens which are scattered from Columbia Heights to the Ag campus.

"The squash is the biggest of many I have raised," said Mr. Gohman, "and is the largest one I've ever seen."

The squash is on exhibition in the preparation room of the Zoology building.

Mrs. Murphy's Cow?

Okay.
This is as far as it goes.
This is the end.
No more.
No sir.
Last night, the Continuation Center was burning down.
Fire engines clanged, hell-bent on much axe wielding.
Fireman located the source of the fire.
And proceeded to tear into the blaze.
They conquered it.
"It" was a piece of asbestos (oh sure) coating around a heating pipe in the basement.
The firemen were disgruntled.
Firemen have pinochle games.

U History Recalled At First Convocation

By Marge Stevens

The problem of insuring international peace is perhaps the most important problem that confronts not only students entering college for the first time, but all citizens of all nations, President Walter C. Coffey told the Convocation audience yesterday.

In his speech, "The University—1869, and Now," given at the Convocation which celebrated the beginning of the seventy-fifth year of the University, President Coffey read descriptions of the beginning of the University from issues of the Minneapolis Morning Tribune of 1869. He pointed out that students at that time had to worry as much about the world's becoming a vast encampment of armed men as do students in the University today.

Indicating the partial accomplishment of the aims of the University, President Coffey read a quotation from the paper which said, "It is the aim of the Regents and also the faculty to make the University a leading institution of learning, and as such the pride and honor of our growing and prosperous young state, and with the hearty cooperation of our people it can be done."

"It is extremely gratifying to know that the prospects for the fall term are so flattering. Already all the rooms in the University are taken by scholars from abroad; but there are plenty of private boarding houses near by, where board and rooms can be obtained. The legislature will soon have to provide for the erection of larger buildings, in order to accommodate the rapid increase of scholars."

"Since that opening day in 1869 the University has grown from one building accommodating 18 college students to its present size with a capacity to hold many thousands of students," President Coffey said.

"Also, the University prints bigger and better information pamphlets for entering students now. In 1871 the first handbook was written entitled, 'The University of Minnesota Almanac.' It sold for 20 cents."

In describing the curriculum, President Coffey stated that the course was naturally small and tended toward the classical side, but that it undoubtedly laid good foundations for the lives of those who successfully pursued it.

President Coffey concluded, "It has been a pleasant anniversary occasion. Figuratively I now blow out the candles and cut our birthday cake. The time is at hand to sample the good things that are before us."

AWS Heads Dads Day Coffee Hour Hostessing

AWS has charge of hostessing for Dads day coffee hour being held from 4:30 to 5:30 p.m. tomorrow in the Union ballroom.

President Walter C. Coffey will address the Dads, and the Dads association will hold its annual meeting with election of officers at that time.

All coeds interested in being hostesses should sign up, today in the AWS office, 213 Union.

Bonfire, Grads Both to Return At Homecoming

A blazing bonfire, yelling freshmen and returning graduates will start off Minnesota's annual Homecoming, November 3, when the Wildcats from Northwestern meet Minnesota's Golden Gophers.

For the first time in two years, the big piles of boxes, paper and used up textbooks will blaze, while cheer leaders and their supporters send Minnesota yells echoing across the campus.

Following the campus talent "Varsity Show," all students will parade to the vacant lot next to the University tennis courts on Fourth street, where Earl Mahachek, rooster king, will lead the underclassmen and the alumni in Minnesota yells and songs.

Jerry Ustruck, chairman of this year's bonfire committee, is asking for men to help gather the material for the fire.

A "Quiz of the Twin Cities" program, October 31, will have as contestants members of the Homecoming committee from Minneapolis and St. Paul. Tickets for the broadcast may be obtained at the Homecoming office in the Union.

Gale Speaks Tuesday At Republican Meet

Richard P. Gale, congressman from the third district, will speak on "Inside Washington" at the University Republican club meeting at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday in 343-345 Union.

"You don't have to be 21 to be a member," said Saralou Mather, Arts junior and club president. "Everyone is invited." Members may meet for dinner at 5:45 p.m. Tuesday in the Union cafeteria.

Barring of speech notices from Union Postoffice boxes gave rise yesterday to protests by William K. Fels, head of the Campus Committee for Roosevelt, and L. Raeder Larson, University Republican club vice-president. Both condemned the censorship of announcements of political speeches.

The banned notices were issued Wednesday by the Campus Committee for Roosevelt, announcing an address on Thursday by Byron G. Allen on "The Importance of the Re-election of Roosevelt in This 1944 War Campaign."

After receiving the approval of the Activities bureau of the Dean of Student Affairs office, Committee for Roosevelt members delivered the notices to the Union Postoffice to be placed in all student Postoffice boxes. The notices were refused by Postoffice employees who informed the Committee members that the literature could not be distributed generally.

