NUMBER 152

NOVEL DANCE TO MAKE APPEARANCE ON CAMPUS

"Varsity Minuet" Will be Best Feature of "The Girl From Away."

Unique "Broiler Chorus" to Characterize Opening of Second Act.

All musical comedies now-a-days have their specialty dances; "The Red Rose," with its "Student Glide," "The Girl in the Moon," with its "Campus Canter," and now comes "The Girl from Away" with its "Varsity Minuet."

This new creation in terpsichorean art will no doubt prove a worthy successor to the new popular "Boston," and will furnish University society with a new and harmless dancing novelty. The "Varsity Minuet" is introduced by the "Red Rose" chorus of girls and a men's chorus, who will assist in the singing and dancing of the biggest song-hit in the play, "I'd love to go to the ball with you." This musical and dancing number will be repeated in a specialty in which Lilian Nippert and Eugene Bibb will give a "sketch on the violin."

A unique chorus will open the second act. It is composed of the small, "broiler" type of girls who will give an entirely original dancing number and who will support the "Girl from Away" chorus when they appear. This chorus was made necessary when it was found that a large number of the senior girls were of small stature and very demure manner. "The College Mascots," they are called. The "Cadette chorus" will close the play and will usher in all the seniors of all departments just before the curtain falls. They will be attractively dressed in brown kahki skirts, red military coats, wide white belts and large plumed hats. The most unique and striking bit of costuming is found in the "Post Office chorus" which presents a "study in red and white," with large red hearts pinned on each. Miss Malloys: "The choruses for the senior play will be a revelation; that is all I can say."

Tickets for the play will go on sale at the Co-Op Thursday and all students are urged to get their seats here, as the box office will only reserve a limited number. The prices are 50, 75 and $1.00, and exchange tickets may be obtained from Alan McBean.

"AT HOME" FOR DEAN.

Miss Comstock to be Guest of Woman's Organizations.

The four woman's organizations on the campus, the S. G. A., the Woman's League, the Woman's Athletic Association, and the Y. W. C. A., will be "at home" in Shevlin Hall from three o'clock until six, in honor of Miss Comstock. The presidents of the organizations, Dorothy Loyhed, Eva Lane, Ellen Hastings and Lyra McMahon, will assist Miss Comstock in receiving.

The general committee in charge of arrangements is composed of Truma Brockway, Helen Scally, and Louise Sumner.

FIRE BREAKS UP TEA PARTY

Mrs. Inazo Nitobe and Fifteen University Girls Involved in Blaze.

Fifteen girls valiantly fought the fire which broke up the tea given for Mrs. Nitobe at the Hudson home at 2120, Lake of the Isles boulevard.

The fire which started in the roof was discovered by Miss Dorothy Hudson, and soon Mrs. Nitobe and the university girls were rushing up the stairway, filling their arms with valuables and carrying them to safe places. Mrs. Nitobe for whom the tea was given, is the wife of Dr. Inazo Nitobe, professor at the University of Tokyo, who as an exchange professor is lecturing at the university.

BEATON DENIES CHARGES.

Law Student Asserts That He Didn't Eat Hot "Dogs."

Neil E. Beaton, the senior law student, who was reported in the over-town papers as charging that he had gotten ptomaine poisoning at the county fair at the Agricultural college last Saturday, came out yesterday with a flat denial of the report.

"The truth is," said Mr. Beaton, "I did become sick as the result of something which I ate while attending the County Fair, but I never charged that I got ptomaine poisoning and certainly did not blame my illness to the careless or improper cooking of the ladies who prepared it. Furthermore I ate neither doughnuts nor 'hot dog'."

MILITARY BANQUET HELD

Captain Tebbets Is Honor Guest at Annual Scabbard and Blade Gathering.

As a fitting close to a day of strife, Company B of Scabbard and Blade gave its annual banquet in honor of Capt. Tebbets, the inspecting officer, and Lieutenant Beck, commandant at St. Thomas, Monday evening after the sham battle. The banquet was given in the Pink Room at the Leamington and covers were laid for thirty men.

A military atmosphere was carried out in the decorations. The place cards were cleverly gotten up with the insignia of the pin engraved in gold. Major Robert Wilson acted as toastmaster and the following toasts were given: "The Annual Convention," Capt. Swanman; "The Function of Military Drill in a College," Capt. Gillam; "The Inspecting Officer," Capt. Tebbets; and "A Modern Reserve," Major Butts.

Last Senior Informal Friday.

The last senior informal of the year will be held at the Leamington, Friday, May 24th. On account of the disapproval expressed by many people, the innovation dances, which have been permitted at many functions, will be tabooed.

Country Fair Brings Big Profit.

Dean Woods of the Agricultural college, although not positive of the exact amount, said yesterday, that between five and six hundred dollars were made at the country fair.

"Reds" Execute Flank Movement and Win Third Annual Sham Battle.

The sham battle between the cadets of the University of Minnesota and St. Thomas College that took place Monday on the Fort Snelling range and resulted in victory for the University had all the appearances of real war. Muskets roared, wireless messages flashed, and officers charged about the field on spirited horses, shouting commands and urging on the attack. The privates fought desperately, never fearing to charge in the face of any amount of blank cartridge fire.

The University cadets were in charge of Col. Raymond W. Whittier, as superior officer, and Majors Robert Wilson, Waldorf Ganssle, and Walter Beyers in charge of the battalions. St. Thomas was commanded by Col. R. Scaller, and Majors Alvin Johnston and Leroy Westfall. The contest was judged by Major Lindsay, U. S. A., acting as umpire. Captain Jay Lynch, Captain L. D. Gasser, and Lieutenants B. F. McClellan, A. Moreno, and H. S. Hayes from the Fort Snelling staff. Several thousand civilian spectators from the Twin Cities swarmed the field at all times and required much effort from special officers to keep them out of the maneuvering lines. Among the military spectators was Captain Harry T. Tebbets, U. S. A., inspecting officer of this district, who Monday morning inspected the university cadets. With him were Major E. L. Butts, U. S. A., commandant of the University, R. M. Beck, commandant. (Continued on page 2.)

NITOBE TALKS ON MORALS

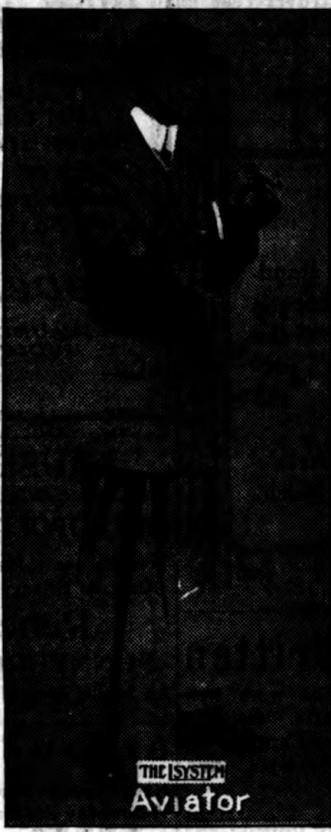

Japanese Points Out Wherein Eastern and Western Religions Differ.

"Japanese Morals and Moral Ideas" formed the subject of the address given by Dr. Nitobe in chapel yesterday. Dr. Nitobe observed that for a fair treatment of the subject the moral ideas which are peculiar to a certain people should not be accepted as the moral ideals of all people, standards differ. For instance he explained that the western habit of being good because of the reward ahead was not found in the east. There, virtue is believed to be its own reward. The highest motive to be good which a Japanese person ordinarily has, is the sense of shame which he feels in sinning.

Another phase of western religion which Dr. Nitobe pointed out as differing from that of the East is the impulse of a Western person, exemplified by Bunyan's Pilgrim, to ask: "How can I be saved?" Dr. Nitobe mentioned the opposing standards of relationship in the two parts of the globe. The West holds the conjugal relations divinely instituted. The East holds the relations between parent and child more divine.