Joseph C. Poucher, head of University Service Enterprises of which the Union Postoffice is a part, told the Committee members that since the literature was, in his opinion, of general interest, it could not be distributed generally and would have to be confined to a membership list circulation.

In answer to Poucher's statement, Fels said, "I am appalled by censorship of a simple announcement of a political speech. After all, this is America and the chief interest of all Americans should be focused on the election for the highest office in America."

Fels was backed by Larson who said, "It is useless for the Republican Club and the Campus Committee for Roosevelt to bring political speakers to the campus unless adequate publicity for the meetings is possible. The action of the Postoffice is too much like that of an arbitrary censor and should not happen again."

Theron Johnson, head of the Activities bureau, who passed on the notices, based his approval on the following ruling made by the Senate Committee on Student Affairs on January 9, 1936:

"Relative to the use of the Postoffice for circulation: There shall be no circularization of the entire student body through the postoffice by political parties, advertisers, or matter which is purely propaganda. It may be permissible to use the Postoffice boxes for personal invitations in social programs, where such invitations are restricted to definite groups. Recognized organizations with definite membership on file for inspection may use the Postoffice. Recognized organizations may use the Postoffice, sending notices to their board of directors or to special committees."

E. G. Williamson, dean of students, upheld Johnson's decision and added that the Campus Committee for Roosevelt is a recognized campus organization and therefore subject to the Senate Committee ruling cited by Johnson.

Byron G. Allen Urges State, Federal Unity

Byron G. Allen, Democratic-Farmer-Labor candidate for governor of Minnesota, stressed the necessity of state and federal government cooperation in an address at the Union yesterday sponsored by the Campus Committee for Roosevelt.

"Three problems—the winning of the war, the settlement of the peace and the issues of postwar economic adjustments—are before the voting public today," Allen said.

He warned listeners of the injustice of inflation and its effects upon the security of returning veterans.

The Dunn-Fraser controversy, he said, is a landmark of progress in student participation in current and political issues. As a student at Iowa State college, Allen was active in campus politics.

Chance Walt To Play, Says Dr. W. Hanson

With the hope that Walt Edwards will be ready to go in the game with Michigan Saturday, Minnesota's football team today is tightening its collective belt and prepared for what may well be the game of the year.

"Edwards is coming around in expected fashion," said the attending physician, Dr. William A. Hanson last night, "and may easily be ready to take the field against Michigan Saturday.

"In the event he is ready to play, Edwards will be in top-notch condition," added Hanson, "not in the least weakened by his stay in the Health Service."

While down at Ann Arbor, Coach Fritz Crisler has declared he will "shoot the works" against the Gophers.

"Emphasis will be placed on blocking—a department in which we were very deficient against Indiana," said Crisler as he took steps to leave no stones unturned in preparation for the make-or-break tussle at Memorial stadium Saturday.

"It is absolutely necessary that we improve a good 100 per cent in blocking," Crisler added, "or we may get nowhere with Minnesota or any other of our seven remaining opponents this season."

Cards-Browns Tie at One-All

Ted Wilks, the Cardinals' late season shining light of the mound, will go up against Jack Kramer of the Brownies today as the favorites try for their second straight after bouncing Luke Sewell's club yesterday, 3-2.

Sylvester (Blix) Donnelly of Olivia, Minn., a complete unknown, won after relieving Lefty Max Lanier for the winners late in the game. The Cards' Ken O'Dea plastered a single to right center to break up the game in the eleventh frame.

Expectoration-ball Potter, the Browns' starter, left the game in favor of Bob Muncrief who got in just in time to be charged with the loss when Ray Sanders pulled up stakes and came in fast from third on the single.

The tally came after George McQuinn almost helped the underdogs to their second straight in the last inning when he doubled to right, but was nipped in a twin killing.

Boilermen Over Illini

By Jerry Blizin

A new-found crop of dark horses has developed since Saturday, when Duke and Michigan dropped from their favored heights to make way for Notre Dame and Pennsylvania. The Fighting Irish shellacked Pittsburgh, 58-0, and the Quakers slapped Duke's Blue Devils to the tune of 18-7. Notre Dame should take Tulane easily Saturday, probably by three touchdowns.

In the Big Ten, the race for the crown gets increasingly tighter with the addition of Purdue to the contender list.

The Boilermaker-Illini contest Saturday promises to be the headline of the day. The Illinois team has the odd combination of a weak line and a backfield, and will unleash the combined talents of sprinter Buddy Young with those of fast Eddie McGovern.

Marquette will probably take the short end at Wisconsin's hands. Harry Stuhldreher has finally grouped the Badgers into shape as evidenced by the Northwestern win Saturday.

A short-handed Iowa squad will be easy prey for the Ohio State crew. The Buckeyes should take the green Hawkeyes by three TDs.

Great Lakes will walk over Northwestern by close to two touchdowns. California over Southern California, 12-7. Iowa Pre-flight over Second Air Force, by two or three and that winds up the best in this week's games.
